Lethargy or Harmony?

THE fact that both Republican and Democrat parties held their state conventions and organization meetings within the last few days has attracted almost no public interest or attention.

The meetings are described in the news reports as being harmonious. But harmony, in this instance may be a deadly word. It may mean that there is a lack of interest in party and political affairs that permits peace and harmony rather than that there is enthusiastic and optimistic admiration and cooperation.

Less than a 50 per cent vote was cast in the primaries. Friends of Governor Martin realize now that he was defeated by those who failed to vote. The Hess vote, angry and determined, went to the polls. The Martin vote, or rather potential Martin vote, pleased with his administration and complacent about the whole thing and generally uninterested, did not bother to vote. The voters, they thought, (they were acquainted only with those who thought as they did) would not, of course, turn down Martin so why should they inconvenience themselves by taking a trip to the voting place.

This fall the same thing might happen all over again. Nominee Sprague walked away with the Republican nomination by such a large margin that complacency, rather than harmony is the word descriptive of Republican ranks now.

The big job, for both parties this fall, it seems, will be to get the voters out to the polls and be hopeful that a true majority will provide a good state government.

Symbol at Work

TREATIES, agreements, alliances, acknowledged or merely understood, tend to lose their quality of reality in the public mind and become mere cartoon symbols unless they happen to evidence themselves in some startling, dramatic manner.

The other day Paris wanted urgently to communicate with Prague by telephone. It tried to call through two channels. The first was transmission through Germany; the second, through Italy. Neither could be obtained. German and Italian telephone officials refused to transmit the call.

Contact was finally made by telephoning first through Germany to Warsaw—made possible by international agreement—and then having the call transmitted to Czechoslovakia.

The Italian and German refusals of transmission cut France off from eastern Europe for a period of hours.

That sudden, calculated isolation must have brought the Rome-Berlin axis before the eyes of the French with such a semblance of reality that they must have felt they could almost put out their hands and touch it.

He took the chance.

He ought to be spanked, of course. But where would America be today but for those who were willing to take a long chance?

DOUGLAS CORRIGAN is the hero of the hour. If worried officials, seeking to prevent disaster by discouraging others from taking a 100-to-1 shot at fame, feel it necessary to administer a mild slap on Corrigan's wrist, we'll all be clamoring for their heart's blood.

But if he had FAILED—if the angels hadn't hovered their wings over him and chaperoned him safely to a landing against all the probabilities—we'd be lamenting the criminal negligence that permits young fools to take their lives in their hands and as like as not we'd be grousing about the cost of a search.

Human nature is funny, isn't it?

GABBY HARTNETT NEW BOSS OF CUBS

Ouster of Grimm Follows Poor Showing of Club; Pirates Boost Lead.

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago Cubs' set of three brain trusters, which couldn't "do a thing about hitting slumps and pitching failures, and which didn't particularly impress the rest of the National league, gave way today to a two-man board of strategy headed by Gabby Hartnett.

The unveiling of Gabby as head man of the Cubs, succeeding Cholly Grimm, overshadowed the rest of a colorful baseball picture, which included the Yankees-Indians double-header for the American league lead and the game-and-a-half grip the Pirates held in the senior circuit chase.

The Cubs, famous for years for changing bosses in mid-stream, did it again in loading Grimm's woes on the 220-pound frame of the big fighting Irishman. You can rest assured there'll be no change in policy, for, in giving the heave-o to one fighter, Grimm, Phil Wrigley is leading off with another in Hartnett. Both of them keep their sleeves rolled up.

Pirates Gain

Meantime, Pittsburgh and St. Louis continued to be the chief battlegrounds in the National league race. The Pirates, by splitting a twin bill with the Phillies yesterday, increased their lead by a full game over the Giants, who took two beatings at the hands of the Cardinals' southpaw pitching.

The Phils featured a ten-run fifth inning to wallop the Bucs 11-0 in their first game, but Bauers turned in a five-hitter for a 4-1 Pirate win in the nightcap. Shoun stopped the Giants with four hits to give the Cards a 7-2 victory in their opener. Weiland fanned ten and Mize hit three homers and the Cards clicked 7-1 in the afterpiece.

The Reds dropped back to fourth place, behind the Cubs, by losing a 4-3 decision to the Boston Bees in a Cincinnati night game.

Only one other game got by old man weather on the program. In that one, the Senators socked the Detroit Tigers, 7-2, behind Ferrell's effective elbowing.

THE IDOL BUSTER

Moves Against Nazi Operations

Heading the congressional committee about to investigate "un-American activities" is Representative Martin Dies, above, of Texas. Although house liberals opposed Dies' resolution for the investigation, fearing that it would be used against organized labor, the Texan began by asking the department of justice for secret reports on the nazi German-American bund.

F. R. EXPLAINS 'NO' ON UMATILLA DAM

SALEM, July 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt explained in a letter to Governor Martin today that he could not approve expenditure of PWA funds for the $54,929,000 Umatilla dam project on the Columbia river because it could not be completed within the two-year time limit prescribed by law.

The president said in his letter, written in San Francisco last Sunday, that PWA cannot set aside funds for unauthorized projects unless funds have been authorized for its completion. He said it would take five years to finish the work.

The 1938 PWA law appropriates $260,000,000 for all federal projects. "I do not feel that, at this time, I can approve undertaking the work proposed by you, particularly in view of the fact that 'over $23,000,000 of the said 260,000,000 has already been allotted to projects in the Pacific northwest," the president wrote.

"I am advised that it is preferable to start construction of the Umatilla dam, estimated to cost $23,700,000, before undertaking the remaining work suggested by you."

World-Circling Craze Begun With 80-Day Dash by Phineas Fogg in '72

By The AP Feature Service.

In the year 1872, readers of Le Temps, Paris newspaper, were astonished to read that Mr. Phileas Fogg of London had started on a trip around the world in 80 days.

Today's intrepid airmen are but his followers.

Mr. Fogg, methodical English clubman, had wagered 20,000 pounds he could do it. His venture was ridiculed, bets were laid against him, and thus was launched one of the most fascinating novels of the 19th century—"Around The World In 80 Days." Its author was Jules Verne.

Adventures Met

To win his stupendous wager, Mr. Fogg had to catch every train, every steamer, on the dot. But those who bet against him did not count on his iron will. He encountered the most desperate adventures without batting an eye, including the rescue of a beautiful young woman who became his wife. He was harassed all the way by a detective who mistook him for a thief who had robbed the Bank of England a few days before Mr. Fogg left London.

Mr. Fogg made it—on the dot. He used every means of conveyance then known—steamers, railways, carriages, yachts, trading vessels that he hired or purchased, sledges—over America's plains—and an elephant.

"The novels of Jules Verne," writes an authority, "are dreams come true, dreams of submarines, airplanes, television; they look forward, not backward. Therefore they are still the books of youth."

Here is a chronology of 'round-the-old trips, aside from Fogg's venture:

1519—Magellan, by ship, 1,083 days.
1889—Nellie Bly, by train and boat, 72 days.
1913—John H. Mears, by train and boat, 35 days.
1924—U. S. Army planes, 175 days.
1929—Graf Zeppelin, 20 days, 4 hours.
1931—Post-Gatty, by plane, 8 days, 15 hours, 51 minutes.
1933—Post (alone), 7 days, 18 hours, 49½ minutes.
1938—Hughes, 3 days, 19 hours.

PIKES PEAK GETS SNOW-HAIL COAT

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 20.—(AP)—Six inches of snow and hail gave Pikes peak and the upper reaches of the front range a wintry appearance today. The white cap extended below timberline. Temperature on the peak during last night dropped to 28 degree above zero.

More than 10,000 cities and towns in the United States now have public water systems, as compared with only 3000 communities with waterworks in 1900.

CLINIC CLICKS FROM DOUGLAS HEALTH OFFICE

Two cases of typhoid fever have recently been reported in Douglas county. Most of the scattered cases of typhoid fever can be charged to the typhoid carrier. Safe water supplies, sanitary sewage disposal, safeguarded milk supplies and food produced under hygienic conditions, have reduced the danger of contracting typhoid fever, but the individual carrier remains a problem. Every effort is being made to discover the possible carrier in the present situation and individuals are being urged to go to their family physician for immunization against typhoid fever. This immunization lasts about three years. Every year about 56,000 people in the United States and Canada have typhoid fever; yet it is a preventable disease.

"The contents of poorly constructed privy vaults and sewers and human discharges left on the ground drain into water systems and may infect them with typhoid fever germs. These germs may be taken into the body with drinking water or with water used in preparing uncooked foods. . . . Typhoid fever germs often get into milk through carelessness or lack of cleanliness upon the part of those who handle it. Flies sometimes infect it when it is left uncovered. . . . Use pasteurized milk, and keep it covered in a cool place. Typhoid fever germs often enter the intestines with food, especially raw food. Outbreaks have been traced to oysters fattened in polluted streams, or from sewage-contaminated beds." — Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. booklet.

Typhoid fever germs also are attracted by a cool sparkling stream or spring—but the casual observer is unable to determine the purity of such water and it is safer to boil or purify in some other way the water we use when out of the city.

To prevent typhoid:

1. Be sure that you use pure water, pasteurized milk or milk from hygienic dairies, and clean food that is protected from flies.

2. Be vaccinated against typhoid fever and have all members of your family vaccinated.

3. All persons having the disease or suspected of having it should be reported at once to the local health board.

Waste matter from persons having typhoid fever should be mixed immediately with chlorinated lime or carbolic acid to kill the typhoid germ.

For the first six months of 1938 the report released from the Douglas county health unit shows much of the work centered around the school child—examinations, immunizations and tests, conferences, etc., and tuberculosis work.

Dr. Sharp examined 669 school pupils, 2124 were inspected for signs of contagious disease, 80 weretested for vision, 161 preschool children have made visits to medical conferences and 398 have been seen by the nurses.

Two hundred and sixty-four vaccinations against smallpox and 406 toxoid injections for the prevention of diphtheria were given. Five hundred and ninety Schick tests were given in order to determine whether the individuals were immune to diphtheria.

For the six months 944 tuberculin tests were given and 100 positive reactors found. Eighty-three X-rays were taken in following up positive reactors. In the interest of tuberculosis control nurses have made 366 field nursing visits during this period.

Seventy-one water samples were taken and analyzed, five diphtheria cultures taken, 295 tests for syphilis, 3 tests for gonorrhea, and 96 for tuberculosis. Three hundred and two treatments for venereal disease were given to those who are not able to go to their own physician and 240 calls were made in the interest of control of communicable diseases.

Diseases reported by Douglas county physicians during this period included: Chickenpox 50, gonorrhea 7, influenza 25, measles 21, pneumonia 42, poliomelitis 1, scarlet fever 35, syphilis 7, tuberculosis 10, whooping cough 7.

LETTERS to the Editor

SUTHERLIN APPRECIATES AID IN BATTLING FIRE

SUTHERLIN, Ore., July 20.—Roseburg News-Review: On behalf of the city of Sutherlin, I express my deepest gratitude to the Roseburg fire department, the Oakland fire department, the Douglas county fire patrol, the members of the state police, the Sutherlin fire department and all others who helped to subdue the fire that swept down on our city last Monday.

Without this help, Sutherlin would have been wiped out. Many residences with roofs on fire were saved, and the work done that saved them was most heroic. Through this wonderful cooperation, the loss was negligible in the face of the fierceness of this fire and the strong wind that prevailed at the time, very gratefully, on behalf of the city of Sutherlin.

MARTIN LLOYD,
Mayor.

ICE CREAM PARLOR ADDS TO FACILITIES

Installation of a new Kelvinator dispenser cabinet was completed yesterday by Hunt's Super-Creamed Ice Cream parlor. The cabinet provides holding space for 60 gallons of ice cream and brings the holding capacity of facilities to 200 gallons. During the current hot weather, the ice cream supply several times has been exhausted, making the additional equipment necessary, the mangement reports.

Daily Devotions

By DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

One of the most tremendous things about this human life of ours is the power of choice that comes to us in it. The more we think of it the more wonderful it seems and the further stretch the limits of its possibilities. We sometimes complain that we are hampered and hindered in the things we would like to do and be, and yet it is true to a degree to which the majority of us have never yet realized, that our lives are what by our choice we make them to be. For the glorious opportunities of our lives we give Thee, our God, our gratitude and praise. For the grace and strength and wisdom to choose that which is best and highest we come to Thee. Help us to a higher understanding, a truer courage, a more devoted loyalty. May we learn to abhor that which is evil. Amen.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends for the many kindnesses shown us when we lost our home and possessions by fire recently. Particularly do we thank our neighbors of Days Creek and Canyonville for their assistance.

Mr. and Mrs. C. V. (Mike) Weaver.
