

U. S. ENVOY'S TALK IRRITATES NAZIS

Bingham's References to Despots and Dictators Draw Criticism.

BERLIN, July 6.—(AP)—The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung tonight criticized a London independence day speech by United States Ambassador Robert W. Bingham as "agitative" criticism of "other European peoples."

Ambassador Bingham, addressing the American society in London Monday, said "despots have forced American and Britain to undertake rearmament and, having undertaken it, we must necessarily win the rearmament race. He also said: "If dictatorships are better to prepare for war, democracies are better to finish wars."

He expressed hope that "war-mongers" would realize what they were leading to "before another catastrophe occurs."

The controlled German newspaper, reflecting noticeable Nazi irritation, asked:

"Should an American ambassador accredited in a European capital make agitative speeches against other European peoples? Bingham, in London, incited the so-called democracies against the so-called dictatorships in almost unbelievable fashion."

Germany "Forced" to Arm

"This diplomat, who has a peaceful mission to fulfill, announced America's reawakening interest in Europe by an appeal for competitive armament."

"Any American diplomat ought to know that Germany was forced to follow others in rearmament after the others failed to carry out specific treaty provisions calling for disarmament."

"In the course of previous disarmament negotiations, former American diplomats commendably exerted themselves in favor of general disarmament—but unfortunately had to see their efforts wrecked by the opposition of highly armed nations."

"This diplomat (Bingham) had such a peculiar conception of his official mission and a mentality so foreign to us that it would be a waste of breath to argue with him."

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—The state department said today it had no knowledge of Ambassador Bingham's independence day speech in London beyond that carried in press reports, and refused to comment on the criticism of the address voiced by a Berlin newspaper.

NORTHWEST RAINS BOOST WHEAT CROP

By ARTHUR E. BURGESS (Associated Press Staff Writer)

Wheat crop prospects jumped today as farmers prepared for the great golden harvest in the far west's "bread basket."

Reports from grain dealers and farmers in Washington, Oregon and Idaho placed an average estimate of 77,000,000 bushels of the 1937 crop, about equal to last year's bumper harvest.

The forecasts were almost a complete reversal of those made a month ago.

Heavy rainfall during the past two weeks accounted for the current good outlook.

All crop experts reported production would be "substantial," some even foresaw a better crop than last year.

The average winter wheat crop was estimated at 29,000,000 bushels, compared with 31,000,000 last year. The spring crop forecast was 48,000,000 bushels, an increase of nearly 2,000,000 over 1936.

The northwest probably will have the lowest wheat carryover in many years—between 10,000,000 and 12,000,000 bushels. About 45,000,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped this year, dealers said.

One grain dealer said the northwest would be hit by a ship shortage and predicted a rate boost because of the mad scramble for European powers for scrap iron, now selling at the high price of around $25 a ton.

HIGHWAYS' TIMBER LINE TO BE KEPT

SPRINGFIELD, Ore., July 6.—Aggressive action for preservation of timber bordering highway of the state taken recently by the Springfield chamber of commerce was warmly commended in a letter received recently from C. J. Buck, regional forester for the U. S. forest service.

"Action such as that taken by your chamber will undoubtedly lead to sufficient public recognition of the importance of placing roadside timber in public ownership and to a workable plan whereby this objective may be carried out," Mr. Buck wrote W. K. Barnell, chamber president.

Exchange of government timber for roadside borders, as advocated by the Springfield chamber, is a commendable move, but it will not be sufficient to meet the situation, it was pointed out by Mr. Buck. In a large part the acquisition must be met from purchase appropriations in which the state should materially participate, he said.

The forest service estimates that there are approximately 350 miles of main traveled roads in the state bordered with merchantable timber in private ownership. The cost of acquisition of a strip 660 feet wide on each side has been set at between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000.

"It is questionable whether the federal government could be induced to do up this amount of money without material participation in the project by the state," Mr. Buck writes. Other complications are also outlined in the letter.

The forest service is now cooper-

BILL TO PROP FARM PRICES SCHEDULED

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—Chairman Jones (D., Tex.) of the house agriculture committee announced today he would introduce legislation designed to stabilize agricultural prices.

"I am in thorough accord," he said in a statement, "with the desire for general legislation to improve the farm program."

Jones' announcement followed disclosure by Senators Pope (D., Idaho) and McGill (D., Kas.) that they would introduce a revision of the projected agricultural adjustment act of 1937. They declared the alterations would make the bill "thoroughly democratic."

Describing the existing soil conservation and domestic allotment act as legislation that was "working well," Jones outlined the following basis for new legislation:

1. Simplification of the present program.
2. Larger local control over existing and new legislation.
3. Selection of local farmer committees by farmers themselves.
4. The program should apply to all farm production rather than to a few basic commodities.
5. Establishment of the "ever-normal" granary for storage of surpluses in fat years for release in poor crop years.
6. Limitation of the benefits of the programs to farmers who com-

TRAFFIC CODE'S REVISION URGED

Portland Official Would Restore Speed Limit, Tighten Laws.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, July 6.—If Oregon's mounting death and injury toll due to automobile accidents is to be halted, revision of state legislation so that cities may again make their own traffic ordinances is necessary, it was declared recently by Alexander G. Brown, deputy city attorney of Portland, in a radio address over station KOAC at Corvallis.

Mr. Brown also strongly advocated return of a definite speed limit, both on the open road and in cities. The matter of a speed limit within cities should be left to the city itself, he declared.

The so-called "basic rule" was also assailed by Mr. Brown. "Law enforcement officers, the courts and the public are still at loss as to just what the basic rule is all
