G. Thompson, of Roseburg, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn N. Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Grant, Mrs. Minnie Frater, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stauffer, Effie W. Ledgwood, Glen Willis, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Logsdon, Lillian Logsdon, Mrs. A. P. Johnson, Jimmie Lee Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Riddle, Donald Riddle, Helena A. Riddle, Mrs. Harry Williams, Xena, Joan and Rena Williams, all of Riddle, Paul Howard, and Mr. Hale, of Placer.

RIDDLE GRANGE SPONSORS ENJOYABLE PROGRAM

RIDDLE, Aug. 25.—The Riddle grange sponsored a community program Tuesday evening at their new grange hall. A very interesting and varied program was presented to the large crowd present. The entertainment, free to the public, is an annual event to promote interest in the grange, help neighbors to get acquainted, and to bring out local talent in the community. The program was under the supervision of the home economics committee of the grange, headed by Mrs. C. Campbell, who deserves much credit for the success of the event. An orchestra, composed of Riddle and Canyonville musicians, opened the program. Harris Ellsworth of Roseburg was present with Mrs. Ellsworth and gave a short talk on Community Co-operation. Among other high lights on the program were: a vocal duet by Mrs. Haskell and Mr. Sackett, vocal solo by Ruth Mosthat, readings by Mrs. Oma Kellar and Mrs. Theo Nelson, vocal duet by Mr. Sackett and Mrs. Sietel, black-face skit by Mrs. Haskell and son, illustrated songs and various skits by grange members, music by an old fashioned orchestra and piano solos by Annette Hart, Merna Pruner, Jean Hiles, Mary Dieckman and Jerry Sackett. The program closed with a ladies quartet dressed in old time costumes. Mrs. I. A. Dean was accompanist for the musical numbers.
