Scattered Signs of Recovery Appear On Business Horizon; Buying Increases, Auto Trade Jam Easing, Building Plans Spread

By PAUL D. GESSNER

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Scattered signs of sprouting recovery were seen on the business horizon today by Wall Street trend-gaugers.

While no sudden overnight return to the high levels of activity prevailing last spring was indicated, indications of moderate improvement were noted on many fronts in a mid-quarter checkup.

These included:

1. Growing demand for raw materials.
2. Reports of better wholesale buying.
3. Some increase in orders for steel.
4. Signs of a break in the automobile trade jam.
5. Widening plans for residential and industrial building construction.

More Jobs Promised? Added up, business analysts assert, they portend eventually brisker business throughout the nation and more jobs for the unemployed.

If the trend continues uninterrupted, these analysts say, some time in the near future it can be expected to reflect itself in an improvement in such important indices as industrial production, now around the low for 1937-38; commodity prices, now only slightly above the low for that period; payrolls, now considerably lower than at this time last year, and bank deposits, now 20 per cent under a year ago.

Hidden prime raw material in the manufacture of shoes also have been moving faster, and trading in future contracts at New York last week on two consecutive days was the biggest in the history of the commodity exchange.

Big Stores Buying

And linked to the greater demand for raw materials that go into finished products are reports that certain large mail-order houses and big retail stores in the mid-west are replenishing supplies at wholesale. Price reductions have aided here.

chairman of the hostess committee and is being assisted by Mrs. Donn Radabaugh, Mrs. Wallace Robertson, Mrs. Frank Staffanson, Mrs. Jack McCallister and Mrs. J. M. Adams.

Preceding the meeting the executive 12 o'clock luncheon session of the executive board, clubhouse board and board of directors will be held at the Hotel Rose.

American Legion Auxiliary Activities

By MRS. CLAUDE BAKER

The Memorial drive to the veterans facility was completed to and across the tracks Sunday. Over 60 trees were planted. These are all to be Norway maple and about twelve feet high.

This portion which was planted Sunday is in honor and memory of all World War veterans. The portion continuing on toward the facility indefinitely, is to be dedicated to veterans of all wars and trees may be planted by anyone in memory of loved veterans.

This driveway begins at the N. S. highway junction with the drive to the facility and Country club. It is sponsored and supported by the American Legion auxiliary, women through its community service committee.

The project was virtually begun last summer when Mr. and Mrs. M. Judd traveled the eastern highways and noted the beautiful memorial drives there. Emily Judd was so enthused that she imparted her enthusiasm to Mrs. Walter Fisher, our able president, who in turn imparted it to the rest of us. Part of our self-appointed tasks as auxiliary members is to do some community good each year. This became our biggest project though we feel proud of our additional record of a park achieved, in embryo at least—part of our money is saved for playground equipment for the lots south of the to be new Rose school. We have voted to buy books for the throughout the retail scene last spring and summer, are reported diminishing goods having been cleared in good volume through January and early February promotional sales.

A year ago at this time most retail stores in the clothing field had already bought as far ahead as fall. However, due to the business recession, hand-to-mouth buying policies have been the rule this winter. Many establishments have yet to place orders for complete spring and Easter lines.

Spending Lags Little Heartening retail merchants, trade circles say, is the fact that despite reduced payrolls in many industries, consumer purchasing power has held up well throughout the recession. Retail sales at leading centers last week averaged only 3 to 6 per cent under last year when business was expanded, Dunn & Bradstreet reported.

Making up for lag in spending in highly-industrialized areas has been strong agricultural spending, enhanced by a 1937 cash farm income that was the highest since 1930.

While industrial payrolls are sagging, reports indicate the slack created by last year's industrial overproduction and forward over-selling is being taken up gradually in many lines.

Little Cities Get Factories A final harbinger of improvement is noted in a movement already underway by some industrial corporations to decentralize their plants, and for small factory owners to move from big cities and relocate in small cities. The advantages, industrial managers say, include cheaper living costs for workers and lower taxes.

In the mid-west, relocated factories are reported beginning to pop up here and there in small towns. New building, both of industrial plants for the relocated industries, and of homes for workers, is following in the wake. The possibilities for new construction activity through the industrial decentralizing trend are held to be vast.

public library with funds from our library tea. In addition we care for needy ones continually.

The community service committee with Mrs. Ned Dixon, Mrs. Charles Ferrier, Mrs. W. McKay and several other busy women have spent time and effort and gas, unstintingly on this project. To them our grateful thanks are due.

The Hugh Cooper home just off the main highway was a merry scene at noon when the auxiliary fed approximately 100 persons. The Coopers opened their home to us in a most cordially fashion. During the afternoon several men found it necessary to shorten the boxings for the trees and this was done at the Coopers. Remarks heard that when in need of a new home they'd know where to turn for carpenters for among these men were carpenters who made each move count.

A large marker will be erected in the near future at the highway entrance denoting the purpose of this drive.

All work Sunday was donated. Mr. Moyer worked all day with the veterans, some of whom like Walter Fisher and Irvin Riegel worked from 9 until sundown. Judge Quine was out with a shovelful and had his picture taken. To Roy Knotts for driving his truck all day we are very grateful. Mr. Gerretsen furnished powder for blasting and all equipment used was donated for the day.

A small copper plaque with a chain was decided on as a marker for individuals planted trees. Orders for these are to be placed with Mr. Knudsen also. They will be approximately one dollar and fifty cents with engraved letters additional.

A note of sadness tinged the otherwise happy day when Comrade Charles Ferrier fell under the wheels of the dirt truck. We extend our love and sympathy to both Mr. and Mrs. Ferrier and hope for a speedy recovery.

SUITABLE SPOT FOR SKIING IS SOUGHT

Interested in locating a suitable spot for development of skiing near Roseburg, Roy Hufham, Gilbert Sprague, George Churchhill, Elwood Smith and E. A. Britton made a trip yesterday to Red Butte reached by way of the Little River and Watson cabin roads.

Unable to drive to the snow line, because the forest road up Red Butte is impassible in winter months, the party was forced to hike several miles.

They report finding good skiing about two miles below Watson's cabin, and at the cabin site found an area which, if cleared of brush and trees, would make an ideal ski bowl.

Here, they report, it would be possible to establish ski runs, toboggan slides and practice grounds for beginners.

From this area the more experienced ski enthusiasts could go on up to Red Butte summit, 5,200 feet, and enjoy plenty of thrills on the way down. Trips also could be made to Quartz mountain, several miles away. Along the high trail there are small openings which would provide for all the desires of skiers from beginners to experts.

It is the hope of those who made the trip to secure some good ski motion pictures and show them in Roseburg in the near future. At that time an organization of all persons interested in skiing would be formed with the idea of making a request of the proper authorities to widen and surface the road to the Watson cabin site, where there is usually snow from December until late spring.

FARM CAR BUYING TOPS CLOTHES BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—(AP)—The family car received a larger annual allotment than the family clothes budget in an agriculture department study of 948 Washington and Oregon farm families' spending habits.

The survey was made in Polk and Marion counties, Ore., and Whitman county, Wash.

"The average amount spent for family use of the automobile ranged from $38 per family per year in the lowest income class to $280 in the highest," the department said. "The amount spent for the family wardrobe ranged from $32 per family per year in the lowest income class to $128 in the highest."

The families depended almost exclusively on the family "hack" for transportation, the department said.

Averages from the low and high brackets in other items included: home-grown food, $163 and $370; purchased food, $121 and $310; doctor and dentist, $22 and $144; barber and beauty shops, $8 and $35; recreation, $6 and $72; tobacco, $6 and $26; reading matter, $6 and $16; education, $1 and $28; gifts, $6 and $105; other items, $2 and $9.

More Dogs Than People in Nebraska County

ALMA, Neb.—(AP)—There are more dogs than people in Harlan county, Nebraska, if 1937 tax assessment figures are accurate.

The tax valuations show 10,250 dogs in a county which has a population of only 8,969. With approximately 2,000 families in the county, that makes an average of five dogs a family.

Coyotes Spreading Into Eastern States Despite Ceaseless War; Heavy Toll Taken Annually of Deer and Sheep by Varmints

PORTLAND, Feb. 28.—(AP)—Literally fighting to keep the wolf from the door, an old art in the west, need not bring merry pens of laughter from the east nor the south.

For the wolf—no relation to him of the three little pigs—in the person of timber wolves and coyotes not only infests Oregon and Idaho, but is spreading rapidly into the east.

The Mississippi valley is full of coyotes, the biological survey said. They loiter impudently at the outskirts of New York and raid Atlantic seaboard states. They have swept through the plains states into Canada, all places where they previously were unknown.

Not only that, but coyotes are adaptable. They'd as soon dine off your back porch as hunt their fare in native hills, said A. W. Moore, assistant research assistant in the biological survey.

Timber wolves are not so bold. However, once nearly extinct, they have sufficient numbers to cause heavy losses to stockmen. One lobo, killed in Oregon, accounted for 85 cattle.

Governments trappers take an annual average of nearly 6,000 coyotes in Oregon, yet they are merely "holding their own," said Roy Fugate, district agent in charge of predatory animal and rodent control. He refused to estimate the total coyote population.

Take Heavy Toll of Deer Predators in national forests kill nearly double the number of deer taken by hunters, the Oregon planning commission estimated. Upland game birds and waterfowl suffer losses estimated at from 20 to 50 per cent during the nesting period and while caring for their young. Lambs, young calves and poultry have been easy prey.
