HOOVER SEES TREND FROM NEW DEAL

PHILADELPHIA, May 21.—(AP)—The Evening Bulletin says former President Herbert Hoover said today that the outcome of the Pennsylvania primary "has given great encouragement to the whole country—and particularly the republicans." He hailed the result as reflecting "a trend away from the new deal."

Hoover, interviewed in New York on route here for a speech, said the gain in republican votes shown in the Pennsylvania primary presaged "an increase by the republicans of at least 75 seats in the next congress."

While he said he would take no part in Pennsylvania campaign, he asserted election of a republican governor in Pennsylvania would be "a bright sign" for the election of a republican president in 1940. He was also quoted as saying:

"If the country were to see such a demonstration of a change away from the new deal, it would restore confidence and mean jobs for millions of men."

"Nothing is needed so much now as an adequate opposition in congress."

"The question of a revival in business recovery hinges largely on the congressional election."

"I find a trend away from the new deal all over the country."
