DROUGHT REGION RELIEF IS BRIEF

He explained that a new cool wave, moving down from the northern Pacific states, probably would bring cooler weather tomorrow to the Dakotas, Nebraska, Minnesota, northwestern Wisconsin, upper Michigan and the extreme northern portion of lower Michigan.

When this joins with the cool wave which halted at the western border of middle America yesterday it is likely the combined forces of the two will be able to break the mass of heat, possibly Wednesday over the central states, he added.

Rains of Great Benefit The precipitation over the weekend in the northwest was of untold benefit. Besides aiding crops and the pasturage in some sections it also lifted the fire scourge in eastern Wyoming and southeastern Montana.

Men and women laughed and shouted in the rain, and their children played in mud puddles. Farmers wondered if the cool weather and rain would rid the area of the grasshopper and cricket horde. More than 1,000 men fighting the huge Black Hills forest blaze for more than a week, breathed easier as the moisture quenched all but a few spots.

Elsewhere in the nation, welcome rain revived the spirits of a sorely-tired populace over the week-end. In Connecticut the drought was believed definitely broken, and temporary relief was given in New York state, New England, Nebraska, Georgia, Virginia and South Carolina.

But as a general continuation of the drought was predicted, prices of major grain markets, which tumbled practically the full limit Saturday upon a forecast of probable relief from heat and aridity, opened today slightly lower than Saturday's close, then steadied to about the closing level.

Price Drops Halted Initial downturns of as much as 2 cents in some cases were soon overcome, and trading in all speculative pits was on a large scale, although much less so than on Saturday.

Despite Saturday's break, however, wheat still was 21-24 cents higher than prices commanded a year ago, corn was fractionally down to two cents up, and oats 2 1/2 cents higher at today's opening.

Meanwhile temperatures continued to ascend rapidly during the morning toward levels equal to or higher than the mark which created new maximums in many mid-western cities almost daily last week.

As the withering hot blasts continued unabated, Michigan, which listed 315 as the torrid wave entered its 11th consecutive day, and such high marks as 106 at Grand Rapids and 100 at Detroit yesterday, reported morning temperatures today of 95 at Bay City, 96 at Flint and Kalamazoo, and 94 at Detroit.

In Illinois where all-time marks were broken yesterday with 112.9 at Kewanee and 109 at Ottawa, the weather bureau at Springfield said the temperature there would exceed 102 for the 10th consecutive day. Yesterday's high was 107.5.

Corn, Milk Reduced The federal and state departments of agriculture said damage to corn and late crops would increase in Illinois unless there were heavy rains within the next few days, but that the yield prospect in many fields "has been materially reduced regardless of later rains."

At Chicago the temperature was 85 at 11:30 a. m. Nine heat deaths were recorded here today, a total of 159 during the current wave. Indianapolis and Indiana broiled again, the Hoosier capital reporting 99 at 10 a. m. and even the usually cool Duluth, Minn., on Lake Superior's shores, was scorched by an even 100 reading at 9:30 a. m.

Canada likewise suffered from the sun. A new record for its prairie west was chalked up yesterday with 112 at Emerson, Man. Deaths from the heat stood at 26 in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Rain brought a break in the heat in the former two provinces, but despite precipitation Manitoba temperatures continued high.

Prayers and Play As prayers were offered for rain at a union service yesterday in Missouri Valley, Ia., a fall of 1.94 inches was recorded at Waukon, in the northeastern part of the state. A girl was drowned in a cloud-burst and hailstorm centering in the badlands near Medora, N. D. Rain drove temperatures down to the 60's in a belt extending from Sheridan, Wyo., into South Dakota and Montana. Children played in mud puddles and at Gillette, Wyo., coats were comfortable again.
