Daily Devotions

By DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

In the second temptation of Jesus in the wilderness. It was a sin of presumption. He was asked to expect His Father to do unwarranted things for Him. The same temptation may come to us in many forms, as when we expect God to do things for us that we ought to do for ourselves, to make our foolish action fail of their natural working out to keep us in the midst of the danger into which we run heedlessly, to make bountiful harvests follow poor and negligently sowing. Jesus was sure that His life, and every good man's life, was a partnership in which God and man work together. We thank Thee, our God, that we know that we are living in a world in which law rules, where men reap what they sow, whether it be good or evil. For the wisdom to live up to that knowledge we most earnestly pray Thee. Help us to work with Thee, that we may live under Thy guiding hand. Amen.

Nearly 200 steady positions were available for the 1259 students who applied for work. Wages for all work, including about 3054 odd jobs, totaled $44,876.

The Portland mothers' club and several Corvallis groups contributed $432 in food and 500 articles of clothing to assist needy students in overcoming financial difficulties.

WPA BOSSES PLAY POLITICS; PUNISHED

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—Harry Hopkins announced today that two WPA straw-bosses in Kentucky have been punished for playing politics.

The work-relief administrator replying to recent charges of political coercion in the Kentucky WPA, said in a statement:

"By the same token, they will not tolerate attempts to smear public officials who are trying honestly to do their duty."

INSURANCE STORY IRKS J. ROOSEVELT

ROCHESTER, Minn., June 30.—(AP)—James Roosevelt's physician today said the president's son was indignant about a Saturday Evening Post article concerning his insurance business.

A statement issued from the office of A. J. Lobb, associate in the section of general administration of the Mayo Clinic, where Roosevelt is undergoing treatment for a stomach ailment, said:

"Mr. Roosevelt has read the article. He naturally is indignant over certain outright misrepresentations. It is impossible to ascertain from the hospital and during the treatment exactly what further steps, if any, can be taken, but he has requested his attorney to consider the matter for future conferences. Until that time there will be no further comment."

The article, written by Alva Johnston, said Roosevelt, who serves as the president's secretary, is making between $250,000 and two million dollars a year selling insurance.

TEACHERS "FLUNK" IN PRONUNCIATION

NEW YORK, June 30.—(AP)—The nation's school children will be glad to know today that their teachers took a pronunciation test at the National Education association's convention here and not one made a passing grade.

Five men and five women faced each other in a pronunciation bee. The men won but didn't boast because all of them flunked, by schoolroom standards. Words like "several," "Canfield," "Sabichodonnor," and "Fortlor" stumped both teams dead with concerted groans.

In a spelling bee, 25 words dazed two teams of five men and five women in 20 minutes flat. "Recalcitrance" correctly and was the last one standing.

TOWNSEND BACKS SENATOR THOMAS

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 30.—(AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, gray-haired proponent of the old-age pension movement, arrived here today to aid Senator Elmer Thomas in his campaign for re-nomination.

In a state-wide radio address tonight, Townsend will urge support for Thomas, who is opposed by the democratic nomination by Governor E. W. Marland and Rep. Gomer Smith. Smith was at one time national Townsend vice-president but broke with Townsend.

Townsend predicted victory for his organization in Oregon, Washington, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New England states in the forthcoming elections, not to mention his own state of California.

WITNESS DOESN'T IMPLICATE ROSSER

Ex-Union Head Not Linked With Salem Arson in Carson's Testimony.

DALLAS, Ore., July 1.—(AP)—Ernest Carson, former Portland AFL teamster, described the burning of the Salem box factory plant as the state opened its case against Al E. Rosser, 44, former AFL teamster head in Oregon, yesterday.

Carson, 23, who pleaded guilty to arson but has not been sentenced, did not connect Rosser with the crime and declared he had "never talked to Rosser about a job of any kind."

Carson was followed to the stand by Albert N. Banks, former teamster business agent in Salem, who was sentenced to 12 years in prison for hiring Carson, John Newlands and Cecil Moor to burn the mill. His testimony concerned business activities of the Salem local, but he will return to the stand today.

Rosser is charged with arson in the conspiracy.

Carson admitted under cross-examination by George F. Vanderveer, Seattle attorney, aiding in the defense, that he had told no one that Rosser was connected with the fire of last November 20. Carson said he, Newlands and Moor went to Salem to get jobs from Banks, who told them to stop on their way back from San Francisco. When they returned, Carson testified, they stopped in Eugene to break windows in non-union barber shops.

Pleas of guilty to five felonies and two misdemeanors have been made by Carson in connection with labor vandalism, he testified. Vanderveer, in his opening statement, charged that Newlands, Carson and Moor had been promised immunity if they would testify for the state and implicate Rosser.

DAMS HELD DEATH KNELL OF SALMON

PORTLAND, June 30.—(AP)—Fred D. Pasley, editorial representative of the New York News, said yesterday many eastern observers felt the construction of dams on Columbia river and its tributaries would result in the destruction of Salmon industry.

In examining river conditions for his newspaper, Pasley said he would attempt to determine what would become of fingerling salmon making their way downstream to the sea.

An ounce of prevention in the case of smallpox is the simple process of vaccination. It is your only protection. Smallpox is being reported from our neighbor, Coos county, where eight new cases were reported during the week ending June 25. Since a county line is no barrier, it behooves our citizens to be protected. Smallpox is very easily contracted and in many cases the source is unknown. It usually takes about twelve days for the disease to develop, when headache, chills, fever and vomiting appear. If these symptoms develop it would be wise to call a doctor immediately. To quote from a pamphlet published by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, "States which regularly enforce vaccination laws have few cases. In New Jersey vaccination is required for school admission in 222 districts, and in others it is secured as a result of public offers of vaccination by boards of health and other agencies. There has been no smallpox in New Jersey for five years." A vaccination scar is your badge of safety.

Several cases of whooping cough have been reported in our own county. This also is a dangerous and extremely contagious disease. A person who has this disease spreads it by means of the cough and discharges from his throat and nose. It can be caught even before the patient begins to whoop. Most cases are among babies and young children from one to five years. Let your doctor decide regarding the use of vaccine.

The first indications of whooping cough usually appear early in the second week after exposure. The first symptoms are those of an ordinary cold—running nose, a rather tight, dry cough, and often a slight fever. Later the cough becomes worse and although the whoop is not always present, it develops from one to two weeks

CLINIC CLICKS FROM DOUGLAS HEALTH OFFICE

The regular monthly clinic will be conducted by the county health officer, Dr. C. R. Sharp, at the health department in the courthouse, Roseburg, Saturday, July 2, from 9 to 11 a. m. At that time toxoid for immunization against diphtheria, Schick test to determine immunity, smallpox vaccination and the tuberculin test will be offered.

CALF SLAUGHTER MEASURE SIGNED

WASHINGTON, June 30.—(AP)—A bill prohibiting the slaughter of young calves without inspection or the shipment of such uninspected meat into consuming centers was signed by President Roosevelt yesterday. The bill will not apply to slaughtering by farmers.

Whooping cough often leaves a child weak and he is then susceptible to pneumonia and even tuberculosis. Sometimes it causes heart strain. Do not let the child play vigorously even though he seems well, until the doctor has pronounced him able to do so. Great care should be taken to keep a child who has whooping cough away from others who have not had it.
