BORAH TAKES SWAT AT OIL 'MONOPOLY'

Unfair Practices Must Be Slain by G. O. P., Idaho Senator Asserts.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP)—Senator Borah's final pre-convention address in which he warned his party not to "go back" and launched another attack on "monopoly" left room for further speculation today as to what the Idahoan will do if he is displaced with convention results.

In his broadcast speech, only 10 days before the Idaho assembly at Cleveland, the presidential candidate last night declared the republican party is "riching for its very life," because "the invidious, degrading coils of monopolistic, corporate interests drained away its energy."

Borah did not mention any other candidates for the nomination. He declared oil companies "have been extremely active" in the campaign, that some of the representatives will be "selected" and "some of us shall be interested to know where they throw their influence."

Monopoly Stressed The senator said he had a letter from an independent oil producer who said "the Standard Oil and four other companies are to secure the monopoly of the world's oil production. They have it now in the United States. We who are known as independents are permitted now to follow the oil business with the grace of the Standard Oil company and its associates."

"If the republican party can find no way to control the economic power which these companies exert upon every person in the land," Borah asserted, "shall we hope to make effective with the voters our argument that state rights under the constitution must be maintained?"

Declaring the party's position could not be defined by the platform alone, Borah voiced the belief that "the candidates of the respective parties will be the platform."

"We shall find, in my opinion," he said, "the people will accept no other. These platforms have no high standing at the present time in the minds of the American people. The position of the party and the possibilities of success will be determined by the candidates."

Remedy Necessary Turning to the question of monopoly which the senator has emphasized throughout his campaign, he declared:

"If we are not prepared as a party to strike down monopoly and to abolish all monopolistic practices, we will get nowhere with the discussion of political liberty, or of constitutional government as a campaign issue."

When we take our constitutional problems to the voters we must be prepared to tell them how we propose to deal with the conditions, and the only conditions which really imperil constitutional government."

Linking together the question of monopoly and the republican leadership, in a discussion of economic conditions, Borah declared:

Up to the Party "What is the party going to do about it? Will it, under the malign influence of organization politics, backed by corporate and monopolistic interests, disregard this question and seek to elude it at every opportunity? Or will it meet it in the open?"

"The high place in the councils of the party which corporate and monopolistic interests have long occupied is known to all the world. Can, and will, the party drive these forces from its councils, disregard their satellites and break their grip upon its policies and its ideals?"

Declaring the voters "no longer accept the political views or the economic theories of the dominating influence of the party," Borah set forth "the supreme question"—how to repossess their confidence and to secure their support.

MRS. A. C. M'INTYRE HEADS CLUB WOMEN

Oregon Federation to Back Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar for National Post.

THE DALLES, May 29.—(AP)—Oregon club women electing Mrs. A. C. McIntyre, Pendleton, president of the State Federation of Women's clubs for 1936-38, organized a candidacy today for Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, of Portland, for the national presidency.

Mrs. Dunbar, who has been a member of the executive board of the general federation for the past eight years and its first vice president, served as president of the Oregon federation from 1923-24. With her candidacy approved by the Oregon federation, she will be formally proposed for the presidency at the next spring meeting of the council at Tulsa, Okla., one year in advance of the triennial election at Kansas City, Mo., in 1938.

Mrs. McIntyre succeeds Mrs. W. S. Nicholson, of Marshfield. She was opposed. She has been a leader in the federation for some years and was president of the Pendleton branch of the American Association of University Women and the Pendleton Presbytery association.

Mrs. Olin J. Hosford, Portland, was elected first vice president; Mrs. William F. Fargo, Salem, second vice president; Mrs. H. G. Avery, La Grande, recording secretary; Mrs. J. O. Holt, Eugene, treasurer, and Mrs. G. H. Macrum, Portland, financial secretary.

Dues Heated Beaten The delegates defeated a move to raise per capita dues of the state federation from 25 to 50 cents a year and also voted down a plan for a nominating committee to select candidates for office. The new officers serve two-year terms, although in 1938 the terms will be increased to three years.

A report on scholarship showed that since 1924 a total of $2,988 has been contributed by 14 clubs to the scholarship fund, and aid has been given to 246 college women. Since it was established in 1908, nearly 1500 women have been helped through school.

The convention closed with the installation of officers and an invitation from Pendleton to hold the 1937 convention there.

UNION CREEK ROAD SAID "PASSABLE"

The Union creek road to Diamond lake was reported "passable" in a message received today at the local headquarters of the Umpqua national forest. Assistant Forester Robert Mercer and L. A. Charter, mechanic, reached the lake at 3 a. m. today, after shovelling a passage for their truck through snow drifts, they reported by telephone from the forest station at Diamond lake. They are driving their truck out over the road this afternoon, and plan to throw out considerably more snow on the return trip.

Chairs should be provided for cars attempting the trip, the office here was advised. The east entrance road has been open for the past week. Last year the Union creek road was not passable until June 15.

An advance cadre from Bradford CCC camp is expected to be moved to Diamond lake early next week to prepare quarters there for the main body of men who will occupy the camp, it is expected by about June 15. The crew will be employed in improvement of recreational facilities in the Diamond lake area, improvement and extension of roads and trails, and protection of the road between Diamond lake and Steamboat.

REGALIA BURNED BY BLACK LEGION

Back of Hooded Terrorists Broken, Prosecutor Says; Roundup Continues.

DETROIT, May 29.—(AP)—Reports that four-striker members of the Black Legion were burning their hoods and robes were received today as authorities mapped plans for a final fight on the night riding terrorists.

"The back of the organization here has been broken," said Prosecutor Owen Dudley of Jackson county, a Black Legion stronghold. "Some members are burning their robes, and I don't think the remainder have nerve enough left to commit further violence."

The John Doe inquiry into reported kidnappings and abductions in Jackson, where five men are held on charges of beating a reluctant member, was adjourned indefinitely as plans for calling a metropolitan area grand jury were going forward in Detroit.

A letter, declared by Detective Richard Bowen of the Detroit police laboratory to be written in human blood, was received by the police department today, warning it to "stay off the Black Legion."

The note, signed "The White Legion" was printed in letters nearly a half inch high, and was postmarked New York. New York authorities were asked to investigate.

Michigan's criminal syndicalism law, enacted to combat communism, may be invoked against the Black Legion, whose members contend its night riding and intimidation are inspired by zeal to defend the country from communists.

Prosecutor Dudley said he was considering bringing charges under the statute against 13 men whom he termed the Black Legion's board of directors in the Jackson vicinity.

Governor Takes Charge Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald took personal charge of Michigan's war to wipe out the Black Legion "abomination" today, and announced he would be available day or night to direct state police and the attorney general in the campaign.

His announcement came as Detroit detectives opened a search for Harold Dugas, who, they said, had applicant blanks for the "American vigilantes," described as similar to the Black Legion, printed here last January.

A pledge on the cards bound the applicant to "obey the orders of my chief commander, Harold Dugas; promise to serve my country, and promote Americanism, and obey the rules of war as set down by my chief commander."

Prosecutor Duncan M. McCrea, who recalled a few days ago that the burning of Father Charles E. Coughlin's original Shrine of the Little Flower March 17 had not been solved, said today "we have no new evidence strong enough to link the Black Legion with the fire."

McCrea said he had heard many rumors concerning the blaze, but that there "is nothing whatever to convince me that the legion is responsible."

Heavy Penalty Provided The criminal syndicalism law provides for imprisonment up to 10 years and a maximum fine of $5,000 for "advocacy . . . or teaching the duty of necessity of crime, sabotage, violence or terrorism to accomplish industrial or political reform."

At least two grand jury investigations of the night riding vigilantes were imminent, while both houses of congress had before them resolutions demanding congressional inquiries.
