American Legion Auxiliary Activities

Quite the talk of the town socially this week was Uniqua unit's library benefit tea on Valentine afternoon in the civic room of the Uniqua hotel. Decorations, service and program were appropriate and beautiful to the last detail. Huge baskets of laurestinus and pussywillows lent a touch of early springtime to the atmosphere, while standards of the colors gave the proper patriotic air for a February event. The tea table was covered with a lovely lace cloth with an attractive red cloth centerpiece of pioneer design on which was placed a replica of an early Oregon log cabin, made of native woods by George Caskey, and nearby a miniature covered wagon. Pouring from lovely old silver urns were Mrs. A. J. Young, Mrs. Glenn Wimberly, Mrs. Earle B. Stewart and Mrs. Charles Roberts, all attired in attractive early day costumes. At a separate table was a huge decorated, birthday cake with seventy-nine candles, which were lighted by the unit president, Mrs. Walter Fisher, in honor of Oregon's birthday, which was celebrated on this occasion. Mrs. Fisher also very graciously welcomed the guests, and presented Mrs. George Caskey, chairman of the program committee, who presided over a very much enjoyed program. The various numbers were dedicated to Oregon's pioneers, and Mrs. Caskey very cleverly connected the numbers with a continuity of interesting historical events. The guest artists included the Roseburg Woman's Choral club ensemble; Mrs. M. R. Richards, dramatic reader; Mrs. Clyde Beard, piano soloist; Mrs. Homer Goss, whistling soloist, and Jack Jossie, accordion soloist. Proceeds from the tea will be used to purchase books for the auxiliary's shelf at the city library. Tuesday night's meeting it was decided that the committee for selection of these books should include the unit's community service chairman, one member of the library board, and one member from the civics or history department of the high school. After a very interesting and largely attended business session last Tuesday evening the auxiliary was entertained by the Legion with a fine program and refreshments. Commander Adam Flurry introduced Cecil Black, who was master of ceremonies and who announced the numbers broadcast over station M.U.T. in his own inimitable manner. The reception was perfect, entirely without stifle. Fan mail in huge quantities should now be reaching the following performers: Frank Roadman and his excellent swing orchestra; "Red" H. H. Bird, trumpeter; the Korn and trio, Bob Briscoe, Andy Korn and Leroy Turnbull; Leon Gonion of Harry Angeles, guitar soloist, accompanied by Mr. Carpenter, the Cripple Creek cowboy; Lyman Butner with a clever calendar game, and concluding, Mr. Black himself, vocal soloist. In Memoriam Uniqua unit No. 45, American Legion auxiliary, is deeply grieved at the loss of Mrs. Charles Dunham, a highly esteemed and beloved member of many years' standing, and wishes to express sincere sympathy to the bereaved relatives.

SESSION OF CIRCUIT COURT OPENS HERE

Circuit court convened today in the regular February term, with a collection suit as the first action to be heard.

A new grand jury was drawn as court opened this morning and was immediately convened to investigate the case of Leslie Dan Morgan, accused of rape. An indictment returned by the grand jury excused last week, was set aside by the court, because of failure to include the names of the witnesses examined, forcing recommitment of the case. Witnesses were being examined this morning. Members of the jury are R. L. McLaughlin, foreman, Frank Grubbe, J. P. Brumfiach, George M. Wilcox, V. C. Dunnavin, J. Marvin Wainford and Joe DeBernard.

The action of the Douglas creditors' association against A. R. Andrews was the first on the docket, being a suit to collect money claimed to be due. The examination of jurors was continued until early afternoon. It was hoped to complete the taking of testimony today, in time for adjournment over Tuesday, a legal holiday.

The case is being heard by Circuit Judge G. F. Skipworth, who was called when Judge Wimberly voluntarily disqualified himself because one of the parties to the action is a relative. Court will recess tonight until Wednesday morning.

In Town from Drain — I. W. Haines of Drain spent a few hours in town Saturday on business.
