Baby Chimpanzee Observes His First Birthday

"Jubilee," a baby chimpanzee at the London zoo, recently celebrated his first birthday, an event which his mother, "Boo Boo," helped him observe by supervising her baby's eating of his birthday cake which was decorated by one candle.

Illinois Giant Nears Record

Standing eight feet four inches, Robert Wadlow of Alton, Ill., who recently celebrated his 18th birthday, is assured of becoming the tallest man in history before he reaches another birthday. Wadlow, a college freshman, weighs 390 pounds and wears a size 39 shoe. His nearest authentic rival in height is the famed "Irish giant", Robert O'Brien, who was eight feet four and one-half inches tall when he died in 1783 at the age of 23. Wadlow's parents and brothers and sisters are all of normal height. The youth's unusual growth is attributed to over-activity of the pituitary gland which lies at the base of the skull. He is a shy, serious sort of chap whose ambition is to be a lawyer. He is averse to capitalizing on his size by being exhibited as a freak although his parents are of only modest circumstances.

Sues Mdivani Heirs Surprises Harry

Seeking compensation for injuries received when she was seriously injured and Prince Alexis Mdivani killed in an auto accident, and for loss of jewels mysteriously missing after the crash, Baroness Maud von Thyssen has filed suit for $400,000 against the Mdivani heirs at Berlin. Before she was out of the hospital Baron von Thyssen, a multimillionaire, filed suit for divorce, naming the dead prince, former husband of Barbara Hutton, as co-respondent.

M'COLLOCH GIVES CANDIDACY STAND

KLAMATH FALLS, March 20.—(AP)—Interested in getting the plain people back into the party and elevating the name of Oregon, Claude McCulloch, prominent Klamath Falls attorney, today made a formal statement of his candidacy for democratic national committeeman.

Declaring that he was not primarily concerned with patronage, McCulloch said:

"I would like to help raise the estimation in which the democratic party in Oregon is held by independent former republicans who came to us four years ago on account of the stench in their own party. If we democrats but use common sense, we can elect all of the congressmen and both of the senators from Oregon at this election, and if elected, I am willing to leave patronage largely to these gentlemen."

"While not neglecting the fair claims of party workers to be appointed to office, there is other work a national committeeman can do for his state, as national committeemen from other states have done."

McCulloch pointed out that the country is "facing west."

"Because of this great drama now opening, the name of Oregon, rightly presented in the councils of the nation, can be made a great name. I would like to contribute to this result."

BENEFIT SHOW IS GREATLY ENJOYED

Theater goes at Hunt's Indian theater were royally entertained last night at the benefit program given for the Roseburg Municipal band uniform fund. The size of the crowd was somewhat disappointing to the sponsors of the program, who had hoped for a packed house. The theater was comfortably filled, but the attendance, due to many conflicting attractions, was not as large as had been hoped for.

The comedy motion picture, "Every Saturday Night," was greatly enjoyed, while the stage show arranged by the band was a particularly good feature.

TRAIN PASSENGER SOBERS UP HERE

Francis Lewis, en route by train from Marysville, Wash., to Reno, Nev., was arrested here last night on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Lewis, according to the report made by Everett Hodges, city police officer, disembarked here last night from the train and failed to return in time to catch the train as it was pulling out of the station. Later he was found endeavoring to start an automobile parked on Sheridan street, the officer stated. Hodges also stated that the man was in a very intoxicated condition. He was kept in jail overnight, and it is expected he will be put back on the train this afternoon to continue his journey.

Amateur Hours Are Not New

Everybody has an amateur hour in this world.

We remember ours, 'way back on a Monday morning in April, 1900.

It wasn't a broadcast. We didn't get the bong. But we should have.

We waited outside the managing editor's office with an armful of very bad pen and ink sketches. They smelled putrid from any angle.

Five minutes of that amateur hour were wasted outside his office. Another five minutes were squandered while the editor thumbed over the sketches. Fortunately for us, he was as stupid as an overfed boa constrictor.

"Go down to the river," he said, "and make a sketch of the ferryboat coming in."

We went down to the river and made some horrible sketches that looked like cannibals eating their young. That took up forty more minutes of the amateur hour.

We thought it was a silly assignment. But we took the scabby illustrations back to the editor. And the last five minutes of the amateur hour we showed the sketches and got a job.

It was twenty years later, when we were reading the life of America's most famous cartoonist, we discovered that our assignment was the same one that Horace Greely had given to a young fellow named Thomas Nast.

Nast was a great artist. And we were no Thomas Nast.

Fortunately for us, the editor was no Horace Greely.

He had read about the young Nast being sent down to the river to make a sketch of the ferry slip. Every kid that came in to ask for a job was assigned to the same historical beginning.

Now that we look back we recall that the duration of our amateur hour was rather long. It lasted fifty-two weeks.

We worked the first year for nothing. Just for the experience.

And from the experience we gathered an important fact. Never work a year for nothing.

CAPACITY HOUSE SEES GRANGE PLAY

The Evergreen grange hall was packed to capacity last night by an audience attending the home talent play, "Listen to Leon," a three-act comedy. The play was given by a local cast under the direction of Miss Marie Saksdorf.

Intermission numbers included music by the Hill Screamers, KRNR radio artists, a dance number by the French twins, Mary and Margaret, of Roseburg with accordion accompaniment by Allen Gordon and a group of accordion solos by Mr. Gordon. Following the play two hours of dancing were enjoyed with the Hill Screamers providing music for part of the dance while the balance of the evening featured music by Sammy Tucker's orchestra.

The proceeds will be applied to grange activities.
