HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE
Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those grueling, nagging, painful backaches people blame on exhaustive strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's relief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, setting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

EYES INDICATE IF CURRENCY IS GOOD

NEW YORK, April 6.—(AP)—The U. S. secret service, relentless foe for counterfeiters, to tell good money from bad, says:

"Look the portraits of your currency squarely in the eye!"

"If the eye is bright and clear, usually the money is genuine," Capt. William H. Houghton said. "But if it's dull and smeary, better watch out."

Houghton, head of the secret-service agents in New York, gave his advice to Manhattan merchants as the service opened its nation-wide educational campaign to make all money handlers "currency conscious."

"Know the points of good money and you won't accept any counterfeit," advised Captain Houghton as 16 other agents listened. They will carry the money gospel into other states if the plan works here.

"It's the depression," Captain Houghton explained before the meeting started. "The bad money business is bad, too. There is less bogus money in circulation than ever before. The chief, Frank J. Wilson, figured that education on those most frequently tricked by fake bills will curb the traffic even more."

NAZI REGISTRATION IN U. S. SCHEDULED

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—German embassy officials said that Germany's new "matriculation" law requiring all German citizens abroad to register at consulates would become effective this month.

No special date for registration was set, but embassy officials said German consuls in this country already were busy accepting the registration forms from Germans and Austrians residing here.

The registration requirement was described as a return to German policy of closely tabulating its citizens in foreign countries. Since the war, officials said, the requirement stipulating Germans must register or lose their citizenship was allowed to lapse.

For this reason embassy officials were unable today to estimate the number of German citizens traveling or temporarily residing in the United States. Rough estimates from New York placed the number in that city alone at between 100,000 and 200,000. An official estimate credits Austria with having about 6,000 citizens in this country.

WILD LIFE LAW'S PROGRAM WIDENED

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—The house has voted to include territories, possessions and the District of Columbia within provisions of the 1937 wildlife restoration act.

It sent to the senate a bill specifically providing for their inclusion in the program for restoration of wildlife species.

Under the act the government was authorized to allot funds to any of the 48 states participating in the program. A special excise tax on sportsmen's equipment raises the money.

COSTLY NAVAL RACE DRAGS IN THE U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—(AP)—Congressional foes of a "big navy" asserted today that invocation by the United States and Great Britain of the "escalator" clause in the London naval treaty would bring almost unlimited world naval building.

"It's just the preliminary announcement of a world wide naval race," declared Senator Clark (D., Mo.), consistent opponent of large naval appropriations.

Britain and the United States advised each other that they would disregard the London treaty's limitation of 35,000 tons on the size of the battleships.

Both based their action on the refusal of Japan to disclose whether she intends construction of larger vessels. The Japanese had been reported building a 42,000-ton battleship.

"If we build these large battleships," Clark said, "we won't be able to get them through the Panama canal. That means that we'll have to spend a billion dollars building a canal through Nicaragua and another billion to make the Panama canal a sea-level route."

When the red deer of England develops 12 points on his antlers, he automatically becomes a "royal stag."

electricity your money's worth

Take this matter of light alone. It's a matter of course to you, but not so long ago, lighting a home used to be a real chore. I can remember how long it took my mother to clean lamp chimneys, fill the lamps and carry them back to the various rooms. And after all that work the things were smelly and didn't give much light. Getting rid of a job like that is worth money, not to mention the difference in the light you get from electricity.

And if you use electricity for doing housework, you couldn't begin to pay what it's really worth at present rates. You'd pay a woman 45 cents an hour to do rug cleaning that a vacuum cleaner does for one cent. With the step-down rate, electricity gets mighty inexpensive if you really use it. We use electricity to the limit in our house, we have every necessary appliance and some just for fun, and our monthly bill isn't any more than we spend at the movies or for just one week-end trip in the family car. We think our electricity is the biggest bargain we get.
