GERMANY'S PLACE IN THE SUN, AND WITHOUT EXCEPTION THE NAZI-INSPIRED GERMAN PRESS GAVE ITS ENDORSEMENT.

Newspapers termed the sweeping measures "a super concentration of all power of the nation in the hands of the Führer—a unification of its military, political and economic strength." Benito Mussolini today acclaimed Reichsführer Adolf Hitler's control of Germany's war machine as "destined to reinforce the friendship between our two armed forces and the relations between our regimes." It is said Hitler a telegram of congratulation, expressing "my satisfaction that the Italian people are for your excellency's assumption of effective command of all armed forces of the Reich."

BRITAIN SEES PERIL TO EUROPE IN HITLER'S COUP

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Britain's key cabinet ministers considered the rapidly changing European situation today caused by Germany's drastic government shake-up and the new outbreak of Mediterranean piracy. The German developments were believed to have been of chief concern as Europe watched apprehensively to see where the unification of the German army and diplomatic corps would lead Germany abroad.

JAPAN SEES NO REASON TO ADHERE TO LONDON TREATY

TOKYO, Feb. 5. (AP)—A high Japanese naval official declared today there was no reason why Japan should adhere to the 1936 London naval treaty limiting battleships to 35,000 tons. The spokesman made the statement in connection with American, British and French notes asking that Japan accept the limitations of the treaty which she previously declined to sign.

PEACE OBSTACLE SEEN

Observers feared Hitler's sweeping changes had raised obstacles against Britain and French efforts to reach a general understanding with Germany on European policies. Britain and France, pouring their warships into the Mediterranean to combat molestation of merchant shipping, particularly were alert for any signs that Hitler, with Premier Mussolini of Italy, might be planning increased Spanish intervention to help insurgent Generalissimo Franco, whose war machine appeared bogged down after a year and a half of fighting.

AUSTRIA DISTURBED

Most disturbed of any nation by the German unification of Nazi powers, perhaps, was Austria—sandwiched between the fascist allies, Germany and Italy. Austrian officialdom indicated its fear that departure of Franz von Papen as German ambassador might lead to an increase of illegal Nazi activities in Austria. Von Papen was regarded as a moderating influence. Diplomatic quarters in London, speculating on the possibility of a Nazi push into Austria, forecast that an ardent Nazi now would be sent to Vienna to carry forward nazification efforts there.

NEW 'KAISER' SON

Both French and British newspapers voiced their concern over the German changes, the London News Chronicle observing that "Nazis win—this round," and the Daily Express bannered "Kaiser Hitler." The Liberal News Chronicle said editorially that Hitler was "imitating the Kaiser," and the liberal Manchester Guardian saw Hitler's position increasingly similar to that of Italy's fascist Mussolini.
