WITNESS AGAINST BRUNO IS ACCUSED

him to the death house. Whited was one of the two witnesses who placed Hauptmann near the Lindbergh estate at Hope-well about the time of the kidnapping, March 1, 1932.

Credibility Attacked—The Sourland logger was the only witness New Jersey called at Hauptmann's extradition hearing in New York to place the Bronx carpenter near the scene of the crime. Whited swore he saw Hauptmann prowling around the Lindbergh grounds on two occasions late in February, 1932. He repeated this testimony at the Flemington trial.

The defense, both at the extradition hearing and at the trial, produced witnesses who attacked Whited's credibility. Whited held to his identification, and Saturday told Governor Hoffman that he had described the prowler to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh the day after the kidnapping.

Prosecution officials, the governor said, seem to be making "a studied effort to suppress" important information in the Hauptmann case.

Governor Assailed—Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr., of Hunterdon county, replied at once to this criticism by accusing the governor himself of withholding all the facts. Whited's testimony, he said, shows "there has been nothing suppressed."

"The governor," he said, "has taken parts of the story to show he (Whited) lied. Why doesn't he tell about it and show the complete record, as well as the full statement Whited gave Saturday instead of making public a few excerpts?"

A third state witness, Charles Rosier, who placed Hauptmann at Princeton airport near Hope-well the Saturday before the kidnapping, said today he was still positive of his identification of Hauptmann. He expressed willingness to be questioned by the governor at any time, but said he would not change his testimony.
