BURGLARY CHARGED TO WPA STRIKERS

NEW YORK, July 1 — (AP) — Thirty-seven WPA strikers, including several women, were arrested on charges of burglary today as police put a new twist on the wholesale WPA jailings of the past two days.

All were charged with burglary, possession of burglars' tools, and malicious mischief.

Police charged the demonstrators forced their way into the offices of the recreational unit of the WPA, but William Portney, executive secretary of the city projects council, said the door was open and that the strikers merely entered to await arrival of Robert Weisenhauer, administrator of the project.

Last night 93 sit-down demonstrators protesting against 11,800 WPA economy dismissals, were arrested at the adult education project offices, and charged with disorderly conduct.

Earlier in the day 128 others were arrested on similar charges at another adult education project office.

BOY FATALLY HURT BY FALLING HORSE

BAKER, Ore., July 1.—(AP)—Norval R. Duncan, 1937 graduate of Baker high school, was fatally injured Wednesday afternoon, apparently by a falling horse, in the Medical Springs section.

The youth left his home on horseback to go to a neighboring farm for a bull. After his horse returned home with the reins over its neck, Norval's father, Guy Duncan, went in search of him.

No one saw the accident, but circumstances indicated the youth was injured when the horse fell with him. The bull Norval had gone after was standing nearby when the young man was found, but there were no tracks of the bull at the point where the accident occurred. The youth died in a local hospital last night.

"Japanese fishermen sail across the Pacific and catch them in such wholesale quantities that the industry is threatened with destruction," he said.

"That the whale, salmon, seal and kindred industries of the Pacific are American interests has been the position of leaders in this country, and the acquisition of the Aleution, Philippine and Barren islands of the Pacific as naval bases has been America's means of protecting such interests," the educator added.
