Model Community

SPEAKING of experimentation... News comes of a civic experiment in the industrial town of Dowagiac, Mich., which ought to be worth watching.

What is to be done there? The State Department of Public Instruction and the University of Michigan will develop a "planned living" program with city officials, civic organizations, merchants, and representatives of industrial employers and employees.

Features of the "unique experiment" are a planned study of the community's economic, social, and cultural needs; planned civic recreation; classes in employer-employee relationships; the employment of an industrial adviser; agricultural instruction for factory workers with small farms; night school for farmers; a community attack on housing problems.

This adds up to planned living, but it is scarcely "unique." The features are advantages which are available to some extent in a great many cities. But in Dowagiac the attack on the community problem is an attack by a body of strongly united citizens possessed of a common vision of a common goal.

What is unique about this community's experiment is the strength of community spirit behind it. It is Dowagiac makes itself into "the nation's model community." It's to be hoped that other communities throughout the country take the cue.

SOLONS BEAT SEALS TO INCREASE LEAD

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—(AP)—The weak hitting Sacramento Solons outlast the hardest hitting club in the circuit to increase their lead to two-and-a-half games in the Pacific Coast league.

Paced by Third Baseman Vergez, who smacked a homer, a two-bagger and scored three runs, the Solons won an easy victory from the third place San Francisco Seals in the only game in the Coast league last night by a score of 6 to 1.

MINE DEVELOPMENT AT OLALLA PLANNED

Extensive development of placer mining property in the Olalla district is planned by J. G. Rodman and A. S. Bower of Los Angeles, they reported today while on a business visit in Roseburg. Mr. Rodman has been interested in the property for the past two years, and, with Mr. Bower, has been prospecting and doing development work since February.

Equipment now has been provided, they report, to carry on operations on a large scale as soon as water becomes available. They exhibited several samples of coarse gold, together with black sand bearing a liberal quantity of flour gold.

NOTED HUNGARIAN DIPLOMAT PASSES

BUDAPEST, July 6.—(AP)—Count Lanzo Szechenyi, 59, "old school" diplomat described here as a "graceful man who interpreted Hungary to the United States," died of a heart attack in a Budapest sanatorium last night.

From 1922 to 1933, the count was Hungarian minister to Washington, colleagues in the government service attributed to him, more than to any other contemporary individual, an increase in sympathy for Hungary in the United States. At his bedside when he died was his American-born wife, Gladys Vanderbilt, daughter of the late Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

HOLDUP HONEYMOON

BY EDWIN RUTT Copyright 1938, NEA Service Inc.

JOSEPH SANDHAM—hero; he thought he was on top of the world until he smacked into KELLY ARCHER—heroine; she thought she was headed for the altar until she smacked into Ed, the Weasel—gangster; he thought he was headed come-where, too, but affairs somehow got mixed up.

Yesterday, Joe and the Weasel inform Kelly she is kidnaped as they arrive at the gangster's hide-out. Then Cissy opens up to admit the Weasel and Joe and Kelly.

CHAPTER XI The Weasel cleared his throat. "Just me, baby," he said loudly. "Open up."

A bolt slid and a key turned. The door opened a crack. An automatic held in a firm hand shot out. And the eyes of Cissy, coming around the door, peered cautiously into the night. Then, seeing that it was indeed the Weasel, she flung the door wide and stood arms akimbo, the gun still held in her right hand.

"Well, you big bum," she said, "it's about time you got back." "Now, m' dear," said the Weasel, "take it easy. I wuz held upon—on business." "Yeah," Cissy began clamping on a piece of gum that she had thoughtfully kept in reserve on the roof of her mouth. "Well, who are these with you?"

"Just a couple eggs I picked up," said the Weasel. "I'll tell you inside." "Bring 'em in," Cissy ordered. She snapped on the lights again. When they were all in the kitchen she surveyed Joe without enthusiasm and Kelly with open hostility.

"So you've got tangled up with a redhead, have you?" she said to the Weasel. The Weasel made a deprecatory gesture. "You don't understand, babe. Dis—dis is business." "Yeah," said Cissy. "Monkey business. Some day, Ed Weynowski, you're going to two-time me once too often. And I'm going to fill the inside of your hat with bullets."

The Weasel, badgered, looked around and perceived in Joe a possible source of sympathy. "Ain't dat always da way wid wimmen?" he inquired. "Goin' to cry, are you?" Kelly said to Cissy. "If you think I'm going for Mister Weasel or whatever his name is, you're all wet. I wouldn't take him on a silver plate and smothered under water-cress."

"No!" Cissy's eyes seemed to measure her. "What is this, then?" The Weasel plucked up a souped-up courage. "You ain't shut up since we got here," he said, "or we would of told you." "I'm waiting to hear," she said.

Laboriously, the Weasel told her the blond Cissy, her eyes glittering, heard him out. When he had finished his recitation, she laughed pityingly. "Well, that was the hat," she said.

"I said when they dealt out the brains, you drew a bust hand. Here you've got a red on this guy"—she gestured at Joe—"and you're going to cut him in fifty-fifty. Some snatcher you turned out to be, Weasel!"

The Weasel shifted uncomfortably. "Well, I alive him me woid." Cissy laughed harshly. "He can have that. You give it to me all the time and it ain't worth a dime. Listen, stand, I'm handling this from now on. And there'll be no out for anybody but you and me. Get it?"

"EXILED" OFFICER SLAYS HIMSELF

NEW YORK, July 5.—(AP)—Police Inspector Charles L. Neidig, 32, one of New York's highest ranking police officers, who was transferred today three days ago in a department "shakeup," was dead today—by his own hand, police said.

The inspector shot himself through the head at his Forest Hills home last night. Neidig, a policeman since 1908, was ordered "exiled" from his district in east side Manhattan last week to Ozone Park in Queens, a less important post, by Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine. Four lieutenants and 14 patrolmen under him also were transferred.

The transfers were ordered after Commissioner Valentine's headquarters squad in a series of raids uncovered several gambling dens in Neidig's Manhattan district. Neidig was listed officially as the fifth member of the police department to kill himself in the last three months.

CHIANG LOSES HIS 29 GERMAN AIDES

HANKOW, July 5.—(AP)—The German General Baron Alexander von Falkenhausen and 28 of his assistants left Hankow for home today, ending a nine-year period of German military association with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's army.

Prior to the Chinese-Japanese war, successive German military experts helped General Chiang standardize equipment, promoted military training and acted as general advisors in building a modern fighting force. Despite the link between Berlin and Tokyo in a pact against communism, the German advisors remained with Chiang through the first year of the conflict with Japan.

Only Berlin's reported urgent recall instructions were said to have led Von Falkenhausen to ask for release from his contract. (The recall of the military advisors and the German ambassador to China, it was indicated unofficially in Berlin last week, might mark the first step toward a cooling of relations between the two countries.)

Daily Devotions

By DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS No man in all the world need fail of doing good through any lack of opportunity. No matter who he is or where he is or by what conditions of life he may be surrounded. If he will only open his eyes to see it, his task and helpful service is right there before him in every hour of every day. What he must have, however, before he can really see his opportunity is, what Jesus said was necessary, an understanding and friendly and sympathetic heart that makes him keen to see the need that he is able to help. Jesus was moved with compassion, because He had trained Himself to understand His fellow men and to see and appreciate their condition and their need. We thank Thee O God, for the great brotherhood of man in which we would take our place in a spirit of helpfulness and devotion. Forbid that we should hold our place in life, thinking only of our own need and interests. Enlarge our hearts and quicken our sympathies. Amen.

REVAMP BILL STILL WANTED, F. R. SAYS

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today that the country undoubtedly wants a government reorganization bill enacted. The chief executive told his press conference that many persons who voted in the house to pigeonhole the administration reorganization measure were in favor of 80 per cent of its provisions, but objected to ten per cent.

The president's statement was made after he had conferred earlier in the day with members of the committee which drafted the reorganization bill. Administration leaders in congress previously had served notice that a new effort would be made to enact a reorganization law, the president said that to get one involved merely a question of getting together conflicting opinions on details.

Asked whether he favored changing the functions of the general accounting office, the president said that his thought was that its functions should be separated. One function, he said, should be to make a check on government expenditures as they are made, and other should be to provide a post-check for congress on what has been done.

Corporations hire outside accounting firms at the end of the year to check up on their activities. Mr. Roosevelt said, and the government might well have a similar check.

DR. L. H. BAKER TO PRACTICE DENTISTRY

YONCALLA, July 6.—Dr. La Velle Huntington Baker, a recent graduate of North Pacific College of Dentistry in Portland, Oregon, left for her home in Union County, this week. She has been visiting at the parental Webster Huntington home in Haystack valley for the past few days. It is interesting to note that Dr. La Velle received her elementary and high school education in the Yoncalla system of schools before beginning her preparatory work for the dental profession. She attended the Eastern Oregon Normal school at La Grande for two years, where she received her Oregon state teacher's certificate, following which she taught in Wallawa county for three years. Shortly thereafter she began her studies at the dental college in Portland, finishing the work this June after four years of training.
