CHORAL CLUB TO HONOR MRS. HEINLINE NEXT TUESDAY

All members of the Roseburg Choral club, who were under the direction of Mrs. C. S. Heinline, when she was director of the club, and present members of the club have been asked to attend a delightful 12:30 o'clock potluck picnic luncheon next Tuesday in her honor at the Will H. Gerretsen summer camp on the North Umpqua at Winchester.

Cara will leave the Roseburg Woman's clubhouse at 12 o'clock. Those planning to attend, have been asked to call Mrs. A. J. Ellison at 227-J.

Mrs. Heinline organized the Roseburg Choral club, when she was president of the Roseburg Woman's club, and under her very able direction, the club enjoyed two enjoyable and successful years. Upon Mrs. Heinline's leaving for Cheyenne, Wyoming, to reside, the club has been directed by Mrs. Miriam Ballard, one year, and by Mrs. Homer Grow the past year.

Annual election of officers will be held at the picnic. Those attending have been asked to bring their own table service. Members having cars have been asked to have them at the Woman's clubhouse by 12 o'clock.

The following verse was published in a recent issue of Notebook, Cleveland, Ohio.

DRY CAMP

Here I have made my camp
Among the lodgepole pine,
With pumice underfoot,
And creeping current vine.

No sound of water comes,
For water there is none,
Saddle I must, and ride
Before another sun.

A Rattlin' Good Time Had by All

Officials had no difficulty persuading spectators to keep at a discreet distance during the running of this race—the first annual rattlesnake derby held at North Little Rock, Ark. The rattlers are pictured above as they coiled up on the starting board, a few seconds before a charge of electricity through bare copper wires lining the board sent them off to a flying start. A sleek and speedy number named "Sweet Stuff" won by negotiating the 93-foot course in 4 minutes, 55 seconds.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By Rodney Dutcher

WASHINGTON, July 15.—An average of about 2,000,000 families per month are receiving at least part of their food from the U. S. government under a program which might be called "feed the hungry, clothe the naked—but kill no little pigs."

The idea of the plan is to take care of crop surpluses without destroying them, and to take care of relief clients at the same time. The federal surplus commodities corporation is conducting the "buy and give" program.

The underlying factors on which the FSCC campaign is based are simple enough, namely: Farmers are faced with low prices because they are producing too much. Families of unemployed workers are going hungry because they don't get enough of the things farmers produce.

The remedy: Buy surpluses from farmers (thereby helping solve the overproduction problem) and give them to the unemployed (thereby helping solve the relief problem).

No Piker Buying Here
How vigorously the FSCC is doing precisely those things is shown in the list of commodities quoted to such astronomical figures as: 14,000,000 pounds of butter, 70,000,000 pounds of rice, 1,000,000 barrels of flour, 20,000,000 pounds of dry skim milk, 30,000,000 pounds of raisins, 8,000,000 bushels of apples, 4,000,000 pounds of cheese, 915 carloads of early cabbage, 62,000,000 pounds of dried prunes, 250,000 gallons of cane syrup, 1,000,000 cases of canned peas, and 4,000 carloads of potatoes.

Other commodities purchased, in less impressive quantities, have included beans, eggs, cotton, grapefruit, onions, pears, frozen fish, oats, oranges, figs, turnips, tomatoes and walnuts.

The FSCC program is almost exactly the reverse of the policy of killing little pigs which five years ago brought protests that the government was employing "sacrificing economics." Yet it is beginning to cause almost as active controversy as did the untimely end of the unfortunate porkers.

WPA Tries It Too

This is due in part to the fact that the FSCC program of $78,000,000 for 1938-39 has been expanded to almost double the $40,000,000 of 1937-38 and five times as high as the $15,000,000 of 1935-37.

Added to that is the fact that WPA has copied the plan by going into the market to buy $10,000,000 worth of men's and children's clothing to be distributed in the same manner as the FSCC distribute food. WPA figures that if the plan will help farmers it also will help clothing manufacturers who are burdened with over-supply—with relief clients getting a good break.

Of this, of course, has raised the question: Where will the "buy and give movement" stop? If the government can buy wheat and give it away to help farmers, or buy clothing and give it away to help clothiers, why not buy automobiles and give them away to help motor manufacturers, or theatre tickets to help the depressed stage?

How FSCC Does Its Work
The FSCC is a non-profit organization without capital stock. Its president is Jesse W. Tapp. The vice-president is F. R. Wilcox. Both of these men are AAA officials. H. C. Alben supervises the buying and J. E. Brickett is in charge of distribution.

When prices are falling unduly, FSCC may (1) set up local offices to buy direct from producers; (2) ask for offers to sell, or (3) buy in the regular commodity markets. Usually the buying depends on negotiations with farmers for marketing agreements. This is to prevent producers from getting the idea that they may raise all they want to, and the government will buy it.

FSCC insists that food be given only to people certified as being on relief, who must receive it in addition to whatever aid they may have been getting, thus seeking to avoid any competition with local trade. WPA families are not eligible.
