Sit Down Policy.

THE sit-down strike as an instrument or weapon in labor negotiations...

Quite apart from the justice of demands made by strikers...

It is the most important question in the complicated problem of employer-employee relations...

That such a policy should be recognized seems inconceivable...

Now is the time to clear the air as to general public policy on this subject.

In view of the big prize being planned by the spring opening committee...

The Oregon legislature can render its greatest service to the state by adjourning.

Welcome "B" leaguers. The city is yours and may every team win.

HISTORICAL FIGURES

1789: CONGRESS DECIDED AT FIRST TO FIX THE NUMBER OF JUSTICES AT SIX.

1801: CONGRESS PLANNED ON A CHANGE TO FIVE BUT THE SIX REMAINED VERY MUCH ALIVE.

1807: SIX HIGH JUDGES, SUPREME AS HEAVEN—AND JEFFERSON ADDED NUMBER SEVEN.

1837: SEVEN HIGH JUDGES, ALL IN A LINE—TWO MORE ADDED, AND THAT MADE NINE.

1863: NINE HIGH JUDGES WERE SITTING WHEN LINCOLN MADE THEM AN EVEN TEN.

1866: TEN HIGH JUDGES, VERY SEPARATE; WHEN CONGRESS GOT THROUGH THERE WERE ONLY EIGHT.

1869: EIGHT HIGH JUDGES WHO WOULDN'T RESIGN; GRANT BROUGHT THE FIGURE BACK TO NINE.

1937: WOULD A JUSTICE FEEL LIKE A PACKED SARDINE IF THE NUMBER WAS RAISED TO—SAY—FIFTEEN?

The Going and the Coming

When Jim departed on his way, to make a name, he said, His town folks jeered and, laughing, said Jim was out his head.

So things moved on in Plainville, with scarcely much to mention. And deaths and births and marriages got most of the attention.

Of Jim no word, until one day the mayor was heard to claim Jim landed in the legislature somewhere up in Maine.

The years rolled by, as Plainville grew, and one day it was known. That "Townsmen Jim," now senator, would soon be coming home.

The band was out to meet the train, plans for receptions made. Rotarians fought with Lions, which should lead the grand parade.

They broadcast it "Home Coming Day," for their distinguished son. And linked his name with Lincoln's, 'ere the glorious day was done.

'Tis hard to draw a cross-cut of the reaping and the sowing. Success has always weather-vaned which way the wind was blowing.

—Elbert Hermann.

3-WAY DEBATE TIE CREATES PROBLEM

GRANTS PASS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Deadlocked by a three-way tie, debaters and coaches of Grants Pass, Medford and Ashland high schools waited today for a solution of the problem as to which school will represent the southern Oregon district in the coming inter-district schedule.

In each of the six debates held the past three days, negative teams of each school won by two to one votes of judges, giving the teams of each school a total of six points.

Yesterday Ashland and Grants Pass negative teams won on the question of federal ownership of public utilities.

J. F. Swigart, Grants Pass high school principal and chairman of the southern Oregon debate conference, said he will write to A. P. Collier of Portland, state director of high school debates, for suggestions.

General Goering guarded carefully on his trip to Poland. At that, there must be a fortune in those medals.

Joe Louis seems to have lived up to his title, "Brown Bomber," in bombing Nattie Brown.

Mickey Cochrane of Detroit told Security and Exchange commission probers that he knew nothing about stocks. He's a Tiger, not a bull or bear.

Those auto union leaders, under surveillance by Pinkerton men, evidently passed up a pretty good theme song—"Me and My Shadow."

The three St. Louis wives who shot their husbands are going to be sorry when carpet-beating time comes around.

TOWNSEND CLUBS' DOINGS IN DOUGLAS

SUTHERLIN—The Townsend club held its regular meeting Wednesday evening at the Old Fellows hall. The following officers were elected for the coming term: Martin Lloyd, president; E. H. Reithwell, vice-president; Mrs. Minnie Hartshorn, secretary; Percy Morrison, treasurer. After the business meeting the following program was given: Song, Oakland Townsend club; reading, Donald Roth, of Oakland; instrumental duet, Mr. Hand and son; tap dance, Patty Jordan; reading, Marie McCroskey, of Oakland; tap dance, Wilma Anderson and Pauline Trozelle; vocal duet, Hazel Todd and Hazel McCroskey of Oakland; skit, "Wash Days" by Mr. and Mrs. John Merritt, Martin Lloyd and Rev. Young gave the account of the convention held at Eugene. Clyde Shaw of Roseburg explained the new finance plan and also gave a fine report on the proceedings of the Eugene convention. After the meeting the ladies of the club served pie and coffee to a large crowd. Almost seven dollars was realized.

Guns used by the early Revolutionary soldiers were so inaccurate and short in range that in 1776 Benjamin Franklin advocated the army be armed with bows and arrows instead.
