'Isms' and Antagonisms

THE growing hostility between Italy and Russia, brought to a head by Italian adherence to the anti-Communist pact, draws attention once more to the threat to world peace which arises from the international character of Fascism and Communism.

Italy's response to Russian objections to the pact is that Italy is not an enemy of Russia, but simply of Communism—which, as far as that goes, is probably true enough.

It is perfectly possible, of course, to be bitterly opposed to Fascism or Communism and not opposed to Russia as Italy at all—but it is woefully hard.

STEINER PREDICTS NEW DEAL DISCARD

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Senator Frederick Steiner (R., Ore.), returned to the capital today and predicted "most of the new deal soon will be thrown overboard."

Democrats Themselves to Junk Most of Policies, Senator Declares.

"The republicans won't do it," he said in an interview. "It will be the democrats themselves." "The new deal of restriction, regulation and control of business will have to be given up if business is to survive."

Steiner, who recently announced he would not seek reelection, said so far as he could determine President Roosevelt "is as popular as ever with the people who voted for him," but added his position was "highly anomalous."

Daily Devotions

By DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS God's great love is not only a fact, it is the greatest and the one all-controlling fact in all the universe. Paul's thought is that it crowns in ahead of everything else, factors and falls; it lives the one fully-occurring fact in the universe. No matter what happens we cannot be separated from it and what it does for man and is to him it will keep on doing and being forever.

CHARGE OF MURDER TRAILS ODD CASE

ST. GEORGE, Utah, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A first degree murder charge was filed today against youthful Charles Bosshardt, whose bizarre account of a slaying nearly three years past and his subsequent marriage to his victim's widow to atone for his crime, startled this southern Utah community.

A like charge was filed against Bosshardt's brother-in-law, George Schaefer, 33, held in Salt Lake City jail and named by County Attorney Orval Hatten as an accomplice.

Mrs. Eva Bosshardt, 22, confronted with the story by Bosshardt and her brother, Schaefer, that her first husband, Spencer Malan, was slain in a ranch fight March 17, 1935, rushed from her ranch home near Enterprise, 25 miles northwest of here, to St. George, city jail and tearfully declared:

"I'll stand by you, Charles, I'll stand by through it all, right to the end." Paul Seegmiller, St. George city marshal who witnessed the reunion between the two, said the woman told him she "knew nothing of it until yesterday."

Earlier, at the ranch home, Mrs. Bosshardt nervously stroked the hair of her 11-year-old son—Malan's son—and told Sheriff Anton B. Prince she had always believed her first husband had deserted her.

Spencer had threatened several times to leave, and when he disappeared that St. Patrick's night, she thought he had made good his threat, she said.

"After a year passed I got a divorce on grounds of desertion, and some time later Charles and I went to Nevada, and were married. Neither my husband nor my brother ever gave a sign they knew what had happened to Spencer."

Bosshardt, 25, and Schaefer said they threw the body into an old well. Deputies climbing into the 110-foot deep hole discovered a caveln had buried the bottom in 25 feet of dirt and estimated it may take several days to remove the debris.

Man Who Slew His Wife's First Husband Accused With Her Brother.

Both prisoners insisted Mrs. Bosshardt was ignorant of the killing. Schaefer, who said his other sister, Lillian, is married to Bosshardt's father, J. C. Bosshardt, asserted at Salt Lake City "none of the family asked much about where Spencer had gone."

LIONS CLUB PLANS DANCE, NEW SIGNS

Ted Burr, Cy Pierce and Bud Ellison were appointed as a committee to arrange details of a dance to be given by the Lions club at the Country club house during the first week in December, the appointment being made at the regular meeting of the Lions at Carl's Tavern, Wednesday night.

The club also voted to erect new signs at a suitable location near the city limits along the route of the new highway.

Frank Long was announced as a new member of the club. Miss Dora Baker entertained with a novelty tap dance.

A special meeting of the directors was held following the club meeting, and Glen Owen and George Coe were named to the committee on major activities.

It was announced that special entertainment in the form of a surprise has been planned for the next regular meeting.

ADOLPH SPRECKLES' WIFE GETS DIVORCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Geraldine Spreckles won an uncontested divorce decree from Adolph B. Spreckles Jr., here today.

Mrs. Spreckles appeared before Superior Judge Steiger and was awarded a decree on her charge of cruelty.

The slender sugar heiress, a second cousin of her divorced husband, said she lost 45 pounds because of the cruelty of Adolph.

Mrs. Spreckles said her husband spoke to her disrespectfully and profanely in the presence of guests.

"Once he tried to force his way into my room," said the screen aspirant before.

The couple married in London in July, 1936, and separated March 29 of this year.

Mrs. Spreckles said she would return to Hollywood, where she has screen aspirations, later this week.

WYMER TO MOVE TO OREGON CITY W. C. Wymer, former trades instructor in the Roseburg high school, was a visitor in Roseburg yesterday and reports he is transferring soon from Salem to Oregon City. This will be the first school of its kind in Oregon.

It is designed, Mr. Wymer reports, to meet needs for vocational training generally followed in the local community. At Oregon City students will be permitted to elect courses in fishing, lumbering, iron pipe construction, tailoring, road construction, etc.

NEW MACHINES WILL SUPPLY FUEL HERE Installation of a machine for cutting hog fuel to supply local sawdust burners was started today by the Roseburg Lumber company. The equipment, having a capacity of approximately 50 units of fuel daily, will assure an ample supply of high grade fuel, the mill company reports.

The machine reduces waste wood into dust and small particles, utilizing both the bark and outer wood, containing high heat qualities not present in sawdust now used locally for fuel purposes. Installation of the equipment will require about a week or ten days, it is expected.

NEWSY EPISODES FILL LIFE OF DOG SEATTLE, Nov. 17.—(AP)—King, a lively two-year-old English setter owned by Harold H. Mitchell, makes news without biting a man, or getting bitten by one.

The 14-year-old mistress, Lillian, had 11 stitches in her arm today. The dog pushed her through a door glass yesterday, cutting an artery in her arm.

A flashlight bulb exploded when a photographer took a picture and the dog, a retriever setter, searched the house 15 minutes apparently thinking a gun had killed a bird, Mitchell said.

Recently he buried alive his mistress' new baby kitten in a vacant lot. The kitten was rescued.

TWO CHANGES IN WPA POLICY STATED ASTORIA, Nov. 17.—(AP)—E. J. Griffith, state WPA administrator, speaking before the Rotary club, announced two major changes today in the WPA program.

The first withholds the privilege of denying other agencies the release of WPA labor upon demand if the labor loss is not justified by the administrator or means a loss to sponsors of WPA projects.

The second provides the right to supply a project short of labor with additional labor diverted from another project if it is advisable.
