Daily Devotions

By DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

Join the Baptist in prison still follows the progress of the movement he began. It seems that even he could not understand the trend of Jesus' ministry. He wept, and asks himself, "art thou, He that should come, or look we for another?" Yet even to anxious John Jesus could grant no answers, but the one that had been given all along. What do you say? One of the finest yet important things about life is the way God loves the joy of discovery to ourselves. How often we wish he would speak in a voice of thunder to completely convince our wavering faith. But in ways of perfect wisdom He only says "you see, what do you say?" Our Father who has laid upon us the great responsibility of decision in all the deep matters of life in Thy great mercy save us from missing the life Thou hast to give. Amen.

New Gadgets Ease Life; Another Jars Driver's Nerves

WASHINGTON, April 4—(AP)—Inventors have a lot of thought to comfort last week—turning out a batch of gadgets to promote the more abundant life.

Emil Scharnewski of Petersburg, Germany, patented a manure outfit for birds and dogs. No—it's not designed to be operated by the pets. Owners must do that. A feather-picking machine is the brain child of Chester Foster Fisher of Providence, R. I. You must insert a fully clothed chicken and it comes out nude.

For folks who get tired of crossings and uncracking their legs, Frank A. Haensch invented a leg rest. It affords support at the knee and the calf. The only discordant note was sounded by Louis R. Hartman of Elkton, Md., inventor of a blow-out initiator. It fits onto the tire of a friend or enemy's automobile and waits for the wheel to turn and produce a terrific bang. It doesn't harm the tire, but it ought to ruin the motorist's disposition.

HOOVER GLAD HE'S FAR FROM EUROPE

270 Million Traded Their Liberties for Fancied Security, He Says.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7—(AP)—Fishing pole in hand, former President Herbert Hoover stepped from his home bound train today glad, he said, after touring 14 European nations, that California is more than 7,000 miles from Europe.

"Now if this were Europe, you would have half a million soldiers massed on the Oregon side of the border. There would be more armed regiments on the Nevada border and along the Arizona-California line.

"Why, just think. This state has more automobiles than all the countries of Europe combined, but the greatest thing about it is that it's more than 7,000 miles from Europe."

Asked to summarize the outstanding impression he received from his recent trip as the guest of many foreign nations, in comparison with the Europe he formerly knew, he said:

"The most amazing thing of all was the realization that more than 270,000,000 people who once lived in democracies have for a false feeling of security traded off their liberties. They have swapped unemployment for a lower standard of living—a standard of living not equal to the man on relief in this country."

Asked if he intended taking any part in the ensuing California state political campaign he replied:

"None whatever in the state but I do intend to help elect a larger republican congressional representation."

"Something has to be done about stocking the California streams. We don't seem to be on the right course."

"Oregon knows how. They're getting better and better fishing. Ours is getting worse every year."

In answer to questions Mr. Hoover repeated his criticism of the president's reorganization plan. He again denied it was similar to a measure he advocated as president, declaring he sought "no such power over administrative and civil service offices."

"You can't say it's fascist," he said, "but it is fair to say it's in the attitude of fascism."

There is no condition in Europe, the former president said, which warrants American sacrifices to extend relief, except on behalf of the Jews in the countries which are diving them out.

the death last December 19 of George Chaffee, Silverton mill foreman, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary yesterday. He was paroled to Sheriff Burk.

The death of Chaffee from a fractured skull drew criticism of the Salem police department from a Marion county grand jury recently. The jury asserted Chaffee was believed to be drunk and left in a cell without medical attention.

What I Call Good Coffee!
By Byron Mac Judgen

"USE GOOD COFFEE AND BREW IT WITH CARE," says Good Housekeeping in the April issue. Hills Bros. believe that coffee roasters everywhere will join in endorsing the importance of care in coffee-making that is stressed in this Good Housekeeping feature.

and HILLS BROS. add . . . For sixty years people who use Hills Bros. Coffee have been saying . . .

"NOW, THAT'S WHAT I CALL GOOD COFFEE!"

A post card to Hills Bros., San Francisco, will bring you a copy of "The Art of Coffee-Making"
