GLENDALE VICTORY
TIES LEAGUE RACE

GLENDALE, July 27.—The Glendale Loggers went into a three-way tie for leadership of the Southern Oregon league Sunday by virtue of a 4 to 2 victory over the Klamath Red Sox in a game played at Klamath Falls.

The game was close throughout, after Klamath Falls scored in the first inning and the Loggers came back to put the game on ice in the fourth inning, scoring four runs from three hits and four Red Sox errors. The Sox rallied again in the eighth, but their rally was cut short when Johnson, hurling another good game for Glendale, fanned two men with runners on 2nd and 3rd.

The most spectacular play of the game came in the last of the ninth. With a man on 3rd, the Red Sox hitter fired out to Copeland in deep left field, who made a quick throw to short to Schermer, who relayed a perfect throw to the plate to catch the runner, with plenty of time to spare.

The Sox outlived Glendale 7 to 5, but made 7 errors, while the Loggers made only one.

Glendale's infield was strengthened by the addition of "Bick" Avery at second, and played air-tight ball in every inning.

Next Sunday brings the Grants Pass Merchants to Glendale in a game which will provide either the league champion or one of the play-off teams, depending upon the outcome of the game between the two Klamath Falls teams.

A record turnout is expected, as the Glendale fans realize they are backing a real ball club.

HELEN MOODY QUILTS
BIG TENNIS RANKS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—(AP)—Helen Wills Moody, considered the greatest of woman tennis players, stepped today from the international spotlight she held for a decade and turned her full attention to a career as a fashion designer.

The San Francisco matron, now 31, said she had definitely given up plans to play in the national championships in New York next month and indicated she was through with major competition.

"I shall play only in tournaments which fit in with my work as a designer," she said, "I find it impossible to do as designing and tennis, and justice to both."

Mrs. Moody learned tennis by playing against her father and was coached later by William C. "Pop" Fuller, veteran Berkeley, Calif., instructor. She won her first national title in 1923, breaking the streak of Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, retained the crown in 1924 and 1925.

An operation kept her from competition in 1926 but she returned the next year to regain her place as "Queen Helen" until 1933 when, behind in the national finals at Forest Hills, she walked off the court and defaulted to Helen Hull Jacobs, her nearest rival.

After this default, Mrs. Moody was treated for months for an injured vertebra. She recovered to again enter the 1925 English championship and clinch her career with a sensational victory over Miss Jacobs.

BEAVERS WIN TWO GAMES FROM OAKS

Opener Decided in Ninth
When Losers Tally 6, Victors Five.

(By the Associated Press.)
Eight days of wild baseball left Seattle and Portland in custody of the topmost positions in the coast league today.

The northwest, where the spotlight of interest remained all last week, will continue as the center of attraction this week, as Oakland moves to Seattle and the Sacramento Senators transfer their surprising efforts to Portland.

Portland finished up a 12-game series with Oakland last night by winning a double header, one of them in a great comeback during a 40-minute ninth inning. The scores were 10-9 and 10-5.

Sacramento won its third in a row from the first place Indians, 5-1, and dropped the series only by the odd ninth game.

For eight innings of the opening game in Portland last night, the Oaks and Beavers played orthodox baseball, executing five double plays. Carson granted his way to a 5-3 edge over slender Tobin and seemed assured of victory.

His troubles began when pinch hitter Douglas singled, and when two more Oaks hit safely, Larkin rushed to his rescue. Before the side was retired, the Oaks had six runs off five hits.

Behind four runs, Portland launched a surprising counter-attack which blasted Tobin off the hill and brought Miller into action long enough to be charged with the defeat. After Bedore had driven home the tying run on Portland's sixth hit of the inning, Brucker scampered home with the winning tally when Catcher Herschberger dropped a third strike and had to throw to first.

Caster won the nightcap easily, while three Oakland pitchers toiled ineffectually.

Pippen won his second game of the series from the Indians, scattering eight hits effectively.

Other clubs in the circuit took their customary Monday rest in preparation for series beginning today at San Diego, where the Padres meet Los Angeles, and San Francisco, where the Missions play host to the Seals.

ROWE, TIGERS TOO MUCH FOR YANKEES

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Whether Manager Mickey Cochran's dire warnings to the Tiger veterans to "show more pep or else" had anything to do with it, Bengals seem to be on the prowl again.

In a last ditch fight to remain in the race after they had absorbed three straight drubbings from the Red Sox, the world champions belted over the league leading Yankees 9 to 1 yesterday.

It is not often the clouting Yanks have been limited to a single run, even during their recent publicized "slump."

Schoolboy Rowe was the main factor in the Tiger triumph. He limited the hurled seven-hit ball and hit a shortstop in hand until Crosetti belted a homer in the eighth.

Rowe virtually won his own game in the third inning when he drove one of Gomez's pitches out of the park with one on base to start a three-run rally. He singled home two more tallies in the seventh, when Detroit fell on Walter Brown and Kleinhaus for six more tallies after Gomez had gone out for a pinch hitter.

The Indians' game with Washington was rained out, while the Browns, led by Jim Bottomley, knocked off the third place Red Sox.

Bottomley poked out two doubles and a single to lead the attack. A terrific slugfest by the Athletics and Brooklyn's third straight victory over the Pirates completed the major league program. Rain and threatening weather wiped out the Cubs-Phillies and Reds-Giants games, while the Cardinals and Bees had an open date.

The Mackmen opened fire on Kennedy, who had won nine straight games for the White Sox, and before they finished they had smashed out 25 hits for a 15-3 victory.

Brooklyn beat the Pirates 6-3, while his mates knocked Blanton off the slab in the fifth and touched Hoyt for their final run.

RESETTLEMENT-AID PLAN LAUNCHED IN GRANTS PASS AREA

ment through the aid of several federal agencies, and with Kaiser visited Washington to take the big project up with the WPA, RFC, ICC rivers and harbors committee and army engineers, the department of the interior and the resettlement administration, all of which would play a part in the big job.

Two-thirds interest dates back to when his late brother Robert built the first 14 miles of the line under the C. and O. C. name. In the construction-management agreement he appears with Kaiser jointly to "supervise, direct and manage" the construction of the line.

Construction is to begin within 30 days of the applications' acceptance, and completion of the line is tentatively set at March 1, 1938. According to the WPA application, it would require 12,671 man-months of labor on the Oregon end, and 32,277 man-months of labor on the California end. Workers would be moved here by the resettlement administration and housed in model towns built along the right-of-way, with many of the houses constructed to remain as permanent homes for families which would remain after the construction period to operate mines and manufacturing enterprises expected to be opened by the new railroad and its western harbor terminal.

One O. K. Obtained
The coordinated plan already has the O. K. of the Oregon and California regional and district administration. The services of the federal coordinator in Washington the several new deal agencies are said to be ready to give immediate consideration to all phases of the project.

The whole plan will involve expenditures of $20,350,000, beginning with $7,350,000 for constructing and equipping the railroad, $4,500,000 for completion of the Crescent City harbor, $5,000,000 for resettlement and irrigation programs, and $3,400,000 for construction of 70 miles of feeder rail line.

The three applications so far presented are concerned only with the main line of the railroad.

FUNERAL SET FOR

Funeral services have been arranged for 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Roseburg Undertaking company chapel for Mercedes Leiser, Canyonville infant, who died yesterday at Mercy hospital. Rev. J. Frank Cunningham will officiate and interment will be in the Civil Bend cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Bounds, of Rockles, spent yesterday in this city on business.

ASTORIA DENIES GAME FORFEITURE

Issue Over Legion Junior Baseball May Go Into Convention Here.

ASTORIA, Ore., July 28.—(AP)—Considerable resentment met word received here that Woodburn's Junior league baseball team would play in the state finals this weekend without the formality of meeting Astoria in a third and deciding game of a district series.

Ben Burns, manager of the Astoria nine, said "Astoria did not forfeit any game to Woodburn and has no intention of doing so." Burns said he told state legion baseball officials that Astoria would be unable to play Woodburn in Portland last Saturday after being notified of the game time only the previous day. He said he was promised the matter would be straightened out.

The first I knew of the so-called forfeit was when I read in the Portland papers," Burns said.

Nate Lakofish of Portland, city chairman of the baseball event, last Saturday night quoted Paul Patterson of Hillsboro, state chairman, as saying Astoria's failure to put in an appearance for the third game constituted a forfeit. The teams divided the first two contests.

Talk of an injunction to prevent the play-offs at Woodburn and of making the question an issue on the American Legion convention floor at Roseburg was heard here today.

NOTED MUSICIAN ON KNRR PROGRAM

George Bauer, youthful and talented musician visiting Roseburg from Seattle, will be heard as a guest artist on the KNRR program tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. Bauer, though still in his teens, is an accomplished organist and pianist. He will play at the Indian theatre, on both instruments, and the program will be broadcast by remote control from KNRR.

Selections which Bauer will offer tomorrow include compositions by Rubenstein, MacDowell, Tchaikowski and Handel. "We are happy to be able to cooperate by loaning the splendid Indian theatre organ for this broadcast," Don Radabaugh, local theatre manager said today. "We have heard young Bauer and consider him an accomplished musician."

Bauer has for the past year been assistant organist at the St. James cathedral in Seattle, and has for three years won the gold medal award of Seattle for musical accomplishment.

ed but were expected to recover. Camp Fire Blamed Forest service chiefs in charge of the fire fighters said the fire was started in Lodge Pole canyon, apparently when a vacation party failed to extinguish a camp fire.

It was reported here thousands of acres of valuable timber had been destroyed, and other stands were in the path of the flames.

Aviators were enlisted to help direct the activities of the fighters' army, made up of Indians, ranchers, stockmen, CCC enrollees and WPA employees.

The fire was described as the worst in the little Rockies. A strong wind swept the blaze away from the camp fire and sent it roaring up Beaver canyon.

One fire fighter, brother of Head Forester Hewitt at Zortman, was critically burned and was said to be in a serious condition in the Fort Belknap hospital.

Lack of moisture over a period of weeks has made the forest powder-dry.

the worst "they've ever been." Statistician W. M. Ebling reported Wisconsin's corn had been irreparably damaged.

"Extreme spotted conditions" were noted in Illinois by Statistician A. J. Suratt.

Kansas' weekly report held early corn would make no more than fodder while late corn and alfalfa were termed on the verge of ruin.

Federal Aid Asked
Senator Arthur Capper, appealing to Washington for quick allotment of funds, declared "thousands of farm families are facing destitution." State Resettlement Administrator L. A. White reckoned 20,000 Nebraska farm families would require assistance "between now and spring."

Gov. Al M. Leaton said Kansas officials had decided to renew a request for emergency freight rates on feed shipments and to borrow water-pumping equipment from oil firms.

The resettlement administration authorized an additional $827,000 for loans and grants to resourceless farmers in eight states—bringing the allotment total to $5,718,750.

SPANISH REBELS

cause of lack of pay and vigorous government thrusts, an insurgent plane today dropped several bombs on a government submarine patrolling off Cape Spartel.

submarine submerged, escaping damage.

Fascist soldiers who deserted to the leftist forces north of Madrid declared rebel troops were running short of food and described conditions in the insurgent camps as unbearable because of the stench of decomposing bodies.

Three hundred prisoners from Alhacete arrived at Alicante under the escort of government guards. Some of the rebels were forced to take off their uniforms which crowds of spectators seized and tore to pieces.

Forests Ignited
The liberal forces were declared to be setting fire to pine woods through which they passed in an attempt to stem the rebel advance. Dense smoke from the blazing forests hung over the entire districts.

A fascist broadcast at Seville said 1,300 wives and children of loyalist sailors were being held at Melilla, Spanish Morocco, "as hostages in case of a bombardment."

In the north, the Catalan government rushed militiamen and war materials to leftist forces gathering in a wide semicircle on the eastern side of Zaragoza, rebel hot bed.

Col. Diaz Sandino, Barcelona air chief, announced 5 new planes had arrived at Lerida airfield, where ten others were awaiting orders to attack Zaragoza from the air.

Government forces were encamped near Pina, less than 20 miles from Zaragoza. They included loyal troops, anarchists and metalworkers under the leadership of Georges Arquer, secretary of the Barcelona commercial union, and Samuel Gross, miner once condemned to death in the leftist Asturian revolt of 1934.

BURGOS, Spain, July 28.—(AP)—Spanish rebel leaders contemplate a "strong military dictatorship," General Emilio Mola, northern commander, said today.

"We will create a huge army equivalent to any in Europe," the officer declared.

"We must have a strong army for we are determined to keep order in Spain and give the fatherland its rightful place in the sun."

General Mola refused to admit the possibility of defeat of the rebellion.

"We expect to get to Madrid Thursday or Friday at the latest," he smiled confidently.

The military rebels will keep the republican form of government, the commander predicted.

(D. Mo.), chairman of the committee, said he expected six of the eight members to attend.

Bell said he did not believe Rep. John H. Tolan (D. Calif.) and Rep. J. William Ditter (R. Pa.) would be present. Tolan said in California he would not sign the report. Bell said Ditter was in the Orient.

A tentative draft of the report, drawn from 1,400 pages of testimony, has been made. Bell said, but he declined to discuss it pending the committee's action.

The hearing in Washington was marked by the refusal of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the movement, and his aides to testify, an action which brought contempt citations against them.

Other members of the committee are Representative Scott W. Lucas (D. Ill.), Joseph A. Cavanagh (D. N. Y.),
