Creations of Art With Needlework

AND COLLAR BY RUTH ORR PATTERN NO. 576

To make a small or average size wardrobe do the duty of a huge one, you'll need lots of attractive accessories. This charming set of collar, illustrated directions, with short sleeves, too, is unexpectedly simple to make, as well as flattering to wear. Using a few yards of braid, and sewing it together according to this design, you'll have a bright new addition to several dresses. Incidentally, the pattern can be used over as many times as you like.

The pattern envelope contains cut-out pattern for collar and cuffs; also complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what material and how much you will need. To obtain this pattern, send for No. 576 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address News-Review, Needlework Dept., Roseburg, Oregon.

MRS. SIMPSON GIVES CHARMING TEA WEDNESDAY

GLEIDE, May 20.—Glide high school girls and their mothers enjoyed a tea given at the home of Mrs. Paul Simpson, Wednesday.

The purpose of the tea was to vote on whether the high school girls would wear uniform dress next year.

Thelma Carter and Eileen Chambers, Roseburg high school girls, gave talks on uniform dress.

It was voted that the Glide girls would wear black, navy blue or white skirts and middie blouses.

All the high school girls but the seniors, the eighth graders and their mothers attended.

After the discussion tea was served.

POET'S CORNER

LAMBS
By G. M. Leeper
They come—
Like a patch of white
Across the hill,
Running, racing
As they will.
Down past the trees
To where the hill
Is steep,
Like a white mist
They sweep,
'Tis the lambs
As white as the sun,
So close together
They seem as one.
Then they sweep
At top speed
In a wild dash
The race to lead.
So wild and gay
Their white fleecy
Tails—
Like small ships
With flapping sails.
But 'tis only lambs,
Like a patch of white,
Across the hill
In swift flight.
They do not shout
Like children play,
But really act
Much that way.
They race and run
Like children play,
And seem within
Their hearts as gay.
They come swift, silent,
From across the hill.
If they do not today,
Then tomorrow they will.
If not tomorrow,
The hill will look sad,
Without the white lambs
So gay and so glad.
But I think they will come
With their silent feet—
Or no—perhaps not;
The play was complete.
They go—
Like a patch of white
Across the hill,
Running, racing
As they will.
