PICNIC AND TRIP IS ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

On Sunday, July 10, Mr. and Mrs. George Casbeer and Mrs. F. S. Blakely entertained their household guests, Mrs. Eldred T. Shrum and her daughter, Miss Barbara, of Portland, with a trip up the North Umpqua river road and a picnic at Apple creek forest camp.

Others enjoying the picnic and trip were Mr. and Mrs. Vern Shrum and Norma Joan and Duane Shrum, Clyde and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Shrum, Shirley, Kenneth and David Shrum and Bobby Casbeer who are camped near Steamboat for the summer.

Mrs. Eldred T. Shrum and her daughter, who have been visiting at the Casbeer home for the past two weeks, returned to their home in Portland on Monday. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Vern Shrum, who will spend several days in Portland.

OLE OLSON CELEBRATES HIS 90TH BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

One of the most interesting yearly events of the Elgaros settlement is the potluck dinner honoring the birthday of the venerable Ole Olson, patriarch of the Elgaros district.

This year it was held on Sunday at his home where Mr. Olson greeted about forty of his friends, who came to celebrate his 90th birthday and enjoy a bounteous potluck feast with him.

Mrs. Chas. Olson, daughter-in-law, and Mrs. Phil Hess, granddaughter, acted as hostesses for Mr. Olson and dinner was served on the tree shaded lawn from a long table centered by a lovely decorated birthday cake baked by Mrs. Hess.

Despite his advanced years Mr. Olson lives alone and enjoys good health, going about his duties as he has for many years.

A charming day was spent in visiting and reminiscing and with games for the children.

U. R. CLUB IS ENTERTAINING AT DEAN HENRY HOME

A very pleasant afternoon was spent Thursday at the beautiful home of Mrs. Dean Henry when the U. R. club met at their regular monthly meeting. The afternoon was spent in visiting and sewing.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"I just ignore this water hole. The club had a lot of nerve putting it here in the first place."

Kansas Corn Rivals Iowa

Heavy rains which threatened to reduce the wheat crop in Kansas have compensated by shooting the corn up to 10-foot heights in many parts of the state. Elsie Griffen is only 11, but still that's pretty tall corn for the end of June. It's on her father's farm near Wichita.

POET'S CORNER

The following poem appeared in the last number of Path of Beauty, Los Angeles, Calif.

CAMEL BELLS

Out of the red-rimmed dusk,
Etched black against the sky—
The camels slowly plod,
With grant and gusty sigh,
Swaying in rhythmic line,
They fade into the gloom,
Leaving a tinkle, fine,
And thin, as faint perfume.

—Marjorie Hunt Pettit.

On the Malay peninsula, bees make honey but do not eat it; they live on nectar the year round, and the unused honey accumulates in great masses.
