Bonus.

THE veterans bonus, a bone of contention in America for several years, is finally passed by both houses of congress by a majority which assures its passage over the veto by the president.

It is good to have this settled. The News-Review for three years has been in favor of the payment of the adjusted service compensation certificates. The main reason for our stand on this matter was the simple fact that the certificates constituted an obligation payable in 1945. We felt that it might as well be paid now. Obviously there will be an increased cost to immediate cash payment but perhaps this will be offset by the fact that recipients of cash payments might be saved from asking relief funds or relief employment so the actual outlay of additional cash will not be enough to become alarmed about. The impetus to returning prosperity that will be given as the result of releasing nearly two billions of dollars into circulation will be considerable—and it comes at a very opportune time.

The president may sign the bonus bill or he may veto it or may let it ride into becoming a law without any executive action. Whatever he does means little since the recorded majorities are no great as to make passage over a veto a certainty.

Last Year's Big Man.

THERE will be liberal agreement with Time Magazine's selection of Halle Selassie as the foremost world figure for last year. The Ethiopian emperor has steadily grown in stature with the progress of the war, showing intelligence, patriotism, courage and diplomacy that compel admiration in every country, perhaps, except Italy.

His greatest service to his country is the skill with which he has presented its cause to civilized mankind. He has cut through all shams, made Mussolini's lofty professions ridiculous, matched his wits with the statement of the big powers and even on occasion made the league of nations look like a schoolboy's debating society.

Ethiopia is really a barbarous, or at least a barbaric land. But it is plain that the Amharic tribe, constituting the ruling race in Ethiopia, to which the royal family belongs, calls for a different rating. It has little connection with the characteristic African races, being Semitic in blood, language and tradition. Selassie himself shows the race at its best.

Another thing that makes this dusky emperor appeal so strongly to the civilized world, in spite of his environment, is that he represents, perhaps more than any other living ruler, a sort of antique royalty. It stirs the imagination to find such a figure left in the world, quaint, ceremonious, dignified, cultured and absolute.

There is living drama in such a character. Shakespeare would have liked him. Hannibal, the brave African Semite of antiquity who carried his war into Italy, would salute him. Solomon, his reputed ancestor, while disclaiming such genealogy, might admit a mental kinship.

more the government takes in taxes the less each of us will have left for himself.

(PLEASE don't get the idea that this writer thinks this country is headed for ruin. It isn't. We, including posterity, are still young enough and strong enough as a nation to shoulder the burden that is being placed upon us and GET AWAY WITH IT. But it would be easier, and we could go FARTHER AND FASTER, if the burden were kept within reason instead of being recklessly increased.)

NOTE this paragraph from an Associated Press dispatch, for it is interesting:
"The league of nations committee of 13 decided today (Monday) it had no authority to accede to Ethiopian requests for a neutral commission of inquiry and for financial assistance in the war with Italy."

THE league of nations, quite brash and cheeky a couple of months ago, is weakening perceptibly. No sanctions, you will note, have been imposed against Italy.

The story is going the rounds now that the great nations of Europe feel that it would be a calamity if BLACK Ethiopia should administer a defeat in the field to white Italy, as that might put wrong notions in the heads of other black peoples.

Whatever you do, don't make the mistake of believing that the nations included in the league have acted at any time from any motives other than GOLD SELFISHNESS.

HOOPER'S ATTACKS HELD UNANSWERED

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 23.—(AP)—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford university president, said today "nobody has succeeded in answering" the attacks of former President Hoover on the new deal.

"Mr. Hoover felt the nation was being plunged into things which menaced its existence," asserted the secretary of the Interior in the former president's cabinet.

"That is why he went, hammer and tongs, into the work of pointing out these dangers as he sees them."

"His statements have been carefully considered and nobody has succeeded in answering them. Mr. Hoover has been sincere at, but the things he has talked about are consequential. That is why the people have been listening."

Will Be Here Over Week-End—Attorney William W. Knight, counsel for the Industrial Relations association of Oregon, from Portland, expects to arrive here Saturday to spend the week-end on business and visiting his two sisters, Mrs. Frederick J. Porter and Miss Marjorie Knight.

Getting His Appetite Back

One Word Led To Another

By Bugs Baer

(Copyright, 1936, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)
The Clay Pigeon Is Masculine.

We do not approve of children shooting their parents under any conditions, even favorable.

Down that in them Blue Ridge hills they don't respect their mummies and their daddies enough to fire a warning shot across their bows.

They just ups and knocks 'em out of a tree like a raccoon looking into a navy searchlight. Those hillbillies are coming around the mountainous bend singing "I shot my mummy because my mummy didn't love my puppy."

Curfew law still holds good in the hills. If the young folks ain't in by nine o'clock they get spanked with a slipper by the old folks. Then the young folks shoot the old folks after nine o'clock.

Now, that don't do the old folks any good up in them that hills. We got two ways of stopping the shooting. We can take the guns away from the young folks. Or we can take the slippers away from the old folks.

The safest way is to call out the marines and take the baggy footwear away from the old folks.

We had some pretty good shooting in New York last fall. The young folks didn't bother the old folks much. Instead, the young folks just plumb shot artificial daylight out of each other.

One gal bumped off her sweetie and said, "I did it because I loved him."

That's a reason but not an excuse. Another gal shot her ever-loving man and said, "I shot him like any other decent girl would."

The ever-loving Romeo had climbed her balcony when love was young in the springtime. That was all right. But she got plenty sore when he joined a hook and ladder company.

One day he climbed too many balconies. And while the bird dove's nose quivered like cranberry sauce she drew a bead on him and brought him down on the wing.

That's what any decent girl would do. The only problem about shooting your man seems to be, "Shall I bump him off during our engagement or wait until we are married when the shooting will be legal?"

TOWNSEND CLUBS' DOINGS IN DOUGLAS

YONCALLA—The regular meeting of the Yoncalla Townsend club was held Tuesday evening. In the absence of both the president and vice-president, Arthur Moore, state organizer of the first congressional district, presided. During

Mr. Moore's lecture, George Edes was appointed temporary chairman. Mr. Moore gave a very interesting and inspiring talk, emphasizing the need of brotherly love in the club. The Townsend dance held Saturday evening, was well attended and every one enjoyed themselves immensely. Another Townsend dance will be held in the Odd Fellows hall, Saturday evening, Feb. 1. This will be an old-time dance with quadrilles, Paul Jones, two steps, etc.

Oddities Gleaned From Day's News

Cops Laugh Last.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The firemen thought it was funny when someone stole a radio from police headquarters. They broke out into laughter when the city council considered buying padlocks for police cars. Then the plans for a new firehouse came up for inspection. The blueprints showed the 42-foot fire truck wouldn't have room to get in or out of its new home.

Peace Move

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Edward Conrad Mueller and Edwin Charles Mueller lived in the same apartment building and their families were friendly.

But the similarity of their names mixed up their mail, coal, furniture—practically everything they received.

Peace has been restored now—Edward Conrad Mueller moved away.

Reason Enough

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Police Lieutenant R. L. D. Nord requested dismissal of traffic complaints against Richard, Marvin, William J. Lyons and J. E. Thompson.

"On what grounds," asked Municipal Judge Newell Carr.

"These men are dead, your honor," said Nord. "They were killed in traffic."

Veteran Razor

NEWTON, Kans., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Rev. R. R. Shreiber shaves daily with a razor used by his great grandfather 165 years ago. The razor has been used and handed down from father to son for six generations.

ADOLPH'S OBSERVATIONS

I have a young friend who works for a large company that took in state in every fair-sized city in the state.

This outfit put on a contest among it's counter employees and offered a prize to the young man who could finish customer transactions in the shortest time. My friend has a perfect knowledge of the business and he felt he could win the prize, as he believed he could wait on people about as fast as anybody in the country.

Well, the kid came out second best and a lad over in Pendleton received the honors. Jim took it pretty hard at first but today he found out that this other guy has haitious.

NOTICE TO POWER CONSUMERS

NEWS-REVIEW
MAN
By PAUL JENKINS

"WOLF CREEK TAVERN, a post-house of the fifties, has been restored to its old usefulness and to the unsold charm of its sturdy, hand-wrought architecture, serving the public who travel smoothly and swiftly today by motor, as it used to serve the weary, mud-splashed traveler who went by stage."

"Passengers of old stagecoaches, weary from ten days' confinement in the coaches and bruised from being whirled over mountain roads with hairpin turns, hundreds of feet in the air, welcomed a stop at Wolf Creek Tavern with its comfortable accommodations and excellent meals."

Well, passengers on this terrible road—if you don't believe it is terrible, ask W. C. Harding, secretary of the Roseburg chamber of commerce, who knows how terrible it is—still stop at Wolf Creek Tavern, with a feeling of relief. Travelers as they are, they get a rest, and believe me, they get a meal. They get all they want to eat. If they care to pay for it, and then some. They get surprised, if you know what I mean—they get more food than they can carry, even in their hands.

E. R. Burchiel, owner of the Tavern, believes in good eats. He sees that his cooks furnish them. He sees that his girls serve them efficiently. He sees that he gets paid for them.

Mr. Burchiel bought the Tavern just about a year ago, fitting it up first with food, which he considered most important to his customers' physical welfare, and then with antique furnishings, which he considered to be helpful to their intellectual welfare.

The Tavern, according to Mr. Burchiel, is a regular treasure-trove of all kinds of antiques—furniture, glassware, dishes, silverware; all for sale, at a price. If you like the colonial bed in which you have slept, buy it and take it away. If the teapot pleases you, slip the waiter $25 and put it in your pocket—there are more where it came from.

Mr. Burchiel showed us (Jerry Menane and me) where General Ulysses S. Grant slept when he was in Wolf Creek during the Indian wars in the fifties. It was quite a nice room, with a fine view of the Wolf Creek valley, and an antique bed in which God knows who had once slept, aside from the good general. It was of maple, and two hundred (200) years old. It was said.

Do you think that General Grant was in southern Oregon in the fifties during the Indian wars? If you do, then of course you will readily believe that he stayed at the Wolf Creek Tavern, in this very room, heard and all, smoking a black cigar. If you don't believe he was there, just quietly step to the head of the class, but say nothing about it; we take our traditions mighty seriously out here.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 3 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amounts which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes.
