Umpqua Feeds Have the Advantage Because of QUALITY

The most important thing to remember in turkey raising is that you are in the manufacturing business, so to speak. You are transforming raw material, "feed," into a finished product, "turkey meat." The better quality the raw material, the greater amount of the finished product. Keep the machines in good order and running to full capacity by using

HANSEN MOTOR COMPANY'S SERVICE TO PUBLIC GIVEN BY ALL-DEPARTMENT EXPERTS

Experienced Men Handle All Mechanical,
Sales and Accounting Work, Keeping
Business on Efficiency Basis
And in High Public Favor.

The Hansen Motor company, formerly called "Hansen Chevrolet Company" was organized in 1925 on a small scale, with five employees, by Hans T. Hansen who is still manager and owner. During the years since organization, it has increased in size and the number of employees to about thirty-five, assigned to several departments. Each department is headed by an expert, with years of experience in his particular work.

Earl Wiley, assistant manager, in charge of credits and bookkeeping, has been with the firm for seven years. Mr. Wiley is well known from his friendly smile and helpfulness. If the case isn't entirely hopeless, Earl will fix you up.

Tom Hendricks, service manager, has eight years to his credit with the Hansen Motor company. This is a man size job, to be on his feet ten hours a day trying to meet every one with a smile and always being on the alert to see to it that both customers and the boss are getting a square deal. He also knows the trick of keeping the mechanics busy and satisfied, as several men in his department have been there for more than ten years.

Harry Keasey, head of the body and paint shop, started working for the Hansen Chevrolet company in the fall of 1925.

In the super service station and lubrication department, we have "Swede" Miller, who has done an excellent job for several years.

The parts and accessory department is a small but much-needed part of the business. The responsibility of keeping a complete stock of genuine Chevrolet parts is left to one, Al DeQuire, who takes his job very seriously and gets out of bed in the middle of the night to get you a part for a Chevrolet, should you want it.

There is one important department that generally doesn't get much publicity, but is a valuable asset to the firm, and that is the tire department. W. H. Carter, usually called "Doc," is entirely in charge of this department. Doc knows his customers' tire problems, and a great number of Douglas county motorists are depending on Doc Carter for their tire needs.

Of course, in any automobile agency, there is a "bottle-neck." If it clogs up, it is just too bad. This is the movement of used cars, getting them reconditioned and ready to sell, priced right and sold. This job has been left to Royal Davis, a chap with broad shoulders and a stickler for details, seeing to it that the used cars are right before they are sold, because part of his job is to settle complaints after sales. It may interest the News-Review readers that Davis and his men sold over one hundred used cars in the month of May.

The only department we haven't mentioned is the new car department. This end of the business, together with trucks, trailers and other equipment, is left to the boss to pass his time away with. Of course, he has three old timers—Dick Baker, Harold Scofield, Hank Simmons and one beginner, Lee Miller, in his department.

Mr. Hansen has always tried to stabilize the automobile business such as doing away with price cutting and horse-trading and other disagreeable tactics.

ORAL HEALTH DEPT.
CREATED IN OREGON

PORTLAND, June 15.—(AP)—The state board of health announced today creation of a division of oral health, and the appointment of Floyd H. De Camp as director.

De Camp, who will arrive from Michigan this week, will spend most of his time traveling, the principal work of the new department being organization, education and demonstration. Arthur W. Chance, Portland, vice-president of the board, said.

A brief course in oral hygiene is planned for teachers' training schools, to be worked out in cooperation with the state department of education.

MAD HEAD HUNTER OF LUZON CAPTURED

MANILA, June 14.—(AP)—A fearless, conatubulary sergeant who sought to avenge his sister's killing by a mad head hunter, was credited today with capturing the slayer of 13 persons after a fierce duel outside a mountain cave. Dispatches from Abing, in the wilds of northern Luzon, told him Sergeant Pio Pilli ended the terror reign of Kabingao. Boli last Thursday by trapping him in the cave, dodging the tribesman's arrows and finally bludgeoning him into submission with a rifle butt.

Boli was jailed at Kabingao awaiting removal to the provincial capital at Tuguegarao, where authorities said he would be tried for killing 13 of the 21 persons he vowed to slaughter when he went berserk with his terrifying head axe three weeks ago.

HARRY PINEO HEADS
OREGON 20-30 CLUBS

BEND, Ore., June 15.—(AP)—Twenty-Three clubs of the Oregon district ended their convention here with the election of Harry Pineo, Medford, as district governing.

Delegates named to attend a nationwide meeting in Reno early in September included Tony Manno, Klamath Falls; Pat Emmons, Salem; Lee Baker, Toledo; Gordon Justice, Marshfield, and Tom Boyd, Tule Lake, Calif.

The next district convention, the date for which was not set, will be held at Lincoln beach.

Established in 1883, The Douglas National Bank is the oldest Oregon bank south of Salem. It is one of the five oldest banks in the state and on April first will have completed fifty-four years of successful service in the development of the Umpqua Valley.
