R. H. S. DEBATERS BACK FROM MEET

Ten members of Roseburg senior high school's debate squad and their coach, Miss Amanda Anderson, returned Saturday after successful competition in the annual Linfield college invitational debate tournament at McMinnville.

The ninth round of debate was reached by two teams composed of Madalyn Henninger, Wayne Howe, Ruth Knigge and Bob Belows. This was much better than last year when one team attained the seventh round.

Other debaters were Carlin Wilder, Addis Lockwood, Jane Clarke, Bob Slater, Shirley McLaughlin and Jack Craig.

Chaperons were Mrs. Clyde Henninger, Mrs. A. A. Wilder and Mrs. Roy Belows.

Practice debates with Ashland, Medford and Grants Pass high schools are scheduled soon.

One affirmative team and one negative team will also enter the district tournament March 5 at Eugene, at which time Eugene, Springfield, Cottage Grove, Sutherlin and Roseburg schools will compete for the district championship, which was won by Roseburg last year.

ELDERLY MEN ASK FOR FARM WORK

The Douglas county relief committee is endeavoring to find farm work for a number of single men, 65 years or older. It was announced today. The committee reports that it would appreciate hearing from farmers who can conveniently furnish an opportunity for elderly single men to do farm chores in exchange for room and board and fair pay in return for the amount of labor given.

"We are anxious to see these men placed in healthful surroundings and urge cooperation of farmers who have such a place to give," said County Judge George K. Quine, chairman of the relief committee.

Farmers willing to assist are asked to phone 316 or write to the relief committee at the courthouse.
