GUARD WILL HAVE RECRUIT OPENINGS

A weeding out of national guard members of Company D, 162nd Infantry, who live out of town or whose work prevents attendance at drill, and their replacement with active members was announced last night by Captain V. J. Micelli, commanding officer of the company, at a social meeting of the group, following the regular Monday night drill. This will leave openings for about 15 or 20 new recruits, according to the captain.

Organization of a service club in the company in order to further the civic value of the unit to the community was also announced. Heretofore there has been no organization of this kind. There will be no company drill during the month of September, allowing an announcement, allowing the group a month's vacation before they return to work October 5.
