PORTLAND, April 16.--(AP)-Deam Mary Yost of Stanford uni-versity, a principal speaker at the Oregon Congress of Parents and Teachers, urged a thorouga stuay of the work accomplished by deams in assisting high school girls. "Deams of grifs must have plen-ty of time for their job," she said. "If they try to hurry a say gir who comes to them for advice, they may do much barrn. My main rea-son in being here to address you is to say that every parent teac.er unit ought to have a committee to study the work of the deams in the communities. Deams need the backing of the parents and teach-ers and they need the support of the community." The convention will close to might.

Special Needs Seen Miss Louise Basford of Medford reported that 1,031 physically han-dicapped children were reported by the school boards of the state, in green of whom were receiv-ing instruction either at home or in special classes. The survey indi-cated an increasing awareness of the need for special instruction, sche said. Dr. Elam Andorson, president of Linfield college said a restoration of respect for authority in the home was meeded to root but law-lessness in the community. A mechanical civilization has failed to provide a satisfactory substitute for the old-fashiomed home, he said, and addod, "the home is the community. Neither can rise very far above the level of the other."
