FRESH FRUIT CROP
SURVEY FINISHEDNorthwest States to Have Fair Crops of Cherries,
Prunes and Plums.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(AP)—The bureau of agricultural economics' crop reporting board summarized the findings of a fresh fruit crop survey on May 1.

The board reported a "relatively favorable" outlook for apples with prospects for the country as a whole pointing to a smaller crop than in 1935.

Pacific northwest apple trees blossomed later than usual but the buds opened rapidly under favorable weather conditions in April.

Winter freezing and spring frosts did the heaviest damage in the north central states. The bloom in eastern apple areas was full earlier than last year, with prospects of a lighter crop than in 1935.

Prune Prospects Good. Production of peaches will be below the five-year (1928-32) average, particularly in the ten southern states, the board reported.

Light crops were forecast for Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska, and Missouri.

Pear crops, on the basis of incomplete reports, escaped with relatively light injury from frost and freezes.

Fair crops of cherries are in prospect in Utah, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, the board said. Heavy damage was reported from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, and Missouri.

An average crop of plums and a relatively light crop of prunes in California was forecast, with fairly good crops in prospect for Pacific northwest states.

The board's crop summary by states included:

Washington and Oregon—Abnormally high temperatures during the second and third weeks of April, following the cold weather of late March and early April, was beneficial to vegetable growth.

Normal temperatures and moderate rainfall during the last week of April caused fruit buds of apples and pears to open rapidly. All important fruits, including apples, pears, cherries and plums, were in bloom at the same time. Apple

WOOL

BOSTON, May 29.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"In spite of skepticism regarding the future of wool at current price levels, buying has started in the west this week and prices are fully a cent dearer on the average than they were a week ago."

"The eastern markets follow the west rather reluctantly but the trend is very clearly upward again, trading close on import parity and many fear that the new levels will mean increased use of substitutes. The piecegood markets, as well as yarns and tops are behind wool values."

"Foreign markets are inclined to be a bit easier again this week. 'Acheur' continued firm but unchanged."

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Scoured basis:

Texas: Fine 12 months (selected) 88-89; fine shot twelve months 86-87; fine 8 months 84-85; fall 78-80.

California: Northern 81-83; middle country 80-81; southern 76-78; fine scoured 77-78; carbonized fine 78-79.

Oregon: Fine and f. m. staple 86-88; fine and f. m. clothing 78-80; Mohair: Oregon, 55-57. (Foreign prices in bond.)

SEEDS 169 YEARS
OLD STAY ALIVE

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif., May 29.—(AP)—Seeds imprisoned 169 years in adobe bricks of the mission San Luis Obispo now are growing into small plants.

Botanists say this is a world record for viability, that is ability to maintain life. Dr. Ira B. Bartle, noted for his work with bacteria, revealed this on authority of Dr. Charles B. Lipman, dean of the graduate division University of California at Berkeley, his research associate.

The seeds are of the mallow weed. Lipman recently removed two bricks from the mission structure.

"I have obtained two seeds which have actually grown into seedlings from the brick," Dr. Lipman reported. "This is the first time I have obtained viable seeds or seedlings from adobe bricks."

"The botanists here who know something about the systematic side of botany say that it is a seedling of mallow. So far as authentic cases are concerned this young seedling seems to have a world record for viability."

Mallow is a common weed in California and it is supposed that some of the stalks of the weed were used as binder for the making of adobe bricks in the mission.

Brawn With Brains

MEADE, Kans., May 27.—(AP)—A drunken pipe line worker had disarmed the city marshal and was beating him with his own club when Willis Carmichael, principal of the junior high school, stepped in and knocked the pipe liner out with one well-aimed uppercut. Three hours later the city council elected Professor Carmichael assistant city marshal.

New Federal Farm Program Keeps Close
To Local Needs and Best Scientific Plans

A farm program kept closely in line with local needs and in harmony with the best practices advocated by the state college experiment stations is the objective of the agricultural adjustment administration, declared Dr. D. C. Mumford of the western regional staff, on a recent visit to Corvallis to confer with staff members of the college who are active in inaugurating the new agricultural conservation program.

Dr. Mumford, who is assistant to George E. Farrell, regional director for the western states, arrived in Oregon from Washington, D. C., immediately following the announcement of the detailed rates of payment for soil building practices under the act. He conferred with the Oregon technical committee regarding those rates and discussed with the members suggested additions and minor modifications.

In general, it was agreed that the new rate schedule which includes a number of practices heretofore in doubt, will tend to raise the standard of farming in the state and further the objectives of the act, which are to conserve the soil for present and future generations and decrease the relative volume of soil depleting crops now troubled with non-exportable surpluses.

Weed Control Included. Chief among the new rulings of importance to Oregon are the inclusion of weed control as a soil building practice, classification of summer fallow as soil depleting acreage, and the re-classification of orchards of all ages as soil depleting.

Control of perennial noxious weeds according to methods approved by the state college specialists will qualify for payments of $10 an acre, if chemical treatment is used, and $5 an acre if clean cultivation is practiced. Weeds of most importance to Oregon included in the list are morning glory, white top, Canada thistle and Russian knapweed.

The change in classification of orchards is of importance in encouraging the practice of growing green manure crops for prevention of erosion and to maintain soil fertility. Rates of payment are $2 an acre for green manure crops seeded on crop land between the fall of 1935 and July 31, 1936, and grown and turned under prior to October 31. October 31 is the closing date for most 1936 practices.

In regard to summer fallow, provision is also made for payments of from 50 cents to 75 cents an acre for various erosion preventing fallow practices, such as trash, strip and contour strip fallowing. Fallow so treated can be counted in establishing a farm's soil building allowance, but not in the soil conserving crop total unless it is seeded this fall to grass or legumes.

Detailed rates on all Oregon soil building practices are now in the hands of county agents and county committees.
