

WATERFRONT TRUCE FAILS TO ADJUST

Ship Employers of Pacific Coast Repeat Demands For Arbitration.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Pacific coast waterfront employers today again called for arbitration of disputed labor issues after announcing truce negotiations with one maritime union at an end.

The employers' announcement, in the form of an open communication to the Pacific Coast Marine Firemen, Oilers, Waterenders and Wipers association, said:

"Our negotiations having been concluded, with many of the proposals made by both parties remaining in dispute, it now becomes necessary for you to determine if your union will submit those issues which are in dispute to arbitration."

This threw the relations with the union back virtually to the status of October 1, when the employers terminated agreements with all maritime unions but consented to a technical 15-day "truce" continuance.

The employers' committee indicated a similar arbitration demand will be made on each of the other unions when, and if, negotiations conclude with issues still unsettled.

The employers, in announcing the termination of negotiations with the marine firemen, oilers, waterenders and wipers, disclosed that control of hiring—key issue in the 1934 maritime strike—was among the questions still in dispute.

Another dispute was on the issue of whether union members should pass through picket lines established by affiliated organizations.

Results Announced
The results of the negotiations, as announced by the employers' committee, were:

Provisions agreed upon:

Union preference of employment.

Right of the union to organize.

Establishment of a "port committee," consisting of three members from the union and three from the employers to settle disputes. In case of failure to agree a referee shall be appointed by the secretary of labor.

There shall be no strikes, lockouts or stoppages of work during the period of the agreement.

Hours of labor at sea shall be three eight-hour watches.

Basic provisions upon which no agreement was reached:

Right of employers to hire men continuously employed with companies since May 9, 1934, and special employes in "key" positions.

Right of employers to discharge or refuse to employ any one not satisfactory to them.

Right of the union members to refuse to go through any picket line established by any organization affiliate with the maritime federation of the Pacific.

Classification of rates of pay. (Owners offered $72.50 a month for most classifications. Unions asked $90.)

Overtime pay. (Owners offered 40 cents an hour. Union asked one dollar.)

"Human Horse" Finds Success at End of Trail

Walter Shotwell and family. After pulling his family of five and all their belongings from Oklahoma to Tennessee in a home-made wagon, Walter Shotwell, "the human horse," found success at the end of the trail. Unable to obtain government relief, Shotwell, a carpenter by trade, made his way to the home of a former employer at Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., where he obtained food, shelter and employment.

Landon at Davenport, Ia. Gov. Alfred M. Landon, en route back to Topeka on his 1,000-mile farm belt campaign tour, is snapped speaking to a crowd from the back platform of his train at Davenport, Ia., a scene which was duplicated at his numerous brief stopovers in the several states he traversed.

JUSTICE DEPT. EYES COLLUSION IN BIDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Justice department officials said today they were investigating "hundreds and hundreds" of cases in which firms, seeking government contracts for supplying construction material, submitted identical bids.

How many of the bids could be termed "collusive," officials declined to say pending completion of investigation.

"Our investigations are simply fact finding. We are not doing detective work," a department spokesman said today. Some company books have been examined.

President Roosevelt suggested last June 20 that if federal agencies received identical bids they should be turned over to the department of justice for investigation.

Officials said today there were "great masses" of reports on identical bids for almost every type of construction material needed by the government.

Dickinson and his aides are expected to complete their work by early December.

The most recent cases involving identical bids were sent to the justice department over last week by Secretary Ickes. Seven out of ten bids for supplying Grand Coulee dam with steel tubing were said by Ickes to be $22,013.27. Seven of 14 other bids submitted for supplying copper wire and cable to a reclamation project at North Platte, Neb., were also identical at $16,501.31, the interior secretary said.

MELROSE

MELROSE, Oct. 6.—Pete Engles has returned to Roseburg from taking a truck load of cantaloupes to Oakland, Calif., from the Williams' melon fields at Melrose. This is the third truck load taken by Mrs. Elizabeth Hoefling and her grandson, Eugene McGregory, left Saturday for Salt Lake City, Utah, after spending the entire summer visiting the former's daughter, Mrs. R. Garbor and family and her son, Thomas F. Hoefling and family.

Mother and Daughter Flogged

Inez Fowler Mrs. Bertha Fowler

Officials continued their investigation into operations of a group of night-riding "vigilantes," following the alleged flogging and head-slashing of "undesirable" men and women in the swamp region near Wilmington, N. C. Shown above are Mrs. Bertha Fowler and her daughter, Inez, two of the victims of the hooded band, which is said to have been led by a fanatical minister.

JOINT RATES ON CATTLE TO CEASE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today ordered three short line railroads serving the cattle-raising districts of Oregon, Idaho and Montana to discontinue combination rates on through carload shipments of livestock to points outside the inter-mountain territory.

The order amounts to a reduction on through shipments.

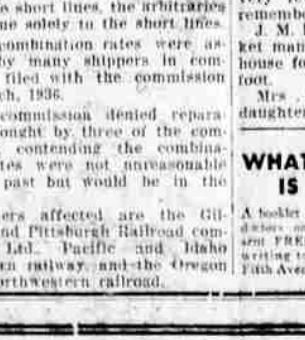

The carriers were ordered to supplement the combination rates effective January 11, 1937, with rates which would not exceed those based on distance tariffs prescribed in livestock western district rates for the entire distance from origin to destination.

The combination rates were as applied by many shippers in complaints filed with the commission in March, 1936.

The commission denied reparations sought by three of the complainants, contending the combination rates were not unreasonable in the past but would be in the future.

Carriers affected are the Illinois and Pittsburgh Railroad company, L. A. Pacific and Idaho Northern railway, and the Oregon and Northwestern railroad.
