POET'S CORNER

RODEO DAYS ARE COMING

By Al and Elsie Slaughter
A rube came to the rodeo,
And this I heard him say:
Give me a horse, a good bucking horse,
One that bucks ever true;
For I'm just a rube from the country,
And I'll show you what a rube can do.
I'll brush his mane,
I'll comb his hair,
I'll always be kicking—
As long as I'm there.
I'll kick the cattle board
When he goes up,
I'll scratch his ears when he comes down.
And if I don't ride him,
Till his tail tails down,
I'll never come back to town.
Give me a horse, a good bucking horse,
With cockleburrs in mane and tail,
I'll ride him till his ears drop down,
And his head is in the air,
And if I ever stop kicking him,
You'll know—I won't be there.

Doll-Like Hats to Be Fashion's Next Decree

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Millinery stylists fresh from the Paris fashion show predicted today the next feminine vogue would be small doll's hats.

The hats, they said, would perch on top of the head, with ribbons in back tying under the hair. Colors will be white, red, russet and moss green.

The stylists said the hats are modeled from those worn in portraits of Madame du Barry.
