seats, the smallest number in recent years. The democrats have 327.

Victor Harding, secretary of the democratic congressional campaign committee, said the democratic strategy was to offer a "good offense as the best defense."

"In many districts where democrats won in 1936 by small margins, they have made the best records," said Harding, scoffing at republican claims.

Spellbinders Busy
Both campaign committees—the republican under Representative Martin (R., Mass.) and the democratic under Representative Denny (D., Va.)—have been sending out speakers for weeks. But the real campaigning will begin only after congress adjourns and some of the primaries have been held.

The first primary will be April 12 in Illinois. Eighteen of the 21 democratic representatives and all six of the republicans are asking for renomination.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation of the kindness and sympathy extended by our friends during our recent bereavement, and for the beautiful floral offerings.

CAPTURE OF 113 SEATS G. O. P. AIM

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(AP)—Directors of republican efforts to wrest a sizable bloc of house seats from democrats in the November election said today they were concentrating on 113 congressional districts, principally in northern and eastern states.

Lawrence Sullivan, secretary of the republican congressional campaign committee, said that in 52 of these districts republicans got within 5 per cent of enough votes to win in 1936. In 61 districts, he said, they polled within 10 per cent of the winner's total.

Republicans now have 90 house
