McLARNIN WHIPS TONY CANZONERI

Victor Now Seeks Fourth
Battle With Champion
Barney Ross.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Jimmy McLarnin, who was ready to hang up his gloves and quit the ring little more than a year ago, found himself very much in the fight picture again today after giving a shellacking to Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion.

McLarnin turned the tables on Canzoneri last night at Madison Square garden before a crowd of 11,423 cash customers who took time off from the world series arguments to see the two former titleholders go ten slashing rounds. Last May, Tony gave Jimmy a ten-round licking.

McLarnin carried off the unanimous decision after left-handed Canzoneri into bloody subjection. Tony survived a three-second knockdown in the second round, when he was flattened by a straight right to the chin. He finished gamely despite gasps around both eyes, his nose and mouth. McLarnin outpointed his rival in every round except the first and tenth, which Tony won, and the fourth, which was even.

Ringside critics were unanimous in rating McLarnin's performance his best here in at least two years, despite the fact his victim lacked anything like the speedy aggressiveness of his best days.

McLarnin had an eight-pound pull in the weights, scaling 145 to Canzoneri's 137.

McLarnin and his long-time manager, Pop Foster, talked eagerly of the chance to regain the welterweight title from Barney Ross of Chicago.

The garden's energetic promoter, Jimmy Johnston, lost no time starting negotiations for a fourth McLarnin-Ross fight to be held this winter. They waged three outdoor battles for the welterweight crown, splitting two decisions in 1934 and fighting the rubber match in 1935, with Ross the victor.

RIPPLE SHINES AS TOP ROOKIE STAR

By PAUL MICKELSON

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Joe DiMaggio won acclaim as the greatest major league rookie of 1936 but the thousands who have watched the melodramatic world series aren't so sure he has anything over Jim Rippe, star Giant freshman, at least for the time being.

With a team that has been stumbling, Rippe actually has surpassed the world series exploits of the young Italian from the Golden Gate, today's figures reveal. At bat, he has smashed out four hits in 12 chances and driven in three runs. DiMaggio has hit safely six times out of 20 and batted in two runs.

More than that, Rippe has come through almost every time in a pinch, whereas DiMaggio has failed twice hitting into double plays when one run meant a ball game.

Both have turned in some fielding masterpieces, but the gems were produced by Rippe with two tumbling, shattering catches that cheated the Yankees out of sure hits. His leaping, rolling catch yesterday of Red Rolfe's low line drive was one of the most spectacular in world series history.

Hard work made a strong boy, a hard hitter, out of Rippe. At 15, he was forced to work for a living. He got a job in a lumber camp. "That work developed my wrists," he explained. Rippe, like DiMaggio, has powerful wrists and seldom takes a full cut at the ball. Rippe no longer is a major league Rippe. He's a tidal wave.

PACIFIC COAST FOOTBALL NEWS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Southern California loads its 1936 gridiron hopes into a train tonight and sends them off to campaign for a crucial test by Bob Zuppke's Illinois eleven.

Thumping victories over Oregon State and Oregon in Pacific coast conference competition gave Southern California fans a basis for rating the Trojans at least on a par with the Illini, who conquered them 19 to 0 in the first meeting here a year ago.

CORVALLIS, Oct. 6.—Bob Favell, fullback, on the freshman team, received a broken arm yesterday in scrimmage against the varsity. The accident occurred while the Orangemen were preparing plays for the University of California game next Saturday at Portland.

SEATTLE, Oct. 6.—The Washington football team was scheduled to leave this afternoon for Los Angeles to lay its Pacific coast conference championship hopes on the line against the UCLA Bruins Saturday.

The game will have an important bearing on the conference race as both UCLA and Washington are rated as leading contenders. With the return of Halfback Jimmy Cain to the lineup after a 10-day rest with an injury, Washington is at full strength for the southern invasion.

EUGENE, Oct. 6.—Coach Frank Callison marked up today among his first casualties of the year a major loss—Fullback Frank Goodin. Goodin went out for the remainder of the season with a serious knee injury suffered in the Southern California game Saturday at Los Angeles.

Joe Houston, regular guard, also was on the sidelines because of an injured leg as the squad resumed practice for the Stanford game at Palo Alto next Saturday.

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 6.—With the furor of an officiating dispute fading into a whisper, Coach Hollingbery opened intensive drill today on two weaknesses his Washington State gridders showed in their 14-13 victory over Stanford. They were aerial defense and fumbling.

Washington State meets Idaho at Moscow Saturday in their traditional game.

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 6.—Disappointed by the University of Idaho eleven's failure to register a first down against Washington in a 22-0 setback, Coach Ted Bank sought more offensive power today in preparation for Washington.

BRIETZ' BREEZY BITS

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Barry Grimes, the old pitcher, is the betting favorite to land Casey Stengel's job in the American association this year, so he should feel right at home in Flatbush. It is also more than a possibility that Larry MacPhail, late of the Reds, will step into John Gorman's shoes

State college's invasion Saturday. The Idaho-W. S. C. annual game, played first in 1894, is one in which advance records seldom count. It's always a "dog fight" when the two nine-mile neighbors get together in their annual bruise-and-batter fiesta.

PALO ALTO, Oct. 6.—With three players in the hospital with injuries received in the Washington State game, Coach Claude E. "Toby" Thornhill planned considerable juggling of his Stanford football team today.

His first move was the shifting to fullback of Tony Cavalli, substitute center. Glen Hamilton, No. 1 fullback since the loss of Bill Paulman, will be out several weeks with a knee injury. Thornhill said, injured also were John "Pop" Grant, second string tackle, and Jack Clark, end.

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—University of California's football warriors today began in earnest for the Bears' conference opener at Corvallis Saturday with Oregon State college.

Coach "Stub" Allison said California's 19 to 0 loss to St. Mary's was a good tonic.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Back from an averted glimpse of St. Mary's victory over California, Tom Lieb declared today the gaily-colored "Reds" the best Notre Dame-style club he's seen since the four horsemen.

Lieb was once Knute Rockne's right hand man at Notre Dame. His Loyola Lions play St. Mary's Sunday in the coliseum.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—UCLA's varsity buckled down to another heavy workout today, warned by Scout Cliff Simpson that the Washington Huskies are going to be tough critics to beat in that football game next Saturday.

Strengthening the Bruin backfield, Hal Hirschon, left half, was in action today after being on the sidelines for two weeks with an injured hip. Walt Shell, 215 pound fullback, is on the shelf, however, with a wrenched knee.

SANTA CLARA, Oct. 6.—The Broncos of Santa Clara university came out of their game with Portland university with one injury. Coach "Buck" Shaw said today. William Del Baggio, starting quarterback against the Pilots, suffered a knee injury that will keep him out of action for two weeks. The Broncos rested yesterday but resume workouts today for the University of San Francisco contest Sunday.

Some days ago, when it was rumored MacPhail had his eyes on the St. Louis Browns, this corner wondered how he and Rogers Hornsby would hit it off. Well, it is respect for each other. MacPhail often calls Hornsby to ask his opinion of certain players. When Rogers answers the phone he always says, "Hello, MacPhail."

What do the baseball money players do when the chips are up? Di Maggio and Gehrig fanned yesterday when a hit might have meant the ball game. In the same inning, Hal Schumacher pitched himself out of the all-time all American hole. With one run in, the bases loaded and home out, he whiffed Di Maggio and Gehrig and forced Bill Dickey to fly out.

BORAH BACKS FARM REFINANCING PLAN

Senator Also Renews His Attack on "Monopoly" and Money System.

COTTONWOOD, Idaho, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Sen. William E. Borah continued his "long wait" reelection campaign in north Idaho today after pledging his support to being the Frazier-Lemke farm refinancing bill before the senate.

In an address here last night, Borah said the measure was based on the sound principle of refinancing farm indebtedness at a cheaper rate.

"Something of the kind must come," he prophesied. "I shall gladly support the bill for the purpose of bringing it before the senate and bringing the subject up for consideration."

Borah lashed out vitriolically at the American monetary system and the federal reserve.

"I do not care if I get only 1,000 votes in Idaho," he declared. "I am going to continue to advocate reconstruction of our entire monetary system and destruction of monopoly."

Of the federal reserve system's monetary authority, the senator charged, "the ears of all the Russians never had such power," and added, "in some parts of the United States they would burn me at the stake if I preached this doctrine."

"Some people talk about going back to the gold standard," he said, "but we might just as well talk about going back to the ox age. The gold standard is the standard of security. It enables speculators to control our monetary system. It is monopoly."

Borah expressed opposition to the reciprocal tariff policy of the Roosevelt administration, describing it as good in principle but not in application. He said such a policy always hurt the western farmer.

By WALTER WARREN

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Pacific coast business leaders look for a continued upward trend in business, despite disquiet, during the next six months. Strassburger & Co. found today after polling a large number of executives from Seattle to San Diego.

Estimates of the progress over the preceding year ranged from 10.1 per cent to 13.4 per cent.

A similar poll taken six months previously furnished average estimates of a gain of 11.75 per cent. Strassburger measurements of business gains for the period indicated a gain of 11.12 per cent.

While much has been heard of threatened labor troubles, the Strassburger survey found only one of each five replies mentioning this potential disturbing influence. Comments from the Pacific northwest indicated belief the upward trend is too firmly established to be affected by politics.

The lumber industry brought the most ray forecast for general business, its executives forecasting gains which averaged 26.7 per cent. These same men estimated the lumber business would run 17.7 per cent ahead of the preceding year.

Manufacturing leaders saw a gain of 16 per cent in their line, and merchandisers, 14.8 per cent. In their, Agriculture, public utilities and paper manufacturing the leaders estimated gains of 8.3 per cent. These were the smallest gains forecast.

As to employment, the average of the replies forecast a gain, with payrolls rising more than employment.

Returns from the northwest were generally more optimistic than those of other areas.

Burgess Whitehead's private cheering section from North Carolina finally got to clicking yesterday and rooted the Phi Beta Kappa to his first hit in 16 series tries.

LIGHTED HIGHWAY IN OREGON PLANNED

Highway illumination in Oregon became a virtual reality last week when the Oregon state highway commission laid plans to make a three-mile test installation, according to the Oregon State Motor association.

Lighting of highways was recommended some time ago by the motor club as an added safety measure. Experience in other states, it was pointed out, shows that illumination by modern methods prevents many serious motor vehicle accidents.

The section of highway on which the test installation would be made should be the Portland-Oregon City west side Pacific highway, between Portland and Milwaukie, the commission decided. This is a four-lane concrete highway of the latest type.

A similar test installation was made on the Pacific highway 2.9 miles south of Tacoma in Washington, it was explained. Washington engineers declare that the lighting on this stretch has been responsible for elimination of many accidents, although comparative figures are not available.

Tentative estimates secured from the state of Washington, Baldock said, indicated that the cost of installation will be about $4,000 per mile; the maintenance and service charges approximately $250 per mile per year.
