Creations of Art With Needlework

FILET BUTTERFLY CENTERPIECE BY RUTH ORR PATTERN No. 1902

This charming new square centerpiece is one with instant appeal. The interfiles add such a gay touch to the otherwise simple design. It works out to be 25 to 29 inches square, depending on how heavy a cotton you use, and finds square is a design you'll find dozens of uses for.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand, illustrated directions with block and space diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook, what material, and how much you will need; and illustrations of stitches used.

DISTRICT H. E. MEETING TO BE HELD SATURDAY

DRAIN, April 7.—The Drain Home Economics club has the honor of being one of the seven clubs in the state of Oregon to play hostess to other home economics clubs in the surrounding counties at a district meeting. The meeting for this district will be held this year at the Drain high school Saturday, April 9.

These meetings have for the past five years been sponsored by the state department of home economics education with the hope that the students themselves would gain poise and experience by planning and participating in such a program. It is hoped that those attending will get a broader viewpoint on home economics, obtain a better understanding of what home economics can mean to the student, the instructor, and the home maker.

The theme of the conference this year is "Homemaking," and students and instructors are invited to attend regardless of whether or not their school has an organized home economics club.

Other district meetings are being held during the current year at Oregon City, Salem, Clatskanie, Prineville, Tillamook and Baker. The Drain Home Economics club has sent invitations to the following schools in Coos, Douglas and Lane counties: Bandon, Coos River, Coquille, Cottage Grove, Elkton, Grants Pass, Loran, Lowell, Mapleton, Marshfield, Myrtle Creek, Myrtle Point, North Bend, Oakland, Oakridge, Pleasant Hill, Powers, Riddle, Reedsport, Riverton, Roseburg senior high, Smith River, Sutherlin, Thurston, Wilbur, Yoncalla, Arago, Creswell and Merlin.

Committees appointed to plan and prepare for the day's proceedings are: general chairman, Lucia Sawyers; publicity chairman, Roberta Williamson; invitations, Betty Jean Douglas, chairman, Isabelle Cline; table decorations, Virginia Sellers, chairman, Lois Robertson, Roberta Williamson, Lelah McClintock, Virginia Henderson, Harriet Harris, Vera Hooper and Evelyn Sweeney; school decorations, Madeline Dragg, chairman, Ethel Woodley, Doris Craig; registration, Ruth Vealey, chairman, Virginia Reuts, Iva Swearingen, Aileen Adamson, Betty Jean Douglas; banquet program, Mona Stoltenberg, Pearl Keeney, Leta Woolley; morning program, Lucia Sawyers, chairman, Elita Hooper, Betty LaGrandier; social hour, Miriam Wilby, chairman, Eva Ross; reception, Florence Powell, chairman, Rozelle Beach, Audrey Hand, Lita Huebner, Leta Woolley, Miriam Wilby, Eva Ross, Leona Williamson.

The morning and afternoon programs are as follows: 9:00, Registration; 9:30, welcome address, Floyd Light, principal, Drain union high school; group singing; 10:00, address entitled "More Zest for Living," Francis Wiley, Eugene homemaker supervisor; musical reading, Mona Stoltenberg; 11:00, report of the state club program, Mrs. Ruth Forest, assistant state home economics supervisor; violin solo, Ruth Yoder; 11:30, group pictures; 12:00, banquet, civic club rooms; 1:30, state club initiation ceremony, members of Cottage Grove home economics club; 2:15, social hour, high school auditorium.

The program at the banquet will consist of toasts by members from different clubs, a number by the trio from the Drain high school, a reading by Leonid Cooper, a number by an octet from the Drain high school glee club, and group singing.

PARENTS AND TEACHERS HOLD FINE MEETING

CAMAS VALLEY, April 7.—The Parent-Teachers meeting at Tenmile Thursday evening was a very pleasant and profitable affair. A large crowd from Tenmile was present and a very good representation from the valley.

A program by members of the Tenmile 4-H sewing club was presented under the direction of their leader, Mrs. E. H. Albro. A fine exhibit of their finished work was also displayed. E. A. Britton and Prof. Clyde Beard gave very interesting addresses following the program. Later a social hour was enjoyed.
