FORMER MRS. DILL OUT FOR CONGRESS

SPOKANE, Wash., July 13.—(AP)—Well-to-do Rosalie Jones Dill, once a doorman campaigner for former U. S. Senator C. C. Dill, promised today with political zest to ring a few bells on her own account.

"I will file for congressional representative in the fifth Washington district and start campaigning at once," she declared. "Of course, I'll run on the democratic ticket. 'I think this campaign will be fun; don't you?'"

"It's a free-for-all; anyone can enter, and the more the merrier. Will I speak on street corners? I shall speak anywhere I can get people to listen. Of course I'm taking the campaign seriously! Doesn't every candidate take a campaign seriously?"
