POET'S CORNER

HALLOWE'EN
When I pass a spooky house,
I hear the loose boards crack,
My pumpkin I've been holding tight,
The black cats chase the mice,
The house goes in the ground.

I see something slick and white,
I hear the loose boards crack,
My pumpkin I've been holding tight,
The black cats chase the mice,
The house goes in the ground.

I hear the tinkle of the cans,
The wailing of the wind;
I see a tall and slender man...
He's tall and gray and thin...
—LOUISE MORRISON,
Fifth grade, Fullerton school.

HALLOWE'EN
My, all the witches
And all the ditches!
My, all the bats
The goblins are everywhere...
And all the cats...
The world is aghast
In the dead of night!
—JAMES GRANGER,
Fifth grade, Fullerton school.

OCTOBER SCARES
Hallowe'en's a comin':
Be a lot of scares:
Screech owls be a-hootin',
Rats along the stair.

Be a lot of chil'ens out a scarin' things:
But Ah'm not goin' out until dat ol' alarm clock rings!
—BONNIE BAILLIE,
Fifth grade, Fullerton school.

NEW CARS DISPLAY
SAFETY FEATURES

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The American automobile driver will have at his command new safeguards against injury or death in the latest creations of the automotive engineer and designer.

A preview today of the machines which the manufacturers will put on display for the late 1936 and 1937 market indicated a decided trend toward additional safety features. New York's automobile show, where new models will be unveiled, opens in ten days or so. Automobile shoppers will be confronted by new exterior and interior beauty, smoother motors, reduced gasoline consumption and salesmen with those self-starting fountain pens.

Trailers are more luxurious than ever. To running water and electric stoves have been added, for nomad America, automatic dish washers, softer beds and first, second and third mortgages.

BETTER JOBS FOR
CCC YOUTHS POSTED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, today announced creation of technical supervisory positions on the staffs of civilian conservation camps open only to CCC enrollees. Fechner said the jobs, which pay $85 a month, would give the CCC youths an opportunity for promotion. The positions will be under civil service.
