INDUSTRY-LABOR MEETING CALLED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP)—In at least three sectors of the capital, plans and studies were in progress today, looking toward federal regulation of industrial activities or labor conditions or both.

Stabilization Program to Be Aim of Conference at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP)—In at least three sectors of the capital, plans and studies were in progress today, looking toward federal regulation of industrial activities or labor conditions or both.

President Roosevelt's coordinator for industrial cooperation, Major George L. Berry, explained that a conference of business and labor leaders which he has called for Dec. 10 would draw up suggestions for "industrial legislation looking toward long time stabilization of recovery."

"Creation of employment opportunity, and improvement of competitive and labor conditions in industry" will be other aims of the parley, Berry announced. The objectives of the conference, as described, were similar to the aims of the old NRA, but there was no announcement as to just what new methods may be urged to attain those aims.

Former Critics Welcome

Last year Berry called an industrial-labor conference, but some business leaders were cold to it and when it took place it was almost disrupted by an angry dispute centering around an unsuccessful attempt by some business representatives to obtain the floor. Berry said today, however, his critics will nevertheless "be welcomed in friendly spirit."

Apparently referring to the recent election results, he said:

"Industry, and the government as well, must yield to and reflect the people's will."

Legislation Proposed

On Capitol Hill, Senator O'Mahoney (D. Wyo.) disclosed he was preparing a new bill to regulate interstate corporations through a federal licensing system. Corporations doing business over state lines would have to obtain licenses, which could be revoked if the corporations employed child labor, discriminated against women in wage scales or interfered with union activities.

Revised legislation to give the government increased power to stabilize the soft coal industry is another prospective problem awaiting the next congress.

Living Costs Factor

Commenting on the proposal of some steel companies to fluctuate wages with the cost of living as determined by the labor department index, President Roosevelt said today the cost of living was a factor to be considered only when applied to a minimum wage. It should not be considered as a factor, he added, if it is to curb the improvement of wages.

Discussing the question at a press conference, the president said living costs should not be the controlling factor in fixing wages in places where the cost of living is very low.

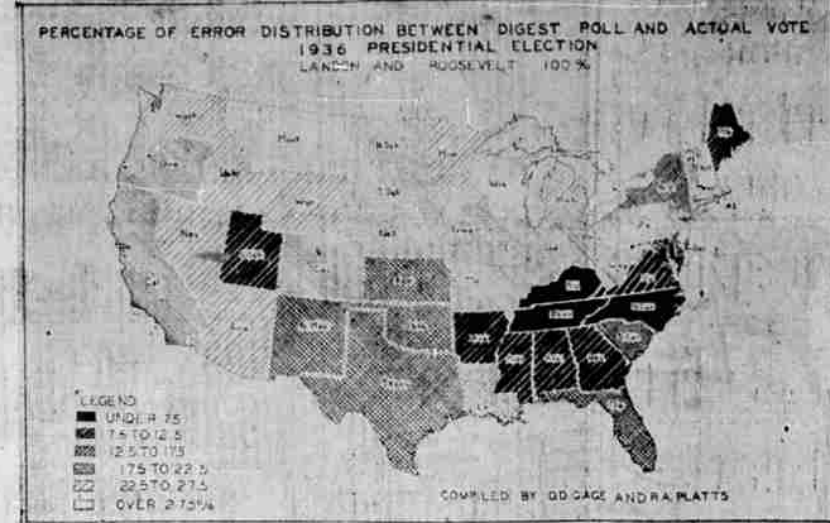

He added that buying power also entered into the picture. The cost of living basis for wage determination has been brought to the front by the announcement of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company and other large concerns that wages are to be increased but will fluctuate within certain limits as the cost of living goes up or down. The cost of living is to be determined by the bureau of labor statistics.

Agreement Opposed

Two Carnegie-Illinois employee representatives are in Washington seeking from Secretary Perkins a ruling on whether employee representatives have a right to sign a binding agreement with the company incorporating such a wage plan.

The company offered a ten per cent wage increase but asked employee representatives to sign an agreement permitting adjustments according to living costs. The range was limited to five per cent. The employee representatives here

Errors Shown in Digest Poll

THE above chart, prepared by Dr. Dan D. Gage, associate professor of business administration at the University of Oregon, and his students in statistics, show graphically the percentage of error of the presidential poll conducted by the Literary Digest. The poll failed to take into account many groups and classes of voters, did not get a representative list of citizens on its mailing lists, and erred in other ways, the statisticians pointed out.

POET'S CORNER

The following poem was published in the October number of The National Humane Review, Albany, New York.

TRAPPED

Ah woe, woe!
There is blood on the snow;
Some forbearing creature
Finds death hard and slow.

Oh weep, weep,
As his eyes glaze in sleep;
How the cruel trap grips
And the teeth bite deep.

Ah vain, vain!
Please, my lady, restrain
Your passion for peltry;
Consider the slain.

For each little wild thing
Loves life as a duty;
Then why should they suffer
To embellish beauty?

HUNDREDS ATTEND MISSION SESSIONS

Prominent Clergymen of Oregon Are Speakers at Roseburg Churches.

More than 700 people Thursday attended meetings conducted here under the auspices of the National Preaching Mission, which sponsored a one-day session in Roseburg.

A public service was held at 2:30 p. m. yesterday at the Methodist Church, South, with a 1:30 o'clock o'clock meeting for young people in the same building. A well-attended mass meeting was held at 7:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church. The speakers also appeared yesterday noon before an open meeting of the Roseburg Rotary club.

The speaking party included Dr. Sidney Hall of Salem, who acted as chairman, the Right Reverend Benjamin Dagwell, Episcopal bishop for Oregon; Dr. Levi Pennington, president of Pacific college; Rev. Orville Whitman and Rev. Mr. McFaden, prominent Portland pastors.

Addressing a large audience last night, Bishop Dagwell tersely outlined the aims of the National Preaching Mission for cooperation among religious groups on the basis: "In essentials unity, in non-essentials liberty and in all things charity."

He outlined in a stirring message the individual responsibility in spiritual affairs, and the need for Christian group action in every day life.

Dr. Pennington stressed the need for spiritual influence in social life. He pointed out the fact that many men and women of fine character are not active in religious work, but have the rich heritage of Christian training and example from God-loving parents. It is essential, he declared, that this same training be given the coming generations in order to maintain social life on a high plane.

The Roseburg Men's Glee club contributed a musical selection to last night's meeting.

TYPES OF THIEVES, THEME OF SERMON

A large audience greeted the cowboy evangelist, Leonard Eilers, at the First Baptist church in Roseburg in spite of the other large gathering last evening in connection with the preaching mission. The evangelist spoke on "Thieves on the Range." He told how the cattlemen banded together and hired a man to hunt cattle and horse thieves, paying $1,000 for each thief dead or alive.

"They did that for cattle. How much are we willing to do to save men?" he asked. "The thieves on the range of life, the thieves that rob young people and old of the real values of life are the public dance hall, liquor, gambling, etc. But," said the evangelist, "these are not the only thieves. There are the thieves of indifference, cold-heartedness, lack of prayer, etc., that make Christians powerless, and rob them of spiritual values."

He made an earnest appeal for complete surrender to Christ. Tonight Mr. Eilers will use the

SURPLUS TAX CHANGE FAVORED BY GLASS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—(AP) Senator Carter Glass (D. Va.), said today he thought "there ought to be some changes" in the federal tax on undistributed corporate surpluses.

He added he had not yet considered introducing such amendments himself, and that he could not predict the probability of their enactment.

Glass conferred with members of the senate appropriations committee, of which he is chairman, but declined to comment on the committee's probable action during the coming session.
