PASSOVER IS THEME OF REV. HABBICK

Thursday night at the Presbyterian church Rev. Dr. Habbick used as his theme, "The Passover." The speaker drew his thought for the evening from the first Passover when the Israelites were leaving Egypt. Mr. Habbick said in part: "That ancient feast of so long ago is as fresh in its teaching as though it occurred yesterday. God is calling His people out of a land which symbolically speaks of the world of sin—of fleshly things. The Jewish people through Moses were instructed to take a lamb without spot for a sacrifice. The lamb must be killed. Its blood must be sprinkled on the door sides and overhead. The lamb must be eaten after being roasted with fire. The reason given was that the angel of Jehovah was to pass through Egypt on that fateful night, and the sentence of death must be visited on the first born of both man and beast. The first born in those days was representative of the entire family. The spotless lamb pictured Christ who was to be a very man but without spot of sin. It must be killed, for only in the death of Christ is there hope of salvation—without the shedding of blood—no remission." The lamb being roasted with fire typified the intense sufferings of the cross.

"But there is the final thought of eating the lamb. This is a physical figure picturing the matter of spiritually accepting Christ in our hearts. When we thus accept him he becomes as much a part of us spiritually as the lamb taken into our systems is turned into flesh and bone. His life, his character, his glory becomes ours as we 'eat' him with our hearts."

Rev. Mr. Habbick gives the last of the week's series tonight—"The Crucifixion." Mr. Grubbe will sing again tonight.
