VOYT URGES EARLY VOUCHER RETURNS

For the purpose of securing state funds to match the county's funds for relief work, it is necessary that records of expenditures be completed by the close of each month, according to Franklin Voyt, relief manager for Douglas county. Mr. Voyt urges all Douglas county merchants and professional men to forward vouchers to the office immediately upon completion of transactions in order to facilitate the reports which must be in the state office after the first day of each month.

The expenditures of each month must be reported promptly, Mr. Voyt states, and must be supported by vouchers. Upon this report the state matches the county expenditures, establishing the basis for the ensuing month.

The fund includes expenditures for aid to dependent mothers, soldiers and sailors benefits, county home and hospital expenditures, and direct relief to unemployed.

Due to the fact that this report must show the vouchers for expenditures, the relief offices urge all merchants and professional men to forward the vouchers for payment immediately after transactions are completed. The county court requests the cooperation of all vendors who have any bills outstanding and urges the immediate presentation of the same to the county court to be included in the February report.

Evidence of Prehistoric Man Who Roamed Oregon Eons Ago Revealed in Excavations

Visions of prehistoric Neanderthal or Cro Magnon man roaming the plains of eastern Oregon 15,000 to 50,000 years ago, perhaps hunting or discreetly avoiding the strange and now extinct animals of his day, were created by a recent report of excavation by the University of Oregon state museum of anthropology. The work consisted of test pit diggings on the Deschutes national forest at Wickiup damsite about 40 miles southwest of Bend, Ore., where ancient obsidian knives had been unearthed in 1934 by a survey party of the U. S. reclamation bureau.

The knives were found at a depth of five feet beneath a two foot layer of pumice and three feet of yellow soil and gravel. "We have more evidence of early man in the high plateau country of eastern Oregon when the now dry lake beds were filled with vast bodies of water," states L. S. Cressman, curator of anthropology at the university and chief of the archaeological department.

Authorized by the U. S. forest service and the Smithsonian institution to make excavations, the party chose an area 20 feet square, centering on the exact point where the knives had been found. Excavation was carried down to a depth of approximately 6 feet into a stratum of clean black gravel underneath the hardpan on top of which the knives were embedded. No additional implements or skeletal remains were found but important archaeological facts were established.

"The knives are made of obsidian which has become highly vitrified," states the report. "They show a primitive quality of workmanship roughly approximating late Mousterian or early Aurignacian. While flaked on both sides, the flaking is very lightly done on the nodular surface. The stems are not retouched nor do the surfaces show complete retouching as is characteristic of the later work in the area." Excavation work, according to the report, showed that the knives had not been buried from above but they clearly belonged in the stratum in which they were found. Evidently they preceded the period in which the earliest pumice stratum was laid down.

Preliminary geological analysis indicates a prehistoric fresh water lake of some duration in the Deschutes area. The final filling of the lake was by gravel and sand washed down by streams. Enough time elapsed after the lake filling for the formation of a soil and possibly the coming of man.

Public-Owned Lands in Douglas County Exceed Acreage in Private Possession

Ownership of land in Douglas county provides a real problem for consideration by every farmer and taxpayer from information compiled by the economics committee for the agricultural economic outlook conference. While some individuals and agencies of the state and federal government may not agree on the exact figures as to the amount of public-owned land in Douglas county, the acreage exceeds that in private ownership.

Figures show that of the total area of the county comprising some 2,230,790 acres, that 1,775,450 acres are owned by the public either as state, county, national, forest or other federal lands. The public lands equal 79.6 per cent of all land with ownership as follows: State lands 33,912 acres or 1.9 per cent of the total acreage; county lands 10,627 acres, or 1.2 per cent; national forest 988,940 acres, or 30.5 per cent; and other federal lands 695,171 acres, or 21.5 per cent.

Privately-owned lands represent only 45.7 per cent of the total acreage of the county or 1,475,250 acres, of which 663,720 acres are in farms or 29.6 per cent. Other private owned land totals 811,530 acres and is equal to 25.1 per cent of all land.

Farm lands have continued to increase since the census of 1880, when 466,816 acres were in farms, representing 34.8 per cent of the total area of the county. In 1935, 663,720 acres were included in farm lands or 29.8 per cent.

The improved land in farms has here on business.

VALENTINE BALL WILL BE CHARMING BENEFIT AFFAIR FRIDAY

Hearts and darts will reign supreme at the Valentine ball given by the University club at the armory Friday night, and King Cupid will hold full sway. The committee on decorations is working to make a charming setting for the dancers, and with the Piperettes to furnish the rhythm for revellers both young and old, a gay evening is assured.

It is predicted that many blushing maidens will take advantage of leap year to honor St. Valentine so all village swains are expected to be present in anticipation of such luck.

Even the members of the Douglas county band will have occasion to remember Valentine's day this year as the net proceeds of the dance will be turned over to them. The new uniforms that they will wear during the many state conventions to be held here this spring and summer will be a source of inspiration and pride to the citizens of Roseburg, and everyone is being urged to attend this initial activity of the University club.
