

WAR THREAT DIMS AT LONDON MEET

bers of the little entente. This sudden interruption in the progress toward punishment of Reichsfuehrer Hitler became known after Ambassador von Hoensch of Germany went to the foreign office for a conference.

Italy Offers Own Cause It was stated Italy told the other powers her dispute with Ethiopia must be settled before she could participate actively in smoothing out the Rhineland embroglio.

(An informed Italian source told the Associated Press in Rome that Italy feels morally bound to protest against sanctions being applied to Germany.)

In view of the fact Great Britain, with the consent of France, made the Italo-Ethiopian war a test case for league of nations sanctions, the Italians were said to have taken the stand "no British or French statesman now can go to Italy and ask the Italian people to fight for them in any eventualty whatsoever."

The same condition, it was said, applies to any new "Locarno" pact which might be formed since, without Italy's support, any agreement reached would be merely an Anglo-French pact.

Flandin in Jam The position of Flandin, French foreign minister, was made delicate by Italy's stand.

The demand in France for sanctions against Italy was said to be so strong he was, in effect, placed in the position of saying: "I can't go back to France and tell the French people they are less important than Ethiopia; Emperor Haile Selassie can get what we can't."

It was rumored that the German envoy had been given a request signed by Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy that Hitler make a conciliatory move.

Combined with the foreign office announcement of an "open door," observers were given the impression that the British were still hopeful that the international situation might be eased and the impasse between Germany and France broken peacefully.

his wife, so they took him along. While she was being examined by two physicians at the courthouse, her husband acted so queerly that Circuit Judge E. C. Latourette ordered him examined too.

Both were committed to the state hospital.

LIQUOR TAX CHANGE PROPOSAL DENIED

WASHINGTON, March 13.—(AP)—The senate finance committee today rejected proposals to center all federal liquor taxes on retailers and to prohibit use of blackstrap molasses in making whiskey and gin.

After these actions, the committee opened consideration of a proposal to keep the alcohol control administration independent of the treasury.

Senator Copeland, during an open hearing, before a finance sub-committee, said removal of all federal taxes from distillers and wholesalers and putting the entire tax on retailers would bring an additional $260,000,000 a year to the federal treasury and half that amount to the state treasuries. At the same time, he said it would lower the cost of liquor to consumers and by that means eliminate bootlegging.

The Murphy amendment rejected also last session, would have prohibited use of "blackstrap" molasses in manufacture of any liquor, such as whiskey or gin, "historically" made from grain.

conviction of Phil Kennamer, 20-year old son of a federal judge, sentenced to 25 years in prison for manslaughter in the slaying of John Correll, 21-year old dental student, in a Tulsa residential district Thanksgiving night, 1934.

Released on $25,000 appeal bond after a few weeks in the penitentiary at McAlester, Kennamer had been living in Tulsa and at his father's ranch near Tulsa.

His attorneys have 15 days in which to ask for a rehearing. If a new hearing is not granted, the mandate will be issued and Kennamer will be returned to prison.

Appellate court judges expressed belief there would be no appeal to the United States supreme court as "no federal question is involved."

Korner. Creek Change Involved The course of Roberts creek and a tributary of that stream will be changed, bringing both streams into one watercourse, which will be crossed on an 85-foot concrete bridge.

The proposed re-routing of the highway will require 2.3 miles of grading and surfacing, but will provide a route with only one wide curve, thereby eliminating the numerous short and dangerous curves now existing. Several major accidents have occurred on these curves in the past few years, as well as at the existing grade crossing.

tion of net income. Reserve Still Possible Rather, he said, corporations should be required to pay taxes on all undistributed net earnings, with some part assessed at a lower rate. This, he said, would let them build up the necessary reserves, even though they did pay some taxes.

IBH said the treasury had submitted no figures on the amount of dividends that go into the hands of foreign stockholders, nor how many such stockholders there are.

He added, however, that treasury advisers are ready with some new tables on the corporation tax, involving chiefly combinations and revisions of schedules already offered.

SALMON RUNNING IN WILLAMETTE

OREGON CITY, March 13.—(AP)

The salmon are running in the Willamette river, and fishermen are running toward the stream.

Oscar Rinne of Holly Gardens reported landing a 23-pound salmon. State Police Sergeant H. E. Meads said one boatload of fishermen caught four fish near Milwaukie and several others reported catches.

Boy, I'm glad THAT'S OVER

No fooling, I was disgusted. Even grumbling at the breakfast table. And when you begin the day wrong... well, you know how everything seems to go haywire. My wife wasn't satisfied with the coffee either. I'll bet Ann used a dozen different brands in trying to find a coffee that would suit both of us. Then we discovered Hills Bros! Or rather, Ann did.

I came down to breakfast one morning and there it was. Boy! I was tickled. And when Ann told me it was Hills Bros. Coffee, I told her to go ahead and pay the difference. "The joke's on you," Ann said, "because there's hardly any difference. Hills Bros. costs almost the same as the coffees we've been experimenting with. And when you figure the cost-per-cup, and the extra flavor and richness, Hills Bros. is really a bargain!"
