

GENERAL WALKOUT THREATENS SALINAS

Anti-Picketing Ordinance in Lettuce Row Roils Union Laborites.

SALINAS, Calif., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Union labor in this important agricultural district today considered a proposed general walkout protest against anti-picketing ordinances in the month-long strike of lettuce shed workers.

The Monterey county central labor council passed the mass walkout proposal on the 26 affiliated unions for decision after the city government adopted an ordinance against picketing last night.

Delegates to the labor council, who condemned the ordinance and a similar one previously adopted by the county supervisors, voted 339 to 14 in support of the mass protest plan.

The proposal, however, calls for membership approval by each union and by the executive council of the state federation of labor.

Members of the city council unanimously voted the new ordinance after Earl McCarry, a county supervisor, declared that unless the measure was adopted, the county would not contribute to costs of strike picketing.

The measure was opposed by Alfred Aram, attorney for the state federation of labor, who warned: "You will have more violence than you think you are trying to circumvent."

Members of the grower-shippers association, which refused the striking fruit and vegetable workers' union demand for employment preference to its 3,200 members, urged adoption of the ordinance.

The barricaded and guarded packing sheds are being operated by recruited workers.

REBELS MASS FOR ATTACK ON MADRID

near Alcala la Real, far to the south in Granada province.

Repulsing of a government attack on Huesca, provincial capital in the northeast, with 40 socialist militiamen killed in the encounter.

Defeat of driving government forces in the Bargas sector, 5 miles north of Toledo, in a sharp encounter in which insurgent bullets cut down 100 socialist soldiers.

Insurgent fliers who landed at Torrijos, field base on the Maqueda-Toledo highway, reported they rained bombs on the airport at Getafe, eight miles south of Madrid.

Although results of the aerial assault were not determined, the fliers said they believed many government planes had been destroyed in the attack.

Madrid Defense Assailed

Severe battles raged along the 100-mile civil war front north of the capital, the government reported today, as insurgents battered at the defenses of Madrid.

From the Avila front on the west to Elguenza on the east, beleaguered socialist defenders held their own, the government said, in a drenching rain which swept the northern mountain passes.

Insurgent hammer attacks on the line almost surrounding Madrid met with success in last week's fighting, government circles acknowledged, declaring their forces had recovered the optimism lost by the reverses.

Moors Repulsed

A cavalry charge against defense lines at Navalperal de Pinare, 30 miles northwest of Madrid, in the Avila sector, was repulsed, the government said, with heavy slaughter as Moorish horsemen were driven back into the mountain area.

(In the same sector, however, the insurgents reported the capture of San Bartolome de Pinare, six miles southwest of Navalperal.)

Apparent success of efforts to obtain materials of war cheered militiamen on the front lines as well informed quarters seemed confident the often heralded fall of Oviedo was "imminent."

WELL-TO-DO IN MADRID MURDERED BY HUNDREDS

(Copyright, 1936, by the Associated Press)

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish border, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Refugees brought here by the Spanish capital's extremists "execution squads" had killed well over 2,000 middle and upper class citizens.

Hands of "bloodthirsty young murderers," the refugees said, are responsible for the executions. The travelers described the death squads as the Spanish counterparts of the French "Sans-Culottes" of 1793, who, with blood-soaked umbrellas, daily fed "Madame Guillotine" with aristocrats.

The role of free-lance executioners, the refugees added, is second nature to the avowed gunmen in these two organizations, but the members of the popular front parties and unions regard it with loathing.

People's Tribunal Rules

The "cheka," people's tribunal, understood to be entirely dominated by the anarchists and syndicalists at its headquarters on Holy Sunday hill, successfully hoodwinks the police and the government over the treatment of persons known to have fallen into its clutches, today's refugees said.

Many persons have been executed, they added, despite official efforts to save their lives and "cheka" assurances to the authorities that no harm would befall them.

Fragile evidence that the "executioners" aim at the extermination of the entire capitalist class is provided, the travelers continued, by the number of persons of liberal convictions found every day at dawn on the capital's sandy outskirts, shot with a "savage cruelty."

A favorite ruse of the "executioners," the refugees continued, is to accuse "suspects" in the street, segregate them and obtain from each privately an account of the conversation they were holding when accosted. It may be fatal, the sources said, if the accounts do not tally.

FARM TERRACES 6 TIMES U. S. LENGTH

More than 15,000 miles of terraces—enough for about 6 terraces—have been built by farmers in soil conservation service demonstration areas in 41 states. During the next three years the service expects to help farmers build about 36,000 more miles of terraces.

The value of terracing in keeping soil on moderate slopes from washing has been proved in many parts of the country. Terraces usually are built on land with no more than a 12 per cent slope.

In one case terraced land lost soil at the rate of 64 tons an acre each year. On similar land terraced the soil loss was a little more than two tons an acre. In another test, terraced land lost from 8 to 10 times more soil per acre.

Another value of terraces, in regions where rainfall is scanty, is that they hold moisture as well as soil. Numerous tests show that as much as 80 per cent more water runs off terraced fields. Crop yields also are increased on terraced fields, after about the second year, the increase being much greater after several years.

The soil conservation service finds that terraces should not be much over a quarter of a mile in length. Shorter terraces generally conserve moisture and retard washing better than long terraces.

REGISTRATION IN DOUGLAS INCREASES

clerk's office today.

The registration, increased by 550 voters and the democratic registration increased by 1551 voters, boosting the lead of the democrats over the G. O. P. total to 1414.

Today's registration figures are as follows: Democrats, 6101; republicans, 4587; others, 293, making a total of 10,981.

REPUBLICAN LEAD IN HOOD RIVER CUD TO 41 VOTES

SALEM, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Hood River county registration for the November election, the first official report to be filed with the secretary of state, showed a heavy gain in democratic registration since the last presidential election as well as a lesser gain in the republican lists. The total registration the past four years was up 40 per cent.

The registration, which still leaves the county in the republican column by the narrow margin of 41 voters, was: republicans 2,715; democrats 2,674; all others 190; total 5,579. Registration for the general election in 1934 was: Republicans 2650; democrats 1526; total 4216.

DEMOCRATS REGISTER BIG
INCREASE IN MULTNOMAH

PORTLAND, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Multnomah county democrats pulled up to within 855 of the republican total when the registration books closed last Saturday night. The G. O. P. had a registration of 89,621 as compared with 88,766 for the democrats.

900-foot drop.

When a report of the accident gained circulation, most of the 1500 inhabitants of this mountainous mining village, located in a timbered canyon, flocked to the mine, which is two miles west of here.

A blow-out patch should be removed and permanent repairs made, according to the Oregon State Motor association. Such patches have a tendency to throw both tire and wheel out of balance and also cause chafing which eventually results in permanent damage.

ROOSEVELT CONFERS PRIOR TO SPEECHES

Labor Support Assured by A. F. L. Chief; New Deal Hit by New Attacks.

(By the Associated Press)

While their supporters came to verbal blows, Gov. Landon attacked Roosevelt's "New Deal" in Washington, but President Roosevelt temporarily held his fire today, devoting himself to conferences before going to the front line campaign trenches once again.

President Roosevelt returned to Washington from Hyde Park, N. Y., after a series of conferences with supporters. One of them, President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, reported that labor was "90 per cent" for the president.

Green said "humanitarian policies under the administration ought to be continued and by those who inaugurated them."

Another caller, Frank Murphy, democratic candidate for governor of Michigan, pointed to "industrial unions" which he said had been stimulated by wider distribution of purchasing power.

New Deal Assailed

Flailing away at the administration, Col. Frank Knox said at Boston last night while President Roosevelt repudiated communist support he failed "peculiarly enough" to explain "why the communists want to see him re-elected."

Another attack on the new deal came from a democratic former senator, James A. Reed of Missouri, who said at Newark, N. J., that its social program was "complete and absolute tyranny" leading to "enslavement of all people."

Joseph P. Kennedy, former chairman of the securities commission, upheld the president in a New York speech and declared that it was legislation to regulate the securities business which first provoked hatred against Mr. Roosevelt.

On the other hand, Joseph B. Ely, former democratic governor of Massachusetts, assailed "the Wallaces, the Leases and the Tugwells" as "socialistic." He said "I am for driving them out of government."

Senator Holt Boode

West Virginia, where two democratic senators are engaged in a feud, was the scene of an uproarious meeting last night. Rush Holt, "baby senator," appeared at Fairmont to oppose the re-election of Senator M. M. Neely, but soon and catcalls forced him to leave the speaking platform. He said Senator Neely was "back of this."

The standard bearer of other parties kept on spreading their arguments before the voters. Rep. William Lemke, union party, accused the new deal in a speech at Fargo, N. D., of "regimentation" for the "internationalist viewpoint."

Norman Thomas, socialist, said at Pocatello, Idaho, that "Senator Borah's anti-monopoly capitalism cannot bring us freedom, peace and plenty."

Game by Innings

deft Castleman, a right-hander, making his first appearance in the series. The crowd gave Fitz a good hand despite his failure to duplicate the fine performance he showed in the third game last Saturday. DiMaggio flied to Ott. Two runs, four hits, no errors, two left.

Fifth Inning

Yankees: Terry made a fine stop of Gehrig's hard smash down the first base line and beat his Yankee rival to the bag for an unassisted putout. Dickey was tossed out, Whitehead to Terry. Selkirk lined to Leiber. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Giants: Leiber fanned. Ott hit a home run into the upper left field deck on the first pitch. It was his first circuit clout of the series. Manusso lined to DiMaggio in deep center. Whitehead rounded to the box and was tossed out at first. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Sixth Inning

Yankees: Powell fanned. Lazzeri fanned. Castleman had a sharp-breaking curve and a world of speed. Gomez also fanned, swinging with the count three and two as Castleman retired the side on strikes. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Giants: Jackson popped to Lazzeri. Castleman hit to the box and was tossed out, Gomez to Gehrig. Moore grounded out, Lazzeri to Gehrig. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Seventh Inning

Yankees: Crosetti was tossed out, Bartlett to Terry. Rolfe got a basehit on a sharp grounder past Whitehead. It was his third straight hit. DiMaggio lifted a fly to Leiber. Gehrig hit to Whitehead and was tossed out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Giants: Bartlett doubled. Terry hit for a single. Bartlett scored and Terry ran to second when the ball squirted through DiMaggio's legs. Leiber sacrificed, Rolfe to Lazzeri, advancing Terry to third. Ott walked on four straight balls. The Yankee infield clustered around Gomez in the box. The Yankee southpaw was removed from the box. He was replaced by a right-hander, Johnny Murphy. Sam Leslie, who has already flied a series, pinch-hitting record with two hits, batted for Manusso. Leslie fouled to Rolfe on the first pitch. Ripple, the Giants' alternate center fielder and a right-handed batter, replaced Whitehead at the bat. Ripple walked, filling the bases. Mark Koenig batted for Jackson and fanned, on a called third strike. One run, two hits, one error, three left.

Eighth Inning

Yankees: Koenig went to second for the Giants. Eddie Mayor to third, and Harry Danning behind the bat. Ripple was in center field. Instead of Leiber, Dickey walked. Selkirk singled past Whitehead, but Dickey stopped at second. Powell fanned on a called third strike. Lazzeri singled, scoring Dickey. Selkirk stopped at second. Murphy fanned on a called third strike. Crosetti walked, filling the bases. Rolfe flied to Ott. One run, two hits, no errors, three left.

Giants: Davis batted for Castleman and lifted a high fly to Powell. Moore hit a home run against the upper right field stand. Bartlett lifted a high one to Lazzeri. Terry grounded out, Lazzeri to Gehrig. One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Ninth Inning

Yankees: Dick Coffman went to the box for the Giants. DiMaggio singled to left. Gehrig smashed a hit past Koenig for a single, sending DiMaggio to third. Dickey grounded to Terry and DiMaggio was tagged between third and the plate. DiMaggio scored however. Terry threw to Mayo and Danning dropped the ball on the relay to the plate. Gehrig went to third and Dickey to second. Danning was charged with an error. Selkirk was intentionally passed, filling the bases. Powell drove the ball through Bartlett's legs, scoring Gehrig and Dickey, and sending Selkirk to third. Powell reached second on the throw to third base. Coffman was taken from the box and replaced by Harry Gumbert. Murphy smashed the first pitch to Terry for a single, scoring Selkirk and leaving the bases still fully populated. Crosetti walked, forcing Powell. Rolfe grounded to Bartlett and Crosetti was forced at second. Bartlett to Koenig, as Lazzeri scored and Murphy went to third. DiMaggio beat out a hit to short, scoring Murphy, putting Rolfe on second. Gehrig walked, filling the bases for the third time. Dickey fanned, swinging on three pitched balls. Selkirk flied deep to Ripple, retiring the side after the Yankees set a new world series scoring record for the ninth inning. Seven runs, five hits, one error, three left.

Giants: Mayo lifted a foul to Rolfe. Ott flied to Powell. Danning grounded out to Gehrig unassisted. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

D. L. CROW, BARBER, WAR VET, PASSES

David L. Crow, 49, for more than 15 years employed as a barber in Roseburg and other towns in Douglas county, died Saturday at the veterans' administration hospital at San Fernando, Calif., where he had been a patient for more than three years, according to word received here by relatives.

He was born September 6, 1887, at Switzerland, Ore., but moved as a child with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Crow, to Riddle. He saw military service during the World war and was a member of the American Legion. He left Roseburg in 1925 for Anaheim, Calif., where he was proprietor of a barber shop until ill health forced his retirement.

He leaves his parents, a wife, and a daughter, Mrs. Marvel Rasher, of Glendale, Calif., and a brother, C. H. Crow, of Riddle.

Funeral services will be held at Forest Lawn cemetery in Glendale, Calif., today. His parents have been at San Fernando during the last three weeks of his critical illness.

Miscellany

The request of the Shell Oil company for permission to install a gasoline storage tank under the sidewalk at its station on Stephens and Lane streets was granted. The committee on ways and means was instructed to fix sale prices on two lots in Laurelwood in which buyers are interested, and also on two lots on North Park addition, required by the state highway commission for the relocation of the Pacific highway. The usual monthly reports of the treasurer, police, street and fire departments were read and placed on file.

C. W. Simmler, instructed several months ago to raise the building in which he is now located, was granted another 30 day extension upon a showing that removal of his business from its present location would be a hardship in view of a large amount of work now being done.

Advised that the public utilities commissioner will hold a hearing in Roseburg Friday to consider a proposed grade crossing of the North Roseburg S. P. spur tracks by the relocation of the Pacific highway, the city appointed Engineer H. L. Epstein and Attorney R. L. Eddy to represent the municipality at the hearing. The city is particularly interested in seeing that sidewalks are provided for in the commission's order.

With the election four weeks from today, the republican presidential nominee explored phases of the relief problem hanging upon the illegal residence of aliens in the United States with Edwin Corns, former immigration commissioner at Ellis Island.

Corns told reporters he recommended "humanization" of the immigration laws and establishment of a non-partisan board to administer relief. Deportation of alien heads of families, he said, often heads of families, he said, often lies upon relief.

Baroness Upset

Baroness von Riksen-Finecke, who had arrived at the field at 5 a. m. with a vacuum bottle containing a quart of coffee, was frankly upset.

For two hours at the field the pilot and the 28-year old adventurer did not meet at all. Finally they went to a nearby office for a 20-minute conference.

The baroness emerged dejected. "It looks as if I'm grounded," she said. "He has bought the plane and I can't go."

"Of course I am fully well going to fly the Atlantic sometime. I hope to do it solo with an automatic pilot that will not back out on me at the last minute."

"I can say no hard words but I am terribly sorry."

Bjorkvall, unmarried, has 1,300 hours' flying experience. He has a flying service, planes and hangar at Aare, Sweden; made one flight to Africa and a record non-stop hop to London. His appearance is similar to that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.
