LANDON FORCED TO BED; THROAT SORE

plans."

The republican presidential candidate paused at Phoenix, Ariz., to say:

"The fundamental issue as I see it in this campaign is whether we shall maintain our American system of government or whether we shall surrender it for another and very different system.

"This is a question above party, a question that challenges our most serious consideration not as democrats or republicans, but as Americans.

"Through the constitution, our forefathers gave the government they established certain rights and duties. But they specifically kept for themselves and their children the right to live their own lives, to speak freely, to write freely and to worship according to the dictates of conscience."

"Today," Landon continued, "the people of this country have a choice between the American system they have always known and an onerous system. This will determine whether they and their children will remain a free people, capable of self-government, or be dominated by an all-powerful central authority."

"I am not questioning the humanitarian intentions of the present administration. But I do wish to point out the threatening character of the means the administration uses to carry out its intentions."

"There can be no question as to the road down which we are being led."

Grazing Act Scored

Addressing his remarks to the southwest cattlemen, Landon said "we see in the present administration of the grazing act another example of federal bureaucracy run wild." He did not elaborate.

"If by one means or another rights to regulate can be set up, such regulations will not stop with telling farmers how many bushels of potatoes they can harvest."

"In conclusion, let me repeat what I said when I accepted the nomination of my party for the presidency. I would not have you believe that I think the constitution is above change."

"The people have the right by the means they have prescribed to amend the constitution as they see fit. I do believe, however, that the underlying principles of that charter of our freedom must be maintained if we are to continue to go forward under the protection of our American form of government."

During the long ride from Los Angeles interrupted only by operating stops where he greeted crowds of well-wishers, Landon worked on an address on foreign affairs scheduled for delivery in Indianapolis Saturday night.

R. H. S. GRIDSTERS SHOW NEW SPIRIT

The Roseburg Indians, who apparently in the grip of an attack of inferiority complex, lost their football game last week to Cottage Grove high, seem to have snapped out of their laxity and are showing better form in practice than they have exhibited all season. Coach Hod Turner reports.

The Indians tangle Friday with University high of Eugene at 8 p. m. on Finlay field, and in the event the team plays even nearly as good as in scrimmage should turn in a victory, Turner says.

University high was beaten by Albany, from which Roseburg won its first game of the season, and has defeated Springfield so far this season.

Turner will be lacking the services of Fancette, hard hitting full-back, who is suffering from a sore arm and minor infection. Baker will take over Fancette's position in the starting lineup.

Ridgeway will be back at the center position to make up for the lack of weight due to Fancette's absence, giving needed power on line plays, while Baker's speed in the backfield position is expected to be valuable in the match with the light team from Eugene.

MAN ASSAULTED BUT SAVES MONEY

SWEET HOME, Ore., Oct. 22.—(AP)—Ira Mays underwent treatment today for a head wound, incurred when a stranger struck him over the head with a bottle, apparently in an attempt to rob him of a large sum of money he was carrying.

Mays said he remembered running through a field but recalled nothing else until he found himself wandering here. His money, hidden on his person, was intact.
