BUD BELCHER HONORED AT FAREWELL PARTY

GLENDALE, June 30.—About 75 friends of Bud Belcher honored him with a farewell party at the Azalea grange hall Saturday night. At an early hour wieners and buns were toasted over an open fire outside and coffee was served by the ladies of the grange. Frank Trip, as master of the grange, presented Mr. Belcher with a Gladstone traveling bag, which was in appreciation of his services to his many friends and patrons of the rural route which he has carried for the past twenty-four years. Mr. Belcher accented the gift with a few words of thanks.

Later in the evening, there were several tables of bridge for the older crowd, while the younger ones danced till a late hour.

Mr. Belcher returns from his duties July 1st, and together with Mrs. Belcher, will leave on an extended vacation trip to California.

POET'S CORNER

THE RECKLESS DRIVER
By AL and ELSIE SLAUGHTER
The beauties of life
They are surely missing,
As down ones road they go;
Although they have a normal heart,
Their eyes—they are too slow.

They'll travel from morning until night,
Passing beautiful fields,
Their eyes are glued to the road,
Their hands are on their wheels.

They know not why they hurry
Down the road like streaks,
Or whether the party will be there;
They're rushing now to meet.

The birds and beasts and flowers,
They might have seen on their way,
And if they had taken more time
agoing they might have lived to see another day.

But instead of that, they're sleepy,
And their sleep—it may be slow;
For there'll be no rush to heaven—
If that is where they go.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"The woman who rented this place to us made us promise we'd leave everything where it is."

The Whole Side of This Car Opens

The ultra of something or other appeared at a combined auto and women's fashion show in Paris when this Packard with body by Spoutchik was shown. The girl model demonstrates how you turn a handle and the entire side of the car slides straight out instead of just the door swinging open. The greyhound in the picture is merely decorative—for with this new arrangement you could get a cow in and out of your car, if you liked to ride with cows.

Drawn on Jury Duty—Harry are among the 60 Oregon residents Black of the Douglas Creditors as drawn for federal jury duty at Roseburg, and Harold T. Portland. They will serve during Lewis, civil engineer, Reedsport, the July term of court.

Big Towns Now, But Forts Then

Just tiny forts along the Delaware River were many of the thriving towns of Pennsylvania, Delaware and western New Jersey when hardy Finns and Swedes planted the settlements 300 years ago that will be commemorated in the Delaware Tercentenary 1-3 month. Modern Philadelphia is just north of the Tinkum Island shown on the map; Chester, Pa., stands where Upland and Finland appear, and Wilmington, Del., is on the site of old Fort Christina.

Named Chairman — Dr. E. B. Stewart of Roseburg, past department commander of the American Legion, has been appointed Douglas county chairman of the Oregon "On to Los Angeles" committee. This committee is arranging a caravan of Legionnaires to attend the national convention at Los Angeles in September. Dr. Stewart will be in charge of local arrangements.

Here on Business—Chris McCann, of Camas Valley, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.
