

"PROFITEERING" MONOPOLIES HIT

Speech of Asst. Atty. Gen. Jackson Held Prelude to Anti-Trust War.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Criticism of monopolistic "profiteering" by Robert H. Jackson, assistant attorney general, received widespread interpretation today as a prelude to a broad administrative anti-trust campaign.

Most observers expect President Roosevelt to recommend specific legislation to strengthen the present anti-trust statutes. Some even have predicted a congressional investigation of alleged monopolies.

Jackson, who has discussed the monopoly issue with the president on several occasions, said last night in a radio address:

"It is the monopolists, and those so near monopoly as to control their prices, who by their profiteering have simply priced themselves out of the market, and priced themselves into a slump.

"When the business goes into a slump, the workmen go home without jobs. When the farmer, the grower, the banker, the dealer and all the rest have lost their customers. When the customer is lost, the merchant cannot fill his order for goods.

"And when the circulation reaches back to his business, where it started, the big business man clamors that government should give him confidence."

Some industrial leaders, Jackson declared, "have argued that the only way to ensure a reasonably steady flow of business for the nation as a whole is for government to act as an impartial arbiter of our industrial progress, ready at all times to cut a deal to monopolistic practices which threaten to throw our whole economy out of order."

Answers to Point: Jackson, he noted, referred to labor trouble as one of the most important difficulties of private enterprise.

"Does private enterprise," Jackson then asked, "stop to consider how much of our labor troubles are with us simply because too much of private enterprise took an attitude of obstruction, evasion and avoidance toward the labor laws of 20 years ago and the labor laws of three years ago?"

Senators O'Mahoney (D, Wyo.) and Borah (R, Idaho) have proposed their bill for federal corporation charters as a means of restricting monopoly.

"I think the debate of the wagon and horse legislation points directly to the principle of federal incorporation as a substitute," said O'Mahoney.

His bill would require all corporations operating in interstate commerce to procure licenses from the federal trade commission. The licenses would stipulate the conditions under which corporations could do business.

LIFE TERMS GIVEN SIX KIDNAPERS

PORTO RICO, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Six men were sentenced to life imprisonment today for the sensational kidnaping and slaying of wealthy Abel Azcarra in 1932.

Five other members of a band convicted for the crime were given prison terms ranging from 10 to 20 years. Three were women.

The Azcarra case stirred all of Argentina. Member of a prominent and wealthy family, his abduction started a nation-wide manhunt.

A large ransom was paid, but the kidnappers disappeared with the money and Dr. Azcarra never was returned. His body was found later buried in a field.

WINSTON, Ore., Dec. 27.—(AP)—Weston W. Fletcher, 28, for whom several thousand persons in the United States and Canada offered blood transfusions in a fight against a streptococcus infection, died today in Grace hospital.

The equipment, that the donor have type four blood, and have recovered from streptococcus infection, evaluated all but a handful of the volunteers. It was announced Fletcher was given transfusions.

In this instance, the Cuban congress, with the approval of the president, passed a general amnesty for all political prisoners, as well as pardoned Machado and his co-defendants in the government.

If Joseph P. Kennedy, chairman of the Maritime Commission, were to take his family to London after he is appointed U. S. Ambassador to Great Britain, as authoritative reports have indicated, America would have quite a diplomatic delegation at the Court of St. James. He is pictured, above, with Mrs. Kennedy, seated at right, in their Washington home. By their father's chair are Patricia, 13; James, 11; and Rosemary, 9. Seated at left are Rosemary, 19; Joseph, Jr., 22; Robert, 12, leans on the mantel; Kathleen, 17, seated; and Edward, 6.

Grand Coulee—Man's Most Monumental Effort!

Man's greatest construction effort, the Grand Coulee project on the Columbia River moved a step nearer to fulfillment in Spokane, Wash., when bids for the construction of the "chick dam" were opened and the contract awarded. Sketched to scale on the most recent photograph of the site, this photo-drawing gives some idea of how the mighty project will appear when completed. Work on the great high dam will begin in the spring and when completed will back the Columbia River up 151 miles to the Canadian border.

GOLD HOARDING INDICTEE PASSES

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Prosecutor Herbert Campbell said the third season of the United States' hunt for gold hoarders ended in a disappointing way today. Campbell's office in the last 12 months of Campbell's tenure was unable to locate a single gold hoarder. Campbell said he was confident that the gold hoarders were still out there, but he was unable to find them.

BETS FAVOR BEARS TO BEAT ALABAMA

By ROBERT MYERS PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Alabama football team went to Hollywood today, California went back to work and Rosebush mathematicians went back trying to figure out a winner of the New Year's day game on the basis of season statistics.

Two and two make four and that makes California the answer, according to the 3 to 1 betting odds. California finished the season with a record of being a "second quarter team. The Bears ran up 162 of their total 201 points in that period over a ten-game schedule.

The Tide played nine games, rolled up 255 points—and scored 99 of them in the second quarter. California was never called upon to put on the pressure in the final stages of a game except once. That was the Washington contest, and the Bears were too busy keeping the Huskies of their goal to score themselves, and it ended 9-9.

Alabama found luck and victory in the closing minutes of its last three games, against Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech and Tulane. But the punch also was there.

The second quarter was Alabama's victory period. In this time last year the Bears lost. That was the year Dixie Howell passed and ran, passed and ran, and Alabama ran up 22 points in 15 minutes—more than had been scored all year against Stanford.

will all be ironed out before long. It's a merry battle among the members of the squad for one of the starting positions—no one knows who will be picked until the night of the game—not even Coach Watts.

I wouldn't think of letting out a secret, but you should see the new warm-ups the Indians wear. They're simply divine. It is the latest thing out in sports wear (fashion notes) and there is nothing like them in these parts. Watts is going to wear them for his first game, January 7th. However, it will be the following week before the home folks can see their eyes upon them. It will be well worth the price of admission just to see how fine the boys can look on the floor. Let the date show in your little red book January 14th, against 27th Point—there will be a large crowd out that night.

Cottage Grove and Oakridge played a wild game at the timber city last week. At the close of the fourth period the score stood 22-11. After the five-minute intermission, the two teams played a three-minute overtime period, and at the end the score stood in favor of Oakridge, 26 to 25. Referee Orlo Bagley, in the heat of the excitement, ruled that a team to win must be ahead by two points, in direct conflict with the rules. After the second overtime period was finished, the score stood 27 to 27, and by mutual consent agreed to end the game a tie. However, after further consideration of the unusual situation, ruled that Oakridge should have been declared the winner at the expiration of the first overtime period, 26 to 25. They are still talking about this one in Lane county.

Under rule 9, section 3 of the 1927-28 rule book it states: "If the score is tied at the end of the first overtime period a intermission in the second overtime period started. The team which first scores two points in this period shall be declared the winner and the game shall end as soon as this occurs. If neither team scores two points in the second overtime, the game is declared a tie unless the teams mutually agree to further extend the playing time."

EUGENE, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Thirty per cent of the University of Oregon's students are entirely self-supporting, while less than one-seventh depend entirely upon their parents or finances, a survey by the registrar's office revealed. Practically all of the $46,000 borrowed from the emergency loan fund last term was repaid by students from their own earnings.

SCHOOL FOR BRIDES NEW NAZI PROGRAM

BERLIN, Dec. 28.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The Nazi women's organization is to have a "school for brides" in the belief proper spiritual preparation for matrimony is the backbone of happiness in life-long marriage.

The Japanese idea of carefully instructing girls to become perfect spouses will find practical application when the first bride school opens in January with the consent of Nazi authorities.

Schools for mothers will continue to be separate from those for the bride-to-be, however, since they need other instruction to handle "handouts" out of other girls.

Authorities defined purpose of the brides school that: "In circles of 20 students, the young girls should attend courses at the institute, preferably two months before their wedding day, to recuperate spiritually and physically, to forget the daily worries connected with their previous professions, to find the way and to feel the joy for their new lives as wives."

Moulding the factory and office worker into a housewife is the school's main aim. The government expects results to be such that it will grant a graduate an additional $40 for her marriage subsidy, usually $400.

Facing the six weeks course prospective brides will live together in a model three-room household at the school, and practice household arts.

Nothing definite has been said as to how the spiritual preparation is to be arranged, but it is apparent each bride-to-be will get plenty of attention training. The motivating factor is a firm belief in the German version of the old proverb about the stomach being the quickest way to a man's heart.

Basketball Dribbles By M. W. E. (Illustration of a basketball player)

The common talk among the youth here that Coach "Red" Turner really "has" something down at the Junior high this season—something that hasn't been seen here for a considerable time, and that it could place a starting lineup on the floor which would measure better than six feet per man and all are capable ball players. It looks as if the Paposes are going places this year. If the report is true, Coach Turner's boys would "tower" over most of the cages. Watts has out at Senior high. It looks as if basketball is on its way up again in Roseburg.

The district "casual" semi-league in district in two weeks. A week from this coming Friday, January 7th, the Indians will journey to Coos Bay to take on North Bend for their first league start. Coach Adams of the Bulldogs has built a formidable five around two veterans, Sussick and Ziegler. The remnants of last year's district championship team. This season should be a success for the Indians, according to Jim Watts, are far from the smooth working quiet he hopes them to be later in the season. It takes time for a new coach to get his "stuf" over, but the squad is willing and learning fast.

Those who ventured forth the other night to see the Indians play the annual in the first hour of the season saw a team with plenty of possibilities. Coach naturally rough and rugged in their first hard contest. It is apparent that Watts has about three full teams of almost equal ability. All during early season practice sessions, Jim has been mixing up veterans and rookies with proven material. In an effort to find a smooth working quintet—it still hasn't been found, which fact accounts for the lack of teamwork at times in the game the other night. This
