A Poor Attack

T EVIDENTLY seemed to Rep resentative Hamilton Fish that the tax-evasion committee was using the investigation as a means of naming and smearing the socalled economic royalists-mostly those opposed to the administra-tion-so he set out to do some mearing on his own book.

But when the representative ets out to blacken the name of Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, having as his only complaint that she did not pay income tax on money paid to charity as a result of her radio broadcasts, he does not have a very good case.

Mra. Roosevelt gave her tin and energy that the money might be faild to the charity of her selection. To suggest that she should, in addition, pay a tax or in other words make an addition al compulsory donation is absurd If, according to Fish, the money should have been deducted from the amount paid to her by the broadcasting company before was turned over to the charity by Mrs. Roosevelt the result obviously be only a loss of rev enue to the charity.

There is the legal technicality of the situation to be considered of course, but it is obvious that Representative Fish is not intercated in that phase. He wants to damage the Roosevelus. As a matter of fact the tax-evanion. tigation is not considering illegal evasion. The tax collecto and the department of justice i already dealing with that. What the committee is considering i the method used by those who exade taxes by means that are now legal. The beneficial results of the investigation, it is assumed. will be the plugging of these h gal loophules, For the purpose of the investiga tion, if it is an honest one, the president and his family are citizens like the rest of us and then fax returns should be examined But if the investigation is design ed mostly to strikely reputations. Fish and the other violent parti sans should select some better point of attack than Mrs. Room volt's efforts on behalf of charity
