Daily Devotions

DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

In unimaginative prose we hardly know how to explain about Moses' face shining when he came down from the mountain having talked with God. But we do know that there is something in real fellowship with God that affects not only the face and the features, but the whole spirit and quality of the man who enjoys it. Prayer is not idle and empty introspection, as some would seem to think. It is one of the mightiest forces in the whole world and does more to change things, to bring joy and hope and strength and courage into the souls of men than any other exercise the Christ-man may engage in. We would at all times get through our prayers what Thou dost intend that we should—grace and strength and courage and wisdom for all our duties, Amen.

Go to Game—J. B. Toles and Bob Franks were to Portland today to attend the O. S. C. Nebraska football game.
