Wrong Dog Policy

IT TAKES all sorts of people to make a world, they say, but in one respect there are just two kinds of folks—those who like dogs and those who care nothing about dogs or actually dislike them.

There can be no more loyal friend nor more interesting companion than a dog. Nor does a dog need to have a pedigree as long as your arm or a family tree of impressive proportions to be good company. Just any dog unless he is a mean and ornery brute is a good scout. Not unlike people, some dogs are just naturally bad actors—enemies of dog society, so to speak. But mongrel or thoroughbred, a good natured dog is a mighty swell fellow to have around.

In this locality there is a definite increase in dog population. This brings about a problem that is serious for dog owners and city officials. Many dogs, unowned and unclaimed, may easily constitute a nuisance. But in regulating the nuisance mistakes are likely to occur.

Such a mistake happened yesterday. A valuable female dog was taken up by the city police and immediately dispatched. The police officer assumed the dog to be a nuisance and acted accordingly. Within an hour or less after this dog had accordingly been killed the owners were in touch with the police—but it was too late.

This incident calls attention to a glaring lack in city policy. Although the city levies a substantial license tax on dog owners, it provides no protection for the owner in the event a dog strays. The only method available now is to take up the stray dog and kill it. The city council should immediately make provision to care for dogs taken up as strays for a period of time long enough to permit the owner to appear and claim the animal. A fine could be levied as a further offset to the cost of such care.

The procedure now followed and which was responsible for the loss of the valuable dog mentioned above, is definitely wrong. If this situation is promptly remedied, the loss of this dog will not have been entirely in vain.

or of the people in this area is high.

IN AVERAGE retail sales per person in 1934, the latest year for which figures are available) Klamath Falls, Medford and Roseburg are far above the averages, leading all other Oregon cities by nearly two to one.

AS TO spendable income (Mr. Davis told his hearers) the per capita average in Klamath Falls is $376 (per year). In Medford it is $368, the two cities being almost exactly equal. Unfortunately, he did not have this figure for Roseburg.

The average for the five largest cities in Oregon (except Portland) is $315. The average for the entire state, including Portland, is $245.

So, you see, in the matter of income (which is what we are all interested in) we of Southern Oregon are well above the average for the state of Oregon as a whole.

PORTLAND, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A wheel, apparently loosed by thieves intending to steal it but unable to escape with it, flew from an automobile here, bounced down a street and struck Mrs. Sadie Bussie, 42, in the chest, causing contusions.

Daily Devotions DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

"What is all wisdom save a collection of platitudes? Take dozens of our current prose bird sayings. They are so trite and therefore that we can scarcely bring our lips to utter them, nevertheless they catch the concentrated experience of the human family, and the man who orders his life according to their teaching cannot go far wrong. How easy that seems! But has anyone ever done so? Has any man ever sustained inner harmony by pondering the sayings and experiences of others? That is not the way of life. He too must pass through the fire and thereby come to an actual experience of life. Touch us, dear Father, in need all the experiences of life with a steadfast faith in Thee, Amen."

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE A New Novel by Marlon Sims

Chapter 10 The mask of mockery slipped a little, and Denis saw a corner of Carol's face behind it. "I think there's too much—and not enough. I think we'd better let well enough alone. Skip it entirely."

U. S. POLITICAL OBSERVATIONS

By BYRON PRICE (Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington.) Thus far the republican approach to the farm issue has left a great deal to the imagination. It is plain that here is one subject on which Governor Landon's supporters will expect him to be far more specific when he makes his projected tour of the midwest.

The governor lives in a grain state which has been made benefit-minded by the stream of checks from Washington; a state whose political background is such that three of its four republican congressmen voted for the inflationary Frasier-Lemke farm mortgage bill, while the fourth was paired in its favor.

RAMBLINGS of the NEWS-REVIEW MAN

THE Parent-Teachers association had a very attractive and instructive booth at the Central Douglas fair, held yesterday and today in Sutherlin. It was filled with a wealth of booklets and pamphlets dealing with the welfare of children in the home, the church, school and community. The PTA has accomplished a world of good in its efforts to raise the standards of American home life, its cooperative work with the teaching staffs of our schools and its constant efforts to secure adequate legislation for the care and protection of children. Mrs. Lloyd Thompson is president of the Sutherlin unit.
