

GIRL MINUS EYE SUES BUS DRIVER

MEDFORD, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Maxine Harding, 16, Prospect district school girl, through her guardian today filed suit in circuit court against H. G. Gries, Prospect district school bus driver for $25,000 alleged damages, as the result of an accident a year ago, in which plaintiff lost the sight of her right eye.

The complaint alleges that "due to the rough and violent play of large boys of high school age," she was prevented from entering the bus by the regular entrance, and further alleged Gries failed to exercise control or supervision over the youths.

The plaintiff was lifted through a rear door by other pupils, after which she tripped and hit a hard object causing her eye to be struck and fragments of glass entered the eyeball, the complaint says.

made to interfere with Tacoma operations, although longshoremen in Tacoma still belong to the International Longshoremen's association, AFL affiliate, The I. L. W. U. of C. P.

There was talk here of reviving the I. L. A. in Seattle, now a skeleton organization with most of its former membership in the I. L. W. U. Meenan scoffed at this possibility, saying "the only place they can get longshoremen is from us, and our men won't join it."

Employers said they had made no contract with the AFL union.

Ray Calkins, Tacoma, coast secretary of the I. L. A., issued a statement yesterday saying the present trouble involved a CIO union and not the AFL-affiliated I. L. A.

The dispute which halted port activity started over unloading of cargo of hides from the small Canadian steamer Border Prince, a three-hour job for a six-man crew. Longshoremen contended a November 19 decision of the joint labor relations committee awarded them the right to handle cargo destined for transshipment to another vessel. Employers asserted the Border Prince's cargo should be stowed directly from her holds to the second vessel's hold without landing it on the pier.

The longshoremen formally asked for reopening of the port before the deadlocked conference last night, and charged the employers breached the agreement of Feb. 1, 1937 (which ended the 1936-37 midwinter stop) by refusal to arbitrate and by the alleged "technical" which took effect at noon yesterday.

McNARY TO FIGHT CCC FORCE SLASH

MEDFORD, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Senator Charles L. McNary, from Washington, D. C., strode the Jackson county chamber of commerce today to support the organization's protest against proposed 25 per cent reduction in the CCC personnel.

SOUTHERN SOLONS FIGHT LYNCH BAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Southern senators, banded together for a prolonged fight against the anti-lynching bill, gave immediate evidence of delay tactics today as senate debate on the bill got under way.

They were hopeful that the bill, which gave up under a senate agreement made during the special session, would be shelved to make way for President Roosevelt's legislative program.

During the first half hour of senate consideration, the entire bill was read and a quorum call demanded by Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), although there had been one 15 minutes earlier.

Before the debate started, Senator Connally (D., Tex.), leader of the opposition, issued a statement asserting the bill was an attempt to "deliberately" mislead the public.

After reading of the bill, Senator Lewis (D., Ill.), offered an amendment to strike out the provision excluding gangster or labor violence from the definition of lynching.

Senator Dierich (D., Ill.), said that the section exempting violence in gangster and labor disputes had been written into the bill in an effort to protect counties from unwarranted damage suits by the relatives of gangster victims.

BULL MAKES OWNER DO RODEO STUNT

GOLD BEACH, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Ed Ransom, a Brookings rancher, unwittingly qualified as a stunt rider at his ranch, on Harris creek.

Ransom mounted his cow pony and took after a dehorned bull, he wanted some other place than where it was. The bull had other ideas. He wanted the horse and rider in a different place from where they were, and he had his way, temporarily.

The bull butted the horse, knocking it down, and castrated the rancher astride the bull. The bull started bucking and gave Ransom an interesting ride for a spell until he was bucked off over the bull's shoulder and fell, striking his own shoulder with little damage.

Having disposed of this adversary, the bull detoured his attention to the horse, which easily outran its pursuer while Ransom limped to the safety of a fence.

TINY BABY BORN ON STREET CAR DIES

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Geraldine Worth, 18-year-old expectant mother who started to the City hospital by street car today arrived there five minutes after her new-born child had reached the hospital.

A baby boy was born on the street car, but the passengers were so occupied ministering to the mother they failed to notice the child. Mrs. Worth was taken from the car by a policeman who called an ambulance.

The street car proceeded on its way. A few blocks farther, a woman passenger discovered the child, lying on the floor. The car was stopped and an ambulance was summoned. It brought the baby to the hospital before the mother arrived there.

The baby weighed only 23 ounces and, although it was placed in an incubator immediately, died at the hospital this afternoon.

MINISTER DEMANDS CRASH DAMAGES

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Damages of $25,000 from the Midwest Studios, Inc., of Portland, Ore., for injuries alleged to have been suffered in an automobile accident last July, are sought by the Rev. Arthur J. McLaugh, of Springfield, Mo., in a suit on file here today.

He alleged a car, involved was driven by a crew manager for the Midwest firm.

McLaugh's brother-in-law, the Rev. B. R. Vanderlippe, of Omaha, was killed in the accident near St. Edward, Neb.

the individual stockholders from payment of high surtaxes on dividends.

Corporations which will not fall in this category, he said, are those with net incomes of less than $50,000 corporations that distribute 80 per cent or more of their net income in dividends, and corporations that are not closely held.

Standards Listed

He gave this statutory standard for determining whether a firm is closely held.

If one person, including his immediate family, owns more than 50 per cent of the stock by value, the firm is closely held.

If two individuals own 53 per cent, three persons 56 per cent, four persons 59 per cent, five 62 per cent, six 65 per cent, seven 68 per cent, eight 71 per cent, nine 74 per cent and ten 75 per cent, the firm is closely held.

men, money and munitions was Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, scion of the full power over military and civil life of China under a government reorganized on a war basis.

Under Chiang, Dr. H. H. Kung—Chiang's brother-in-law and China's generalissimo of finance—was placed in charge of economic affairs and industries last summer. Dr. Kung toured European capitals soliciting credit and munitions.

General Ho Ying-Chin, minister of war, veteran of the 1911 and 1913 revolutions and graduate of the Japanese military college, was named chief of the general staff.

Officials insisted the government had enough money and arms for a long war.

Miss Chiang Kai-Shek's air force (which persistent reports have said was being strengthened with Soviet planes and pilots) was active again.

In Shanghai, the Japanese embassy spokesman said the embassy had received reports of Hankow incidents, which followed Japanese occupation. He advised a group of Japanese soldiers, one of whom was said to have slapped a French bishop, had been punished.

Soviet Aids China

(North China reports were that the veteran red strategist Chu Teh had been named commander of all north-west forces, including bands of hard-riding Mohammedan raiders. There were unconfirmed reports at Peiping that Soviet Russia was returning to China under Comintern auspices which for 15 years had been Soviet-supported and trained.

Military observers asserted China must place increasing reliance on general staffs against thirty-battalion Japanese communication lines rather than on costly positional defense.

(The observers also expressed the belief that Soviet Russia was supplying China only enough war materials to continue guerrilla tactics.)

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Exception to the published statement of Admiral Suetonio that Japan believes in the "liberation" of the world's colored races from the shackles of white supremacy was voiced here in an interview by Ichiro Hatoyama, leader of the conservative seiyukai party of Japan.

"I don't know why Admiral Suetonio should say such a thing," said Hatoyama, en route to his home after a visit in London. "It is not the way the Japanese people feel at all."

been so classified by administrative officials.

There were forecasts that the president would select a western man. The court now is overlaid with easterners, and Mr. Roosevelt's only previous nomination, Justice Black—was from the south.

McKeenolds, 75, and Butler, 71, will be the only remaining justices who are generally classified as "conservative." Chief Justice Hughes, 75, and Justice Roberts, 62, sometimes vote with those two and sometimes with the so-called "liberal" group.

The House Judiciary committee suggested to President Roosevelt today he choose Representative Samuels (D., Tex.), chairman of the committee, to succeed Justice Sutherland.
