JUNIOR STUDENT BODY NAMES HEADS

George Saunders was elected president of the Roseburg Junior high school student body at the election held this week. Other officers chosen were Bob Norton, vice-president; Doris Maynard, secretary; and Edward Boyer, treasurer.

Five amendments were passed by the student body for changes in the association's constitution. The changes, recommended by the student body council and junior high faculty, consist of changes in qualifications for student body officers; new standards of scholarship and citizenship; and transfer of positions of yell and song leaders, and their assistants, and the office of sergeant at arms, to appointive rather than elective positions, with tenure of office to last while definite scholarship and citizenship standards are maintained. The amendments were passed by a majority vote of the students.

AT CAMP BRADFORD

Fifty men from this camp assisted the highway commission in removing rock slides from the main highway between Rock creek and Canas Valley, caused by the heavy rains during the past ten days. Some of the slides were over a hundred feet in length and five to six feet in depth. Dan K. Plowman, camp superintendent, sent a bulldozer out to clean up the largest of the slides, thus facilitating the opening of roads by many hours.

H. Erickson, forestry foreman from Camp Bradford, has been called to Salem. He will be doing engineering work on state parks for the next two months.

Thirty-four new men arrived at Camp Bradford this week. These men were formerly with Camp Weiner. The strength of this company is now 298 men.

Mr. Bachman, of Myrtle Point, is now instructing members of this camp in choral work. Thirty members are availing themselves of this course.

Lieut. Worth Kindred, formerly of Camp Bradford and later of Camp Sitkum, has left CCC service and returned to his former position in the Seattle post office.

Phoebe Klunoff, formerly of this camp and now attending the University of Oregon, visited Camp Bradford over the week-end.

Lathe turning and wood carving classes here are now well organized and some of the enrollees doing this type of work are making worth-while articles of myrtle, oak, maple, yew, cedar and other woods. Nut bowls, book ends, table lamps, handkerchief boxes, picture frames, candle sticks and ash trays are but a few of the things being made. Interest is so great that there is a heavy demand for use of the machines and tools.

Woodworking classes in this camp are turning out many novelties in myrtle, yew, maple, cedar and other woods. Such articles as carved book ends, tables, picture frames, lamps, candle sticks, ash trays are but a few of the items being made. Interest in this work has made heavy demands on available machinery in woodworking plant.

Spring is just around the corner. Daffodils around the camp have sprouted several inches, pussy willows are in bloom, numerous other wild flowers are sending up shoots.

L. P. Dryden, WPA teacher, is instructing a class in cartooning and leather work. Mr. Dryden was formerly a commercial artist in Chicago.

A class in fingerprinting has been inaugurated in this camp. Earl Ichima, one of the new members from Weiner, who has made an intensive study of this work, will instruct the class.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Allan have moved into Camp Bradford station during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. H. Erickson.

The roads constructed by this camp the past summer, stood up exceptionally well during the recent storms. Practically no slides
