—A leader of the senate opposition to the Roosevelt court bill said to day the measure would pass if the president would accept two, instead of a potential six, additional supreme court justices.

It was the first time any of the leading opponents of the hotly contested measure had agreed it could be enacted with a provision for any increase in the size of the supreme court.

Opposition leaders heretofore have insisted they had a solid block of 43 votes against the bill—and that no measure could pass the senate with that many fighting opponents.
