

LAW ENFORCEMENT CHANGES ADVISED

Atty. General Cummings Offers Congress Batch of Recommendations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings recommended to congress today legislation intended to make federal law enforcement easier.

At the same time, he said in his annual report for the year ended last June 30, there had been a "gratifying decrease" in kidnappings and that "some of the country's most notorious criminals" had been caught.

He urged extension of the federal registration of machine guns and other heavy arms to include pistols and revolvers, to "place a potent weapon against crime in the hands of law enforcement officers."

Other proposals by the attorney general aimed chiefly, he said, at speeding judicial procedure, were:

Permit a defendant to waive indictment and be prosecuted "by information."

Require notice of an alibi defense before trial.

Permit comment on the failure of a defendant to testify.

Abolish appeals in habeas corpus proceedings which arise from removal of a defendant from the district in which he was arrested to that in which he was indicted.

Permit depositions—questions and answers taken down outside of court for use in evidence—in criminal cases, "subject to safeguarding the defendant's rights to be confronted with the witnesses against him."

Declare one spouse a competent witness against the other in criminal cases.

More Convicts

Despite the reported general decrease in the crime rate, Sanford Bates, director of the bureau of prisons, reported an increase of 3,000 prisoners during the year.

"We have not been able to provide the new institutions necessary to provide for this increase," Bates said.

The report of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, spoke of "notorious" criminals who had been captured and mentioned as outstanding achievements of 1936 inauguration of the national police academy and establishment of the national stolen property file.

Fingerprint records, Hoover said, led to identification of 5,731 fugitives in 1936 as compared with 4,403 in 1935. The number of foreign countries agreeing to exchange criminal data with the United States, he said, was increased to 75.

During 1936, Hoover added, 31 kidnapers were convicted on evidence gathered by federal agents. Among these were such notorious figures as Alvin Karpis, Harry Campbell, William Daband, alias Mahan and Thomas H. Robinson, Jr.

SERIES WILL OPEN ON KRNR TONIGHT

American Family Robinson, "the finest dramatic series yet presented by KRNR," according to the station management, will make its premiere appearance on the Roseburg station at 7:30 this evening.

The story is filled with human interest, and at the same time with a tender love theme which is varied and enriched by the droll humor of Windy Bill Winkle, played by Joe Latham of "Show Boat" fame. American Family Robinson is rated as one of the five most popular radio features in America, according to J. B. Toles, KRNR manager.

ROSENBLUM GETS NOD OVER LEVINSKY

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Talk of a Joe Louis-Maxie Rosenbloom bout here next month was revived today after the ex-light heavyweight champion's easy 10-round decision over awkward King Levinsky.

At the Olympic auditorium last night, the veteran Rosenbloom banged his way to a referee's verdict over the one-time terror of Chicago fish markets.

Los Angeles fight promoters have been dickerling for several weeks with the idea of matching

Rosenbloom with Detroit's Joe Louis. The idea was near the blooming point today.

Last night's encounter, billed as a match for the Jewish heavyweight championship of the world—which drew a guffaw from Levinsky—was filled with laughs for the crowd, grief for the kingfish and a surprise for Rosenbloom. The latter was accomplished in the fourth round when the alapsie-Maxie one suddenly scored a 2-count knockdown.

Rosenbloom fought his usual slapping, flicking fight, and Levinsky was likewise unable to invoke damage with his lunging bay-making swings. Along about the sixth heat the crowd became impatient for action. Levinsky supplied it in the tenth but it was too late. Rosenbloom's lead by that time was overwhelming.
